At The Movies

COMEDY PLUS ACTION IN OWEN MOORE FILM

Owen Moore in a new screen farce, "A Divorce of Convenience," a Selznick picture, will be featured at the Arcade theatre Sunday only.

This new picture is a comedy concoction of hilarious situations that grow out of the chivalry of a young man who unwittingly becomes the co-respondent in a divorce of convenience.

"HANDS OFF" IS NEW TOM MIX PHOTOPLAY

In a play that took more than two months to film, Tom Mix, famous delineator of breezy western characters, will open at the Arcade Theatre, Monday. "Hands Off" is a thrilling western drama by William McLeod Raine and produced by William Fox. Mix has the role of a Texas ranger, and from all accounts he has enough to do in the swift action to keep two or three ordinary stars busy.

"FIGHTING FRANK" MAYO TACKLES AL KAUFMAN

Having such well known hard men of the screen as Bull Montana, Harry Northrup, Frank Brownlee and Nick de Ruiz in his recent features, Frank Mayo, who is always expected to put up at least one lively scrap in every picture in which he appears, sought fresh heroes to conquer in his latest photodrama, "Tiger True," coming to the Star Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

Frank is no piker, as all movie-fans know. So he engaged no other than Al Kaufman for his antagonist in the big fist-fight which occurs in one of the scenes of this new story by Max Brand.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN IS COMING—IS NOT A MOVING PICTURE

A grand revival of Stetson's spectacular "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be at the Arcade Theatre on Friday evening, June 3rd. Many of the present generation have never seen this greatest of all moral dramas which teaches a lesson of moral and virtue. It's a play that will live forever in the minds and memory of all who see it. A company of picked artists, including twenty colored singers, musicians, dancers and entertainers for the plantation and other scenes. Special scenery and other effects are carried including the grand transformation scene of Eva's ascention into heaven, a real pack of Cuban bloodhounds, trained to take part in the drama, are used in the thrilling scene showing Eliza's escape from the slave hunters.

A street parade will be given on the day of the show, with band, ponies, chariots, floats and novelties.

All seats will be reserved; prices will be 75c and $1.00 plus the war tax.

AT SHERRYS, LAST DAY FOR "THE LOVE FLOWER" GRIFFITH PLAY

Every time we see a Griffith picture we are compelled to repeat one statement. He is in a class by himself.

We can't help but say it over and over again, after thinking of the wonderful production, "The Love Flower."

Matchless revelations of beauty, strength and excitment prevail in this picture. It is an unusual sort of a Griffith production, for it borders on the melodramatic in which the master hand injects a wonderful deep-breathed romance of the out-of-doors; happy, thrilling and delightful, with scenes of quickening beauty and a gallery of scenic splendor. It is a story with a strange and vibrant spirit, taken from the Collier's Weekly tale, "Black Beach," by Ralph Stock, done with that zest and fascination of story-telling only Mr. Griffith can provide.

TOM MOORE IN "THE GREAT ACCIDENT" AT SHERRYS SUNDAY

Whether humor, or grim determination is the more powerful factor in achieving success, is the theme for Goldwyn's latest starring vehicle for Tom Moore. "The Great Accident", as a story, was read enthusiastically by two million readers, week by week, when the story appeared in serial form in "The Saturday Evening Post. This great story appears at Sherry's Sunday and Monday.

Also showing "Vod-A-Vil Movies," four acts.

State News Gleaned By Salem News Bureau

SALEM, May 28.—The Stanfield interests apparently are back of five new livestock corporations that have filed articles with the state corporation department and which have headquarters at Ontario, Malheur county. The incorporators of all are G. E. Stanfield, F. W. Kivette and L. H. Stredel. The organizations and their capitalization are: Polk & Stanfield, $100,000; Trout Creek Livestock company, $100,000; Home Sheep company, $50,000; Footley & Co., $50,000; John Densley Livestock company, $50,000.

Other articles filed during the week were:

Bly Rodeo association, Bly, Klamath county, incorporators, J. N. Givan, Marvin Cross, E. B. Henry; capitalization, $5,000.

Merrill Oil company, Merrill, Klamath county, incorporators, F. N. Moyer, R. Anderson, E. M. Smith.

Port Orford White Cedar Manufacturing company, North Bend; incorporators, Herbert Lockhart, F. C. Cook, B. H. Patchett; capitalization $5000.

Oregon Co-Operative Hay Growers, Hermiston; incorporators, Arthur L. Larson, and five others; maintained by payment of fees by members.

Gibson-Pennington Lumber company, Eugene; incorporators, Nettie Kress Pennington, W. P. Gibson and O. B. Pennington.

Myrtle Creek Logging company, Coquille; incorporators, John D. Goss, John C. Kendall, Herbert S. Murphy; capitalization, $25,000.

C. J. Green and C. T. Hagemann, respectively an engineer and an auditor for the public service commission, attended a conference at Olympia this week with representatives of the commissions of Washington and Idaho relative to proposed uniform service rates for public utilities. Companies that operate in two or more states are particularly under discussion.

The state desert land board has refused to approve a proposed sale of the north canal unit of the Central Oregon Irrigation company to the Title & Trust company of Portland. The proposed transfer was protested by the settlers. The board stated that after satisfactory adjustment had been made with settlers the board again will give careful consideration to the proposed assignment on condition that the plan is accompanied by a definite program of reclamation and financing. It was proposed that only the unsold lands in the unit be transferred.

President Harding has written Governor Olcott that he will be unable to accept an invitation of the latter to accompany a large party of governors on a cruise to Alaska in July. The president, however, hopes to visit the coast and make the Alaskan trip later in the year.

Out of a total of 401 accidents reported to the state accident commission for the week ending May 12, six were fatal.

The Outbursts of Everett True

Kerns Winner Road Contract

commissioners being present—that the county is committed to the loop "even if it costs millions," the highway officials continued unimpressed. Commissioner Yeon said he wanted a definite agreement in black and white.

Mr. Booth said that the highway commission had given an approximate estimate of the cost of constructing the loop at a conference several weeks ago, and showed about what Multnomah county would be expected to contribute, something less than $170,000 by all the county commission promised in the resolution was $85,000. Clackamas county has already entered into its agreement with the highway commission.

After bidding $1,000,000 road bonds at 6 per cent at par and $300 premium yesterday forenoon, a syndicate asked to withdraw its offer in the afternoon and requested a return of its check for $50,000. The explanation given that there was some misunderstanding in the transmission of messages from the east to the syndicate's local representative.

The highway commission decided that the check should not be returned and proceeded to award the bonds to the syndicate which consists of John E Price & Co. or Seattle, Bankers' Trust company, Garanty company, E. H. Rollins & Sons and Ames, Emerich & Co., all of New York.

Road Work Bids Opened.

This was the first block of bonds sold under the new law which permits the bidder to name the interest and provides for bonds selling at par. With singular unanimity the other bond dealers placed the interest at 61-4 per cent, except one concern, which submitted an alternote bid of 6 per cent, par and interest, but bid for only $400,000 and asked for an option of 30 days on the remaining $600,000.

These were the first 6 per cent bonds issued by the highway commission, previous issues having a much lower rate.

The commission will seek a re-hearing before the public service commission relative to apportioning the costs of overhead crossings on the Old Oregon Trail. In Union county the railroad has been apportioned 35 per cent and in Baker county 40 per cent. The highway commission would like some standard agreement. At one time the railroad company suggested fixing its share at 40 per cent. Last August the highway commission filed a petition with the public service commission for a reduction of rates on road making material and the road department is getting impatient at the delay of the public service body in acting.
