Loss of Appetite

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it.—Adv.

When You Have Extra Help
Carnation makes everything you cook taste better.
What a boon in hurried, hot days is the everready Carnation can on your pantry shelf!
Carnation Milk
From Contented Cows
is just clean, sweet milk, brought fresh every morning to our fifteen plants and there evaporated to the consistency of cream and sterilized to preserve its wholesomeness.
For tea and coffee use it undiluted, just as you would cream. Use it in the same way on fruits and cereals.
Lots of good housekeepers, in times of stress like harvest, just punch two holes in the top and set the comely can on the table.
Always keep a case or two of Carnation in your storeroom—and you have the right "Answer to the Milk Question."

Your Grocer Has Carnation
We've lots of tested recipes for the use of Carnation in Cooking. They're in a book called "The Story of Carnation Milk." Let us mail it to you free.
