Albert Bass Returns from Service—Imnaha Ranch Has New Barn.

JOSEPH, April 19.—Fred Beaudoin, son of Peter Beaudoin, one of the county's richest sheep men, and Miss Ruth Chenoweth, one of the most popular young ladies of the Wallowa Valley, were married at Vancouver, Wn., on Monday, the 7th. The marriage was the culmination of a pretty romance extending over many months. Mr. and Mrs. Beaudoin will make their home in Joseph where they will be welcomed by their host of friends.

Several Enterprise people were in attendance at the carnival last Saturday evening, among them Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Parker and Mrs. J. Thompson.

According to those in charge the carnival which was given by Section 2 of the Ladies' Aid last Saturday evening was a big success in every way. The affair, which was given in Roug's hall, was started with a fine program, which was followed by the usual side shows and the serving of refreshments.

The program, which was one of the best ever given by local talent, was opened with "The Swing Scene," which contained some very pretty and novel lighting effects. The musical numbers by a number of the town's best artists in this line was very well done. The comic act by a number of the local business men created many laughs, and the school room scene was pronounced by all to be the best of its kind ever seen in Joseph. The fine reading by Mrs. Forney also created much favorable comment.

The side shows and refreshment booths were well patronized by the many people who attended the main show. The ladies who worked so hard to make the entertainment what it was deserve lots of credit for what they did, and the "actors" who took their parts in such an able manner also come in for their share of credit.

Practice started this week on the high school minstrel show, which will be staged in a few weeks. Some fine jokes and good music will be prominent features of the entertainment. Mrs. Hugh Gibson has kindly consented to assist the young people in getting up the show.

HOT LAKE

HOT LAKE, April 19.—(Special)—Dr. W. T. Phy, owner and director of the Hot Lake sanatorium spent last week end in Spokane, and whilst there, made a purchase of thorough bred Holsteins to add to his already numerous stock of this breed of dairy cattle. The doctor's latest acquisition is a herd of six cows and a bull from the famous Hazelwood Dairy Company and the transaction was made through John L. Smith, who is the acknowledged champion breeder of Holsteins, probably in the whole United States. The Hot Lake Holstein herd promises to be an attraction to the dairy interests in the Grande Ronde valley as all the stock are registered pedigree cattle. That was his herd of Holsteins, and this is his second purchase of this breed. His flock of Dorset sheep and the 200 or so white leghorn chickens which make a pretty picture on the hills back of the Sanatorium, Dr. Phy has firmly established his Hot Lake farm. Barns and fowl houses of commodious dimensions and men in charge of them who are premiers in their particular line, and the enthusiasm of the Doctor all combine to make this, the latest farm acquisition to the Grande Ronde valley, an asset of considerable value to the district and a splendid addition to the table requirements of the big sanatorium, where eggs, butter, milk, cream, etc are required fresh every single day. Not content with this, Dr. Phy has had his farm tractor working a double shift, day and night, ploughing and cultivating every square yard of suitable land on his estate and the same is being seeded to various crops. The tractor plowing is still some ahead and even a casual observer can see that things are being done around the Hot Lake sanatorium.

The following are some of the "out of town" guests registered at the sanatorium during the first part of this week: D. McNaley, Richland; Phillips Mc, and Mrs. M. K. Hur and family, J. P. PLAY TRICKS ON HUNS BY HIDING TREASURE

Family in Lille Conceals Auto and Tires From Soldier Searchers.

It is now permissible to tell of the hiding places of French and Belgian inhabitants, where they saved personal property from requisition or confiscation by the Germans. This information was at first held up for fear the Germans in their retirement might tear down houses where they suspected concealment of property.

In Lille one family had an alcove boarded up and wall paper plastered over the boards to match the paper of the rest of the chamber, which was the living room. In this alcove were hidden a complete automobile, excepting the frame, including two extra tires; also 880 bottles of wine, bronze and copper candlesticks and other ornaments. This family was in "hot water" several times when visited by German searching parties.

The method of the searchers was for noncommissioned officers to engage the woman of the house in conversation upon some alleged breach of regulations while German soldiers secretly made their way into the house and gained every floor.

The soldiers with hammers would sound walls, ceiling and floors in an endeavor to find the suspected cache. They would trace exposed water pipes, gas pipes and electric wires. The family with the boarded up alcove was fortunate to escape all the wall tests.

A number of families, even with German officers and soldiers billeted in their homes, were able to clean out hiding places behind wainscoting where they stored a surprising amount of wine and other goods greatly desired by the enemy. Many a hole was dug in cellars and covered with big flat stones, and many persons had money and jewelry sewed up in hidden pockets in their clothing.

"They were not so clever as they thought they were, those Germans," smile the people of Lille, the largest French city that had been occupied by the Germans. Then with a wink they show you what escaped becoming loot.

Necessity Makes Prosperity.

A people never fairly begins to prosper till necessity is treading on its heels. The growing want of room is one of the sources of civilization. Population is power, but it must be a population that, in growing, is made daily apprehensive of the morrow.—Simms.

The "Anvil" Bird.

The anvil-bird of Australia is a very rare and exceedingly shy creature. Its clear metallic note rings out, "Kling, kling, kling, kling, kling a ling." It is the hardest of all bush birds to locate, as it mostly does its blacksmithing in the topmost branches of the dense brushwoods.

Mr. Farmer

Let us talk horse sense. Fifty years ago the man that had a team of black back Morgans or a team of Caper bottoms, thought he was ready to farm, they were fast, it took a man and a boy to keep up with them, but as the farmer got better acquainted with his job he discarded speed and took up power. We are catering to the man that wants a draft engine—one that will be on the job for a 24-hour run day after day. Did you take a look at the Rumely Oil Pull we unloaded today? It is just like a thousand and one other Rumely Oil Pulls, but is decidedly different from anything else on the market. It is guaranteed to do what they claim for it. It is hardly worth while to say anything about a "Samson" for they are just as standard as sugar. We please the most exacting customers.
