"CERTAINLY WAS A BIG SURPRISE"

C. H. Martin, Locomotive Engineer Says Tanlac Ended Twelve Years' Trouble.

"I wasn't looking so much for gain in weight as I was for relief from my suffering, but I have gotten both and of course, I'm among the Tanlac," said C. H. Martin, of 464 Taylor st., North, Portland, Ore., in a Tanlac representative recently. Mr. Martin was a locomotive engineer for twenty-five years and was at one time connected with the Santa Fe system but ran below out of El Paso, Tex., at present he is employed in the Columbia Shipbuilding Co., boiling in charge of the yard during work at night.

"Up to the time I started taking Tanlac I certainly was in bad shape," continued Mr. Martin. "I was so run-down that I fell off 16 pounds in weight and felt so miserable and worn-out at times that I lost a lot of time from my work. I had suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion for twelve long years and I also used to have attacks of bronchial asthma that I couldn't get a good deal. My appetite wasn't the best in the world, either, and what little I did eat didn't seem to do me any good, because it just looked like it would sour andferment in my stomach and give me trouble. My liver didn't seem to act like it ought to and I suffered a lot with constipation and headaches and got to where I didn't seem to have any energy and it was just a drag for me to do any work at all. When I would have the asthma I just looked like I could hardly breathe and the only way I seemed to get any rest was to prop myself up in bed. I had taken different kinds of medicine but nothing ever gave me the relief I was looking for, so I hardly knew what to do next. I had been living in California but had to leave San Diego last year because the climate there didn't seem to agree with me and I came to Portland.

"I had read about Tanlac and how it was helping others and when some friends of mine advised me to take it, I decided I would and I want to say right here, that the way it helped me certainly was a grand surprise to me. I began to improve in every way after I had been taking it awhile and my stomach is in fine shape now, because I can eat anything I want and enjoy every mouthful and I never have a bit of trouble with my stomach afterwards. I haven't had those bad attacks of asthma in eight or ten months now, feel full of energy to do my work and I am working right along, too, and I have actually gotten back the eleven pounds in weight I had lost. I certainly am feeling better every way and my wife also has taken Tanlac for rheumatism and nervousness and notices good results, so you can understand why I am so strong for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in La Grande by Silvertharn and Richardson Drug stores; in Union by L. A. Wright; in North Powder by L. A. Russel and in Elgin by Scott E. Harris and in Telocaset by Telocaset Grocery Co.—Adv.

NAZIMOVA SEEN IN PLAY OF GORGEOUS SPLENDOR

"The Red Lantern," the new Metro-Nazimova production, in which the famous Nazimova appears, is the special feature at the Arcade theatre.

The star is seen in a dual role—as Mahlee, the Eurasian girl, daughter of a Chinese mother and English father, and as Blanche, her English half-sister. The double role gives the star great opportunity for her unusual power of character delineation.

The play tells the dramatic story of the daughter of two races—a girl who, though born in a coffin ship in the slums of Pekin, is educated among the European surroundings and ideals of the Christian mission, where she adopts the faith of her father.

How she feels the perpetual conflict of her mixed blood—the seething passions and desires of both races which are forever at war in her soul—is dramatically shown by this unusual actress. She imbues the character with all the indefinable mystery and passionate fire of the glowing East and at the same time conveys to the beholders the vast racial gulf which separates the two girls, who, though they possess the same father, are as remote as the poles.

How jealously Jenks has for forsake the people of her father's race—casting aside her religion and beliefs, and assuming the historic and sinister role of the War Maiden of China—the Goddess of the Red Lantern—is graphically shown, as is also, her poignant, resolute and frantic efforts to save those she has grown to love from the racial storm which she has raised about them.

The powerful climax is reached when the Eurasian realizes that her yellow blood stands between her and the man she loves, and that Blanche, her white half-sister, has won where she has failed.

"The Red Lantern" will be shown again at the Arcade tomorrow, for the last time.

[illegible]

The completeness of the appointments in Goldwyn Pictures is noticed by motion picture patrons everywhere. They will be interested to know that a clever young woman, with a sound artistic training does nothing else but [illegible] rare antiques, tells fairy [illegible] and all the little [illegible] to make a perfect setting. She is thoroughly familiar with the period in which every [illegible] belongs and is conversant also with the most fads in lampshades, fixtures and a hundred other [illegible]. The man's hand is apparent in [illegible] of little touches which only a woman could appreciate—and only a woman could contribute.

When it is her task to embellish sumptuous settings such as are seen in Pauline Frederick's new Goldwyn Picture, "One Week of Life," at the Sherry theatre, last showing today, the art expert is in her element. Superb rooms, reflecting the taste of owners with every thing money can buy, come upon the screen, each more beautiful than the last. In particular an exquisite boudoir will be noticed. It is the particular apartment of Mrs. Kingsley Sherwood (Pauline Frederick), where the vivid star as a brilliant figure in society performs all the little rites that go to make her dazzling.

