Sam Mele Whipping Twins' Pitching Staff Into Shape For Run At Yanks

Pair Of Hurlers Go Nine Innings

By DICK JOYCE
UPI Sports Writer

Manager Sam Mele, who guided the Minnesota Twins to a surprising second place finish in the American League race last season, is whipping his pitching staff into shape for another crack at the world champion New York Yankees.

Southpaw Jack Kralick became the second Minnesota pitcher to pitch a full nine innings Tuesday in blanking the Baltimore Orioles, 2-0, on six hits. Just last Saturday, the Twins' other top left-hander, Jim Kaat, went the route against the Philadelphia Phillies.

No other major league team has had two pitchers go all the way this spring. In fact, only three other pitchers — Johnny Podres of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Paul Brown of the Phils and Gordon Seyfried of the Cleveland Indians — have gone the distance during the exhibition season.

Kralick, who pitched a no-hitter last year, scattered four hits in eight innings Tuesday before weakening with two out in the ninth inning. Jim Gentile and Joe Gaines singled but Kralick got the last batter on a ground out. Vic Power's first inning home run off Robin Roberts and Earl Battey's sacrifice fly in the sixth provided for the Twins' runs.

Giants Lose Another

The San Francisco Giants, who came close to beating the Yankees in the World Series, suffered their fourth straight defeat to the Los Angeles Angels Tuesday, 4-2. Bob Sadowski's grand slam homer in the ninth inning came off rookie Danilo Rivas. Jack Fisher, who had pitched eight scoreless innings, walked three Angels in the ninth before giving way to Rivas.

The Dodgers and Phils both unleashed their powerful hitting attacks Tuesday. The Dodgers ripped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 19-6, and the Phils pummelled the St. Louis Cardinals, 16-8.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox tripped the New York Mets, 2-1; the Detroit Tigers downed the Yankees, 2-1; the Milwaukee Braves beat the Cincinnati Reds, 7-5; and Houston Colts clipped the Chicago Cubs, 6-4; the Indians bopped the Boston Red Sox, 5-3, and the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Washington Senators, 7-6.

Bill Skowron and Dick Men hit home runs in pacing the Dodgers 20-hit attack. Tommy Davis drove home five runs for Los Angeles while southpaw Sandy Koufax pitched seven innings for the Dodgers, striking out nine and giving up 10 hits.

Belts Three-Run Homer

Johnny Callison belted a three-run homer and Don Demeter hit a solo homer as the Phils scored four runs in the seventh inning and seven in the eighth.

Ron Hansen's two-run single beat the Mets, who, nevertheless, received four scoreless innings of pitching from Carl Willey, recently acquired from the Braves. Al Kaline's homer and the seven-hit pitching of Don Mossi and Terry Fox led the Tigers to victory.

Although outhit, 16-5, the Braves capitalized on Ken Hunt's wildness to beat the Reds. Hunt, a rookie sensation two years ago but relegated to the minors last year, walked eight, made two wild pitches and contributed an error before leaving in the fifth.

Houston rallied for four runs in the ninth and withstood a Chicago rally behind Larry Yellen's clutch relief pitching.

Four doubleplays helped the Indians overcome the Red Sox. Seyfried picked up the victory and hit a homer.

Rookie Dick Green hit a single, double and triple for the A's and knocked in the winning run. The A's scored four times in the seventh inning to give Ted Bowsfield, who worked seven innings, the triumph.

Standings Deceiving In WHL

By United Press International

The Western Hockey League's Northern Division standings show two teams tied for first and two tied for third, but appearances are a trifle deceiving.

Both Vancouver and Seattle have 70 points after Vancouver ran roughshod over Edmonton 7-2 Tuesday night in the only WHL action.

But Vancouver has one big advantage over Seattle, for it has played one less game. With five days left in the season, that solitary contest looms larger.

Seattle hosts Calgary and Vancouver while Vancouver faces Portland, Spokane and Seattle.

The apparent third place tie is much more lop-sided.

Both Edmonton and Calgary have 48 points, but Edmonton has only a contest left at Calgary while the Stampeders also play Portland and Seattle before hosting the Flyers.

In Tuesday night's romp at Vancouver, the Canucks piled up their seven goals before letting Edmonton on the scoreboard with about seven minutes to go.

Buddy Boone scored two goals for Vancouver while Phil Maloney moved into second place in the league scoring race by picking up one goal and three assists.

Mt. Laki Tops YMCA League

Hope Lutheran and Mt. Laki won the two divisions of the YMCA Church League basketball in playoffs Tuesday night.

Hope Lutheran downed First Methodist for the high school trophy, 29-27. Pete LaPierce and Sammy Hill led the winners with eight points each. Gerrit DeGroot netted 12 and Randy Webb six for the losers.

The unlimited division was won by Mt. Laki, 38-36, over Merrill Presbyterian. Phil Switcher and Curtis Smith led the winners with 10 points each while Bill Beasly had nine and Willard Felt eight for the Presbyterians.

Basketball Games Will Take Longer To Play Because Of Rule Changes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A look at basketball's new rules for next season suggested today that it will take as much as 15 minutes longer to play a game, but there will be less shoving around along the baseline.

Most important of the changes adopted by the National Basketball Rules Committee at the final session of a three-day meeting here Tuesday was a provision for stopping the game clock whenever the referee blows his whistle, for any reason.

Heretofor, the clock has run on while the ball was handled or taken out of bounds for such violations as traveling, double dribbles and in many other situations. Now it will stop, and Cliff Fagan, secretary of the rules committee, said college games obviously will require 12 to 15 minutes more to play.

New Personal Foul

The other major change will do away with the old call of "forced out of bounds," in which the player with the ball was given possession on an out of bounds play.

Acting on the assumption that it is impossible to force a player out of bounds without fouling him, such a call now will result in a personal foul on the defensive man.

The committee also eliminated the practice of "official's time out," for the purpose of adjusting or repairing equipment or apparel. This change is aimed primarily at players who wear low cut shoes which often come off, delaying the game. Players have been suspected of deliberately losing shoes to stop the action.

Officials now will be required to handle the ball to be thrown in from out of bounds after all violations, not just in the forecourt as previously, to prevent scoring of cheap baskets against unprepared defenses.

Three New Violations

Three violations were added to the list of those calling for technical fouls: Having more than five players on the court during play, reentry of a disqualified player into the game, and changing of a uniform number during a game.

The committee clarified the definition of an offensive foul, specifying that whenever there is a question whether an offensive player has possession of the ball, it shall be ruled that he does.

H. E. (Bud) Foster of the University of Wisconsin was reelected chairman of the committee. New members added were coaches Adolph F. Rupp, University of Kentucky; John Metras, Western Ontario University; and John Bennington, St. Louis University.
