You Can Telephone Your 'Want' Ads to the Oregonian

Readers of The Oregonian who find it inconvenient to bring or send their "Want Ads." to the business office of The Oregonian can have them inserted by calling up Main 7070, or Home Phone A 1670, asking for the "Want. Ad." Department.

The cost of a phone ad. is the same as though paid for over the counter. Bill will be sent you next day and payment expected by return mail. It is always best to write out the advertisement before you phone, cutting out all unnecessary words. Read the ad. slowly to the clerk, and have him repeat it back to you, and the chances for mistakes are few. The Oregonian "Want Ad." rate is 2 cents a word for the first insertion and 1 cent a word for each subsequent insertion if run consecutively. The minimum charge for an ad. is for 15 words. "Rooms to Rent" (private families only), and "Situation Wanted" advertisements, 1 cent a word each insertion, but under all other headings the rate is 2 cents for the first time.
