SLIM-BY-PROPORTION CORSETRY

NOTHING reveals stoutness quite so much as ill-proportioned corsetry. Violent contrast between too-large bust, too-small waist, and too-large hips adds pounds to the appearance and destroys the possibilities of graceful carriage and becoming dress.

So many women who are no longer slim, endure the discomfort of stiff, heavily boned, tell-tale corsets because they do not realize that there is an unbelievably more comfortable and becoming kind of natural corsetry that will subtract pounds from their apparent weight and make them slim-by-proportion.

But such corsetry must be skilfully, scientifically done. If you will permit our experienced corsetieres to properly fit you with a slenderizing

LINE-UP WILL BE CHANGED AT SUNDAY'S GAME

Elgin and La Grande Will Play Here: Hard Practice All Week Expected to Result in Win.

When Elgin meets La Grande tomorrow on the local diamond they will face nearly a complete change in the lineup. After losing Sunday's game at Baker, Hector McInnis, manager and captain of the team, decided that stringent measures were necessary to bring the Pirates out of their slump and the result is that a changed team is practicing this week.

The batteries will remain the same, with McInnis starting the game against the Aggies and McGee warming up. Johnson will still be the receiving end of the battery.

But in the infield things are vastly different. Knight is the only infielder that hasn't been shifted. Garrity will play first, Crews will be found at short and Rosenbaum will complete the infield at second base. Garrity is a first-class first bagger and McInnis expects the change to put the infield into a smoother, snappier and faster aggregation. Garrity is expected to strengthen the hitting, also.

The outfield will remain the same excepting right field. Hersey and Theison will still play at center and left; and right field will find either Hannifield, Moserve or Natto on the job Sunday. Natto is reported to be a nice ball player and stands a chance to make the position.

With a week's practice behind the team the Pirates are expecting to they have got to do it in order to remain in the pennant race because Cove isn't going to drop many games the rest of the season and the La Grande team can't afford to drop more than one game behind the farmers.

Last Sunday's entanglement dropped the team's batting average from .366 to .325, and likewise damaged some of the player's batting averages. The individual batting averages now stand: Rosenbaum, .518; Theison .445; McInnis .444; Johnson .386; Knight .318; Crews .316; Moserve .310; Hannifield .229; McGee .154. Crews leads in stolen bases with 8, with Rosenbaum next with 3. In six games Crews has received 10 walks.

BILLIONS WILL BE SPENT ON POWER PLANTS

It is up to the companies and the great mass of investors who are holders in power companies to protect against such endeavors and hold the utilities from the hands of a few politicians."

The following schedule of expenditures, which will total $13,500,000,000 in the next ten years, was given by the editor in his address:

"Build or construction, $4,200,000,000; highways, $1,000,000,000; factory equipment, $3,400,000,000; power company construction, $3,000,000,000; state expenditures, $127,000,000; city expenditures, $175,780,000; railroads, $800,000,000; city sewers, $270,000,000; street railways, $250,000,000; telephones, $750,000,000; farm houses, $675,000,000; farm implements, $300,000,000; irrigation, $500,000,000; mining, $675,000,000; home furnishings, $1,700,000,000, and office and store furnishings, $167,000,000."

At the morning session the delegates took an excursion of a technical nature, the technical section of the association having the floor. E. M. Hoskin, presiding officer, presented the report of the committee, of which the Idaho representative is H. L. Sawtelle of the Idaho Power company, and a general discussion of its features was entered in.

At the afternoon session of the general convention the election of officers took place, Sunday that took place, the following officers receiving the unanimous vote of the assembly:

President, M. W. Brockett, Puget Sound Power & Light company, Seattle, Wash.; vice president for Washington, John M. Kirkland, Washington Power Utilities, Port Townsend, Wash.; vice president for Oregon, George L. Meyers, Pacific Power & Light company, Portland, Ore.; vice president for Idaho, E. B. King, Idaho Power company, Boise, Idaho, and vice president for Utah, J. A. Fish, Utah Power & Light company, Salt Lake, Utah.

Members of the executive committee appointed were L. H. Faulkner, of the Olympia Light & Power company, of Olympia, Wash.; L. A. McArthur of the Pacific Power & Light company of Portland, Ore., and E. J. Bauer of the Nevada Electric company, of Newberg, Ore.

Retail Money To Decline, Says Babson

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., June 10.—Roger W. Babson issued the following statement today regarding the Money Situation:

"For the past few years banks, mortgage companies and others engaged in the loaning of money have been educating people to pay high rates of interest. Manufacturers, business men, home builders and others are today paying high rates of interest which a few years ago they believed would never be paid. Naturally this has handicapped employment, especially building operations. Thus people now wonder whether this is to be a permanent condition or whether these high rates are only temporary. Statistics lead me to believe that the high money rate period of the past few years has passed for many years to come. Already money rates have declined greatly in the wholesale market. Where, a year ago, the banks were loaning money on call to the brokerage houses at from six to eight per cent, they are now loaning at about four per cent. Even three to six months paper can be sold at from 4 1-4 to 4 1-2 per cent discount. These are tremendous changes within a short period of time. In fact the change is so great (a decline of about 50 per cent) that it would not be surprising if money rates should strengthen for a short while preparatory to another downward movement.

"Money is a commodity the same as cotton, wool, lumber or copper. It has a wholesale market and a retail market. A wholesale price and a retail price. Moreover, as with commodities, the retail price in the money market lags, about six months to a year, behind the wholesale price of the money market. This means that the rates in the wholesale money market go up and down from six months to a year before the average business man is affected. It takes nearly a year for cotton to get from the plantation to the shelves of the department store. Hence, it may be several months before the retail cotton goods trade gets the advantage of a decline in the price of raw cotton. It is the same with money as with cotton. It is some months after the decline in the wholesale price of money before the business man and the home builder get the advantage in the decline of rates. The bankers are not to blame for this. It is economic law. As it takes some time for the bankers to raise the retail interest rate for money after the wholesale rate advances, so it takes a considerable time for the retail rate to decline after the wholesale rate declines."

