THEATRES

AT SHERRY'S SUNDAY AND MONDAY.

Filmed under more or less unpropitious weather conditions, yet being a masterpiece of direction, acting and photography, "The Little Minist," Betty Compson's latest Paramount picture produced by Penrhyn Stanlaws, will be the feature at the Sherry Theatre for two days beginning Sunday. The dainty star is said to have an unusually attractive role in Lady Babbie, one of Sir James M. Barrie's finest creations.

Miss Compson admits that she approached the role of Lady Babbie with some misgivings, for she believed it was going to be far more difficult than it proved to be.

"As a matter of fact," said she when the last shot had been fired, "Babbie isn't a bit different, temperamentally, from a lot of other girls I have portrayed. A genuine coquette, she leads poor Gavin a pretty dance—almost any girl can do that. But her witchery that forces the little minister to defend her, even in the face of his own conscience, was a delightful thing to try to put across, and it pleases me immensely to be told that I succeeded."

Not in a long time has a greater variety of quaint and colorful costumes been seen in a film production than those in "The Little Minist." English soldiers of the period of 1830, constables, Scotch weavers and peasantry, lord and ladies, mingle in a most picturesque medley of color and design, so far as costumes go. Miss Compson for the most part wears a most becoming gypsy garb, later appearing in a typical gown of the period, all flounces and ruffles and with a skirt yards around.

As Gavin, the little minister, George Mackathorne in his tight-fitting trousers, high hat and frock coat is a quaint figure, while Nigel Barrie as Capt. Halliwell, flamboyant in red and blue uniform and tremendous hat with flowing plume, presents a most striking contrast.

Also showing a two reel comedy, "This is the Life."

A BRILLIANT ARRAY OF NOVELTIES

Will Appear on the New Vaudeville Bill at The Arcade Theatre Sunday Evening.

The Three Roman Gypsies are the leading feature on this well selected and pleasing program in their spectacular novelty, "Pastimes in a Gypsy Camp," replete with singing and dancing numbers, all three being accomplished artists in their particular line. Their Russian Dancing is especially to be commended and presented with all the grace and beauty essential to a perfect exhibition. It is a unique offering that will undoubtedly amuse highly.

Kennedy & Martin, two gifted comedians of marked ability present an offering called "Blackology," full of comedy singing, talking and eccentric dancing. It is a vehicle that served admirably for these clever young men to display their versatility as blackface funsters.

Winifred Stewart, the baritone extraordinary, is an artist of wide reputation with a voice of great sweetness and purity of tone; her renditions of popular songs being particularly expressive and true.

Western Novelty Trio, Australian Jack Bird, featuring Princess Sunshine in fancy roping and knot tying in vaudeville, and also Chief Young Sunshine, who, with her ropes and dances, captures the hearts of the older folks at well as the children; Chief Young Deer hold the audience spell bound with his acrobatic roping. His tricks are new and original—natural. Added attraction, "Australian Jack Bird, the whip cracker. A feature photoplay is added to this All-Star bill.

AT SHERRY'S TODAY ONLY.

The millions of people who have read and been fascinated by Harold MacGrath's stories, have a genuine treat in store for them at the Sherry Theatre, where the screen version of the noted author's "Hearts and Masks" will be shown tonight only with an all star cast. The story is a fine example of the blend of mystery, dramatic action and humor which has made MacGrath's works so popular, and none of it has been lost in the film adaptation.

Elinor Field, as Alice Gaynor plays charmingly the part of the wilful, adventure-hungry girl, whose yearning for romance leads her into a succession of fast-moving situations. The dainty star is shown as the pampered heiress, then in the guise of a serving maid, and in costume. Her whimsical brand of humor, her dramatic power and her good looks are all displayed to good advantage.

Francis McDonald, as "Galloping Dick," a crook, and Lloyd Bacon, as an author, give the star excellent support, while others in the unusually capable cast are Molly McConnell and John Cossar. "Hearts and Masks" is a Federated production, directed by William Seiter.

It is a breezy, pleasing clean type of picture entertainment, which will stand out with relief from the welter of sex and problem pictures.