Also shown the comedy cartoon "Judge Rummy's Day Off."

WHAT ONE FAMILY OF FRENCH PEOPLE SUFFERED

The awfulness of the war was comprehended by one French family who repose the following explanation:

Thirteen sons killed or gravely injuries, one wounded four different times, the father and one daughter summarily shot by the Germans for going to Lille to celebrate the centennial of a relative and another daughter killed by a German shell at Dunkirk, is the record of the family of M. Vanhee, a French farmer of Renitaghe, near Ypres.

M. Vanhee had thirty-six children, twenty-two sons and fourteen daughters, all of whom were living when the war broke out. One of his sons was called to Fort Fitzy, X.; he returned to France on furlough and was wounded on each of four different occasions. One of the sons lost both legs; another returned from the front blind and deaf, and another [illegible] the respiratory apparatus.

Long Fall, Unhurt.

Samuel J. Watkins, forty-four years of age, of Chicago, a steeplejack, while painting a smoke-stack recently at the municipal light plant at Lawrenceburg, Ind., fell a distance of 50 feet to a cement sidewalk when a rope broke. He was uninjured and saved his bucket of black paint. Watkins readjusted the rope and completed the work.

Two Eggs Joined.

Harvey Smith, a chicken fancier residing at Good Siding, Pa., has placed on exhibition at Waynesboro, Pa., a fowl egg—or two eggs. The eggs are joined one to another with a thin membrane. Both shells of the eggs are soft.

Turned to Jam.

The New York detective cautiously passed his knife under the paper concealing the explosive. As it came off a sticky mass oozed out, and Mrs. Mary Lapham's infernal machine turned to jam.

Summer Complaint in Children

There is not anything like so many deaths from the disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say, that fully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr. W. G. Campbell of Butler, Tenn., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose."—Adv.

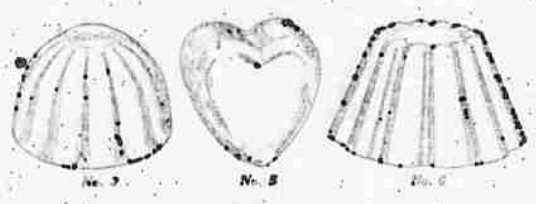
50c Molds Free

Get a Full Set if You Use Jiffy-Jell

Pint Mold—Style—D.
For a Jiffy-Jell Salad or Meat Loaf



Individual Molds
A Set of Six for Jiffy-Jell Real-Fruit Desserts

Jiffy-Jell is for salads as well as for desserts. And we offer this 50-cent aluminum mold for use in making salads.

Use Lime Jiffy-Jell for salads. Each package contains a bottle of lime-fruit essence, sealed. Added to Jiffy-Jell it makes a tart, green salad jell.

Some serve it with the salad as a zestful garnish. Some mix the salad into the jell while cooling. With cooked or uncooked vegetables this makes a salad loaf.

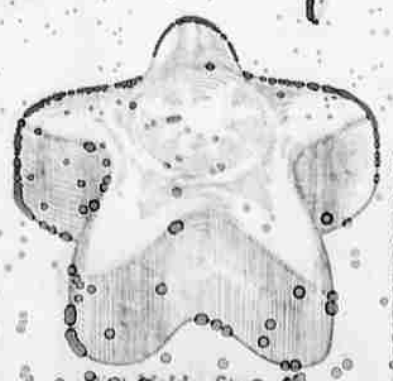
A meat loaf is made by mixing in meat scraps. This gives you meat in aspic—an ideal summer cold dish.

We Supply the Mold

One Mold, Style D, serves as full package of Lime Jiffy-Jell with the salad or meat mixture. It makes a flat loaf with six indentations to make six individual servings.

Send us five end labels from Jiffy-Jell packages—the end labels naming the flavor—and we'll send you this aluminum mold.

Mint Jiffy-Jell contains a vial of mint. It makes a garnish jell, far better than mint sauce, to serve with cold meats or sweet lamb.



Pie Mold—Style—C
Our New Star-Shaped Mold

All Flavors Clear as Glass

This is a 60-cent gift. These aluminum molds come in sets of six, assorted styles, valued at 10 cents each.

Send us five end labels from Jiffy-Jell packages—the end labels naming the flavor—and we will send the entire set.

Loganberry and Pineapple are two dessert flavors which we particularly want you to try. They are flavors which must be sealed to keep. So they were impossible in old-style gelatine desserts.

In Jiffy-Jell the fruit-juice essence comes in liquid form, in vials. So with all fruit flavors. There is a wealth of the real-fruit flavor, condensed from the fruit itself.

Include Loganberry, Pineapple, Lime and Mint in your purchase of Jiffy-Jell. Learn the delights of these liquid flavors. They have won millions of housewives to Jiffy-Jell.