Being asked how this is to affect the average man during the next year Mr. Babson replied as follows:

"This means that the average man will be able to borrow money much cheaper during the next few years than he has been able to borrow during the past five years. It means that borrowers should now avoid borrowing for long terms at high rates. It means that there will be a decline in the retail price of money the same as there has been a decline in the wholesale price of money.

"It means that money will be more available for the building of homes, school-houses, roads and construction work of every form. Most of all it means: As the banks during the past few years have educated the public to high rates, the public must during the next few years educate themselves back again to the lower rates of some few years ago."

General business as reflected in the Babsonchart is running 15 per cent below normal—an increase of 1 per cent over last week. It is holding well in face of the bearish factors resulting from the railroad ruling.

UNION'S BEST STOCK SHOW COMES TO END

bull calf and heifer calf that won the grand championship in their class, was next in line, with Leon Levy's Jersey close behind. This is a showing of exceptional quality and well merited the comment of the spectators. Another herd of Jerseys, belonging to Mr. Kirkenson, of North Powder, and the Ayeshires, owned by Whit Langford of Union.

Dr. W. T. Phy and his herd of thoroughbred Holstein-Friesians came next. Carnation King, valued at $26,000, lead the exhibit and was followed by the mother of the $1,000 prize bull calf, which was next in line. The winner of the $1,000 calf, the milk cow belonging to E. C. Fulp, of Cove, and the other contestants in this class followed Dr. Phy's herd.

Charles Hunter, candidate for joint representative for Union and Wallowa counties, was found on the grounds and of a race offered in one of the private animals and he and his winning smile were greeted by Tom Sawyer, the announcer and starter.

At Biscaro, a Union man, was the bucking contest when he rode P. D. Q. Rheuben Hogg, of Union, and Jess Lawrence placed second and third in this event. Mrs. Ollie Lindsay won the ladies' bucking contest, with Mrs. Al Biscaro and Lorena Trickey placing in the order named.

The gentlemen's relay was won by Rhodes, whose time for the three miles was 18:20 2-5. Cantrell, second, made 12:0 2-5, slower by four seconds. The ladies' relay race was annexed by Lorena Trickey.

The chariot race was as good as in the first two days, with Cantrell again winning over Smith at the end of an uphill tight. Cantrell let Smith take the inside rail, although he was entitled to it, winning nevertheless.

W. R. Ledbetter's English Shire won the grand championship of the draft stallion class. The grand championship thoroughbred draft mare and the grand championship light-boned stallion both proved interesting affairs.

Meteorite, the winner of the latter event, is owned by the American Remount Association of the United States Government, and is considered as the best of their herd. The association has breeding sires in each locality used to raise the standard of the stock. Meteorite was, in his time, one of the best race horses in the United States.

The remainder of the events went through without a hitch. Possibly the most interesting of the races, outside of the one mentioned above, was the three-eighth mile dash, which was won by No. 2 by about a tongue's length. The cowboy race was the usual wild affair, and the Roman race was won by the Indian, with Kennedy second.

Thus was the final afternoon program of the Fourteenth Annual Live Stock Show engraved in the memories of those who were present as being one of the finest shows of its kind. As on the first two days, a drizzling rain was felt, but the show went on just thesame. Old Jupe will begin to realize that he can't affect the stock show with his kindly showers before long.

The attendance on the last day was not quite as large as on La Grande's day, but if the weather had been good all three days, without a doubt, one of the largest attendance records in the eastern half of the state would have been recorded. And during all three days not a single accident was experienced. Reflecting at the association, this speaks well for their efficient preparation and the carrying out of their program.

Among other items of social interest was the showing by Dr. W. T. Phy of Hot Lake, in Barn C. In addition to his Holstein-Friesian exhibit, a model chicken plant housing some of Dr. Phy's Leghorns drew the attention of the visitors.

[illegible] were awarded to the winners of the events at the exhibition [illegible] by the La Grande Band. And let us take this occasion to remark—La Grande's band under the leadership of Andrew Lowry, is in a class by itself. Let an expert musician pick out the leading bands of the Northwest and the La Grande aggregation of musicians would be on the list.

The presentation of trophies, in the Union Hotel lobby, was held at eight o'clock, with Robert Whitgcombe taking the leading part. Several of the exhibitors were called upon to make a little talk; those responding included the J. Ka Reynolds of La Grande, O. W. Plummer, with the Pacific International of Portland; Dr. Eagle, of Baker; Dr. W. T. Phy, of Hot Lake, W. C. Gardner, of Walla Walla, W. R. Ledbetter, of Albert; Professor Brant, cattle judge of the show and chief of the dairy department of the O. A. C. The presentations of the premiums to cook rules with Dr. Eagle, J. K. Reynolds and W. R. Ledbetter taking a number of the prizes. Following the presentation vice president Milton Levy and president J. F. Hamilton made a few remarks.

And so Union bade a farewell to [illegible] visitors who were attracted to Union's hospitality [illegible] of a high quality rarely reached. Union's hotel was a full house every day and if the statements made by the guests may be used as an indicative capacity, then Union ranks among the famous towns, not only for her big show but for her hospitality.

The show grew in reputation taking advantage of this opportunity of thanking the show patrons for their interest in the show and of inviting them to attend the Eleventh Annual Union Live Stock Show, which will be "bigger and better, not only for her big show but for her hospitality."
