THE FIELD OF APPOMATOX.

Movement to Secure the Site for a National Park.

WASHINGTON, February 8.—Corporal James Tanner yesterday issued general order No. 4 to the Union Veteran Legion of the United States, and it will be sent to the commanding officer of every encampment as speedily as possible, but it is hoped they will act without waiting to receive the order officialy. The order is as follows:

"The National Commander desires to call the attention of every encampment of the Union Veterans' Legion to the fact that a movement is now on foot to have the government secure for a national park the battlefield of Appomattox. This is a project that should receive the hearty co-operation of all surviving veterans of both armies. The ground on which Grant and Lee met for the last time in opposition; the ground on which they terminated the awful struggle of four years' duration, on terms magnanimous on the side of one and honorable on both sides; the ground on which their hitherto warring legions laid aside forever their character as enemies and turned their hopeful faces from the dark valley of internecine war toward the shining uplands of peace, may well be held sacred by future generations. This ground should belong in fact, as it does in sentiment, to all the people, and its physical conformation be preserved as near as possible as it was in the days when it was the stage which commanded the attention of the civilized world, and on which was set the mightiest tragedy of centuries. Believing this, the National Commander earnestly commands that each encampment of the Union Veterans' Legion express by resolution its views upon the matter and through the representative from its district communicate the same to Congress."

A KENTUCKY TRAGEDY.

A Physician Found Dead in a Widow's House.

LEXINGTON, KY., February 8. — Dr. John E. Rader, a mountain physician and of shooting notoriety, was found dead yesterday in the house of Mrs. Catherine McQuinn, a widow, four miles from Jackson, Breathitt county. Two bullets had been fired through his breast, each one of which would have been fatal. Mrs. McQuinn said she did the shooting and surrendered. She refused to assign any reason for committing the deed. T. M. Smith, her paramour, is suspected of having been the real murderer, and the officers are looking for him. Rader was 35 years old and leaves a widow and three little children without a dollar. Rader is the man who created a sensation in Lexington by going to the grocery of John Hurst, on Ellerslie avenue, and filling him full of bullets. Hurst was shot five times, but recovered. Rader was sent to the penitentiary for two years, but was released a month ago. Hurst then left Lexington for a while, fearing Rader would again try to kill him. Hurst killed Rader's brother six years ago, and the doctor swore he would avenge his brother's death.

Wishes Contract Modified.

ST. LOUIS, February 8.—Judge Caldwell in the United States Court yesterday listened to arguments for and against the modification of the contract between the Atchison & Topeka railroad system and the Wells-Fargo Express Company. The express company has a five-year contract with the Atchison & Topeka, on which it claims to be losing $150,000 yearly. Attorneys for the Mercantile Trust Company, the Central Trust Company and the Union Trust Company of New York, trustees under the various mortgages for the stock and bondholders, resisted the application for a modified contract claiming incompetent jurisdiction of the court. Judge Caldwell asserted the authority of the court to modify the contract, and he instructed the receivers to investigate and make a recommendation to him. The receivers will present a new contract for the court's approval.

Affairs in Mexico Less Turbulent.

CITY OF MEXICO, February 8.—Public affairs are comparitively tranquil and the turbulence of a few days ago has almost ceased. This morning's newspapers said confidently that Guatemala was giving way, even on the question of indemnity, although it is believed Mexico will abate her claim, mainly on the ground of Guatemala's poverty and President Barrios' difficulties at home. The Diaro officialy says that no newspaper is inspired by the government, and that when ministers have communications to make they will make the same through the official organ of the government.

Insurance Company Won.

ABILENE, KAN., February 8.—A long-fought case resulted to-day in Referee Hord, appointed by the United States Circuit Court, finding a judgment of $40,000 against the Union Pacific Railway Co., in favor of the Travelers' Insurance Company. The Travelers' owns the Pacific Hotel here, which was built by T. C. Henry and taken from him by foreclosure. Henry entered into a contract with the railroad that trains should be stopped for meals. About six years ago the road put on dining cars and ceased stopping for meals. The Travelers' claimed the property was ruined and sued for its value.

For One Great Company.

RALEIGH, N. C., February 8.—The Supreme Council of the Farmers' Alliance took action to-day on the plan projected by the National Federation of Farmers for merging all farmers' organizations into one great company. The council indorsed the Phillips bill, introduced in the National House of Representatives, providing for the appointment by the President of a nonpartisan commission to collect information and to consider and recommend legislation to meet problems presented by labor, agriculture and capital.

Lieutenant-General of the Army.

