Shipping to Stock Show—
W. R. Ledbetter and Floyd McKennon will ship their draft horses to the Portland stock show this evening. They had a little hard luck with one of their teams on the six-horse hitch for distemper, hit the pair of horses which they had broke for the work and they were compelled at the last moment to substitute another team.

Visit Medical Springs—
Mrs. A. E. Ivanhoe, county school superintendent, Miss Mary Nichols, county librarian and Miss Louise Zorn, county health nurse, visited the school at Medical Springs and several others in the vicinity yesterday. They at first intended visiting the Starkey school but were just a few minutes too late to pass on the highway beyond Perry which is under construction and closed during the major portion of the day and the change in plans resulted in their covering much additional ground, the mileage on the trip being nearly 100 miles.

Meeting in Pendleton—
Commercial organizations in Oregon east of Pendleton were not represented at the rate meeting held there today noon, on account of the lateness of No. 17. Practically all the managing secretaries and secretaries of four counties were booked to make the trip on No. 17 but could not get there on time when the train was an hour late. Hence they didn't start. J. A. Ford, secretary of the Intermediate Rate Association, comprising 11 western states, was the chief speaker on the program.

Pledged to Sorority—
Miss Geneva Smith, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James Aikin Smith of this city, has been elected to membership in Phi Mu sorority at Whitman college, according to word received here. Miss Smith was a graduate of the La Grande high school of this year and while in school here she took an active interest in high school affairs. She played the stellar role in the senior opera given here last spring.

Return from Illinois—
Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bacon returned Saturday night from a month's trip to Illinois, visiting Los Angeles, San Francisco and Salt Lake City on the way home. The weather on the trip was excellent, only one hot day being encountered in the middle west where a little earlier in the season heat such as has never been known here is the thing in the weather line. Back in the town of Sidney, Illinois Mr. Bacon found a remainder of the days when profiteering was not known. He went into a barber shop and while waiting for his turn a man got up after having a hair cut, shave and tonic, paying the sum of 40 cents. He decided that he would also try that combination and found out that shaves are still 15 cents here and that when one gets a haircut, a tonic is thrown in for good measure for a quarter. And the men in Sidney don't let their hair grow as long as possible and boycott the barber shops on shaves, because of the price, and as a result the barber shops always have someone waiting.

Vested Choir to Meet—
All members of the boys' vested choir are requested to meet promptly at seven o'clock Friday evening at the church for rehearsal.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL KILLED

PENDLETON, Nov. 3—The following account of the tragic death of Mrs. Don Arnold, at one time a resident of Pendleton, has been received here by Jean Phifer, a cousin of the deceased. Mrs. Arnold also lived at La Grande. The account of her death is as follows.

A former Miles City girl, Mrs. Don Arnold, of Bucyrus, North Dakota, was instantly killed on Saturday morning, September 24, at her home at that place, when her clothing caught in the gearing of the pump engine at their place, the young woman being caught between the engine and the wall. Death was instantaneous. The husband was in the country at the time the accident happened, and his father, the pumper, and Tom Morris, were just outside the door when they heard the scream, which was not repeated The pump was immediately stopped and the body removed.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday following the accident, and interment was in the cemetery at Lemmon, deceased was but nineteen years old and was always of a cheery, happy disposition, and had may friends both here and in North Dakota where the family have made their home since their marriage.

The unfortunate young lady will be remembered here as Miss Violet Fitzgerald, and became the bride of D'on Arnold at Fort Keough on November 3, 1918. Mrs. Arnold was an expert horseswoman, and while here gave many demonstrations of skill with a broncho, riding on various occasions for Ed Love, who ran the Miles City horse sale yards here at that time.

Besides her bereaved husband, the deceased is survived by her parents and several brothers and sisters, who reside near Portland. One sister, Mrs. O. B. Curtis resides near Phon, Montana, and another sister Mrs. Deitrich, is a resident of Moadova, Washington.

Governor Louden to Attend the Stock Exposition

PORTLAND, Nov. 3—Assurance has been received that Ex-Governor Lowden, who came so near to being Republican candidate for President at the last convention, and who enjoys a wide reputation both for his power as a public speaker and for his uprightness, will be present, together with Governor Olcott of Oregon, Governor Hart of Washington, and possibly Governor Davis of Idaho, Governor Stevens of California, and several other state executives of the West.

Ex-Governor Lowden will make the only formal address given during the entire period of the Exposition. He will speak in the stadium at 2 o'clock in the afternoon on Tuesday, and it is expected that his address will be of extreme importance to the public.

ANNUAL MEETING IS TOMORROW

VANCOUVER, B. C. Nov. 3— Directors of the Pacific Coast Hockey Associaton hold their annual meeting here tomorrow to elect officers and draw up a schedule for the coming winter season.

Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria will be in the association again this year and each club will get eleven games at home and twenty-two on the road. The season will open about Dec. 15.

Baker Young People Are Married by Rev. Sitton of This City

The good highways and the fast automobiles have combined to benefit the young folks who decide to enter life's department of marriage and no longer is the local minister in any town an essential to the marriage event.

This was demonstrated Monday when Milton F. Perkins and Miss Opel V. Robinson, of Baker, journeyed to La Grande and were married by Rev A. R. Sitton, pastor of the Baptist church at his home.

The wedding party included Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lytle of Alicel, Misses Hazel, Lelia and Inez Robinson, Ethel P. Shoffstall and O. T. Brown of Baker.

Both of the young people who have joined their lives together are among the very best of Baker county. They come from excellent families and the future of this couple just wedded is bound to be one of happiness and success.
