While some boys were at play recently, a ball struck an urchin in the eye, and forthwith another bawl came out of his mouth.

Mormon missionaries are zealously laboring in New England, and claim that many families will go to Salt Lake the present spring.

Kind words are among the brightest flowers of earth; they convert the humblest home into a paradise. Use them unsparingly, especially around the fireside.

An Albany tippler swallowed a chip from a molasses cask with a glass of gin and molasses, the other day, and it killed him. Terrible warning against the use of molasses.

A young man absconded from San Francisco the other day with several thousand dollars of his employer's money. His departure is chronicled as the "Pacific Slope."

A white boy met a colored lad the other day, and asked him what he had such a short nose for. "I spect's so it won't poke itself in other people's business."

Gentleman, observing a servant girl, who was left-handed, placing the knives and forks on the dinner table in the same awkward position, remarked to her that she was laying them left-handed. "Oh, indade!" said she, "so I have. Be plased, sir, to help me turn the table round!"

We know the effects of many things, but the causes of few; experience, therefore, is a surer guide than imagination, and inquiry than conjecture. But those physical dfficulties which you cannot account for, be very slow to arraign, for he that would be wiser than nature, would be wiser than God.

"What is your consolation in this life?" asked a clergyman of a young girl, in a bible class that he was catechising. The young lady blushed and hesitated. "Will you tell me?" urged the clergyman. "I don't want to tell his name," said the ingenious maiden; "but I've no objections to telling you where he lives."

When a young lady who hasn't got the dyspepsia, or isn't homesick, gives utterance ever five minutes to a sigh as deep as a well, it may be taken as pop sure she is in love. The sooner a young man orders a hack for the parson's the better for the lady, and very likely himself. There is generally but one cure for those ills.

How may this paper be placed so that two persons may stand on it at the same time without seeing or touching each other? Place it on the threshhold and shut the door.

Sambo had been whipped for stealing his master's onions. One day he brought a skunk in his arms. Says he, "Massa, here's de chap dat steal the onions. Whew! smell him bref!"

It is said that farmers made more clear profit on sheep in the last four years, than on any other stock, notwithstanding the low price of wool and mutton.

Mrs. Creedon, whose husband recently died of hydrophobia, in Cincinnati, has commenced suit against the owner of the dog, laying her damages at $5,000.

The monument to Humboldt, in the New York Central Park, will be a bronze bust about four feet high, and will be placed on a stone column of a height of from ten to twelve feet.

PARALYSIS.—We find the following in an exchange, and give it for what is worth:

"We lately met a gentleman who, although he walked with perfect ease, said he had been almost a hopeless paralytic, but had been substantially cured by the use of an air pump. The theory of the cure, and the application of the instrument, were as follows: Paralysis is produced by the failure of some of the organs of life to perform their functions. They need recuperating. He applied a cup or receiver to the part affected, and by means of the pump he removed the pressure of the external atmosphere. There was then a rush of air internally, as much as the clogged condition of the system would admit, towards the vacuum produced by the pump. The blood was carried along by the air, and by mere mechanical force made to circulate in the affected limb, which thus recovered its vigor and activity.

Nine-tenths of the diseases which happen to the hoofs and ankles of horses are occasioned by standing on the dry plank floors of the stable. Many persons seem to think, from the way they keep their horses, that the foot of the horse was never made for moisture, and that, if possible, it would be beneficial if they had cowhide boots to put on every time they went out.

TO PRESERVE STRAWBERRIES.—To two pounds of fine large strawberries, add two pounds of powdered sugar, and put them in a preserving kettle, over a slow fire until the sugar is melted; then boil them precisely twenty minutes, as fast as possible; have ready a number of small jars, and put the fruit in boiling hot. Cork and seal the jars immediately, and keep them through the summer in a cold dry cellar. The jars must be heated before the hot fruit is poured in, otherwise they will break.

At Irwintown, Pa., the other day, a daughter, 12 years old, of Jacob Bolin, a miner, died from the effects of drinking some whisky which her father had left in the house.

Pike, with others, was engaged in a New Jersey marsh speculation. He bought out all his associates, and then announced that he had found in the swamp a peat bed worth $20,000,000.

In a paper recently read before the New York Medical Society, the author asserts that cheerful society at meals greatly aids digestion, there being a sympathy between the stomach and the brain.

A detective officer recently sued a country official in Buffalo, for ten cents, borrowed to buy beer. The court gave judgment, charging $2 70 costs.

It is stated that the number of German newspapers published in the United States is over 250, about 50 of them being dalies.