Also showing "Movie Chats" and "Mutt & Jeff."

"THE GIRL FROM LA GRANDE" DRAWS BIG.

Nearly a capacity crowd was at The Gardens last evening to witness "The Girl from La Grande," played by The Broadway Players, formerly known as Kelly's Comedians. The play featured a trip to England by an American family, residents of La Grande, and the resulting unfolding of the plot brought many humorous and dramatic parts to the eyes of the audience. An English duke, a millionairess, "Hollering Hank" and a scheming relative world make any play a success, especially with a cast such as The Broadway Players has.

Between the second and third acts the Country Store was held, many useful prizes being given away free, the prizes having been furnished by local merchants.

The same bill is on tonight, minus the Country Store.

MARY MILES MINTER COMING IN DRAMA OF SOUTH SEAS.

Mary Miles Minter, the Realart star, will be seen here at the Arcade Theatre Monday and Tuesday in "South of Suva."

This feature recently played a week's engagement at the Liberty Theatre in Portland to remarkable business.

Round Five of "The Leather Pushers" will also be shown on this program.

CURWOOD STORY MAKES HIT AT THE STAR THEATRE.

"The Girl from Porcupine," the latest of James Oliver Curwood's stories to reach the screen, was presented at the Star Theatre last night and, judging from all indications, is bound to be one of the most popular pictures this theatre has shown in many a day.

"The Girl from Porcupine" will be the attraction at the Star Theatre until Sunday night.

FIFTH OF JULY IS A BIG DAY

(By Associated Press.)

PENSACOLA, Fla., July 22.—The family of O. S. Norman, of this city, has decided that July 5 is a bigger day in history than July 4 and in the future the day after the day featured by firecrackers, flag displays and speeches will be celebrated in the household.

Eloise Norman was born at 5:55 a. m. July 5, 1908. Cleo Elizabeth was born at 10:55 a. m. July 5, 1921, and July 5, 1922 became notable at 12:55 p. m. because of the arrival of O. S. Norman, Jr. It is the only instance in this city where as many as three children in one family, excluding triplets, have the same birthday, and anther peculiar feature is the fact that each child was born with five minutes of the hour. The Norman family moved to Pensacola, from St. Louis, Mo., last October.

EIGHT WILL BE GIVEN TESTS

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON Eugene, July 22.—Eight students in the summer session of the University of Oregon are coming up for examination within a few days for the degree of master of arts. This unusually large number is an outgrowth of the University's policy of increasing the amount and scope of its graduate work. The number of graduate students on the campus this year is 89, or more than 25 per cent of the entire student body registered at Eugene this summer. This, the heaviest registration of graduate students in the history of the University, is 31 or more than were enrolled in the graduate school last year.

Dr. Edmund S. Conklin, acting dean of the graduate school, expresses his admiration of the way in which the advanced students, and for that matter, the entire student body, have applied themselves this summer.

"They take slight interest in social affairs," he said. "They are working hard. They are here for business and not for a chautauqua."

Similar testimony comes from the library, where a rushing business is done. There is small call for unassigned fiction, but the heavier books are in great demand. One-third of the student body worked in the library on the Fourth of July holiday.

The eight students coming up for master's examination with their home towns and major subjects, follow:

Roger Williams Truesdall, Redlands, Cal., chemistry.

Laura Gertrude Eaton, Portland, English.

C. A. Howard, Marshfield; Lilli Schmidt, Portland, and Edward Taylor, Claremont, Cal., education.

M. Lucile Copenhaver, Eugene, and Alice Thornton, Roseburg, mathematics.

John W. Sutherland, Forest Grove, psychology.

FRATERNITIES WILL CONVENE

(By Associated Press.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 22.—The National Fraternal Congress of America, comprising 96 societies with a combined membership of more than 9,000,000, will hold its annual convention at Montreal, P. Q., August 28-31, it was announced today. Montreal is the home of the president of the body, Henry Roy.

The congress reports that nearly 600,000 members recently have been added to its rolls. The officers, and the actuarial, press and medical sections of the congress will meet August 28, the day before the convention proper opens.