WASHINGTON, February 8.—The President to-day signed the bill reviving the rank of Lieutenant-General for the benefit of General Schofield, and subsequently sent the nomination of Schofield to that grade to the Senate. There will be no objection to his confirmation. No move can be made toward filling the vacancies that will ensue in grades of Major-General and Brigadier-General until General Schofield's nomination is confirmed, but already applicants are coming forward.

MEMBERS OF HOUSE

Life-Like Pictures of Thirty Oregon Representatives.

John C. Young, Representative from Baker county, was born in Salt Lake City, U. T., in 1851. He was engaged in the newspaper business for ten years, but is now engaged in mining. Politically Mr. Young is a Populist and an ardent believer in free coinage of silver.

S. L. MOORHEAD.

S. L. Moorhead, Representative from Lane county, is a jolly good fellow of a jocular disposition and editor of the Junction City Times. He was born in Pennsylvania, and has since gravitated all over the continent and almost always been an inkslinger. Mr. Moorhead established the Junction City Times in 1891, and the paper is as wide-awake as the editor, which is saying a whole lot. Mr. Moorhead is a stalwart Republican, and has held two important offices in Junction City, that of Mayor and Recorder, without seeking them.

M. J. HILLEGAS.

M. J. Hillegas, Representative from Lane county, was born in Ohio in 1841, and his early years were passed on a farm. He joined the Union army as a private in 1862, serving through the war, and was mustered out as a Lieutenant in 1865. Mr. Hillegas emigrated to Lane county, Or., in 1882, where he has since pursued farming as a vocation. He has always been a stalwart Republican, but an opponent of the demonetization of silver.

IRA S. SMITH.

Ira S. Smith, Representative from Polk county, was born in the county he represents in 1859, and was educated at the La Creole Academy in Dallas, Or. After graduation he taught in this institution for two years. For five years he was engaged in the mercantile business at Independence, and was later elected Sheriff of Polk county. Mr. Smith was elected to the present Legislature as a Republican.

CALVIN STANLEY.

Calvin Stanley, Representative from Yamhill county, was born in Indiana in 1848. His early education was received in that State. Six years ago Mr. Stanley came to Oregon, locating in Newberg, which has been his home ever since. He is engaged in the mercantile business. Mr. Stanley has been a lifelong believer in Republican doctrines.

G. O. RINEARSON.

G. O. Rinearson, Representative from Clackamas county, is a lawyer by profession, and is 24 years old. He was elected to the Legislature from his county last June by a large majority. He was born and raised in Clackamas county. Mr. Rinearson is recognized as one of the ablest parliamentarians and most forcible speakers in the House.

CHRIS P. YATES.

Chris P. Yates, Representative from Washington county, was born in the State of New York in 1835. He graduated from a medical college, but his life has been devoted chiefly to newspaper work. He has traveled as special correspondent through Mexico, South America and Europe and the Western States. Mr. Yates served in the army during the war, and was promoted. In 1872 he came to Oregon, and has been connected with the Telegram, Daily News and Oregonian. He now lives on a farm, is a Republican and a stanch friend of silver.

JOHN A. JEFFREY.

John A. Jeffrey, Representative from Jackson county, was born in Arkansas in 1860. At the age of 5 years he started for Oregon with his father, arriving after many adventures in 1874 by way of Sacramento. Mr. Jeffrey's early education was received at the public schools of Jacksonville and the State Agricultural College. Mr. Jeffrey is an orator of the unstilted variety, and was elected to the Legislature in 1894 as a Populist and silver man.

T. FLEMING SMITH.

T. Fleming Smith, Representative from Linn county, was born in Illinois 54 years ago. In 1875 he came to Oregon, where he has since made his home in Linn county. Mr. Smith is a stalwart Republican, but without bias where the best interests of the State are concerned.

E. H. THOMPSON.

E. H. Thompson, a member from Multnomah county, was born in Killingsworth, Conn., January 16, 1842. When 12 years of age he moved with his parents to Illinois. At the age of 16 he enlisted in the army and served for a brief period in the army of the Cumberland. He was then transferred to the navy and served three years under Porter. Mr. Thompson came to Oregon in 1882, and soon after his arrival associated himself with Andrew Clark and established the Portland Iron Works. He sold his interest in the latter concern seven years ago, since which time he has been engaged in the lumber business at Brower, where he now resides.

T. H. M'GREER.

T. H. McGreer, Representative from Wasco county, was born in California, his parents having emigrated from Kentucky to that State. After receiving an education at the public schools of San Francisco and Oakland College, Mr. McGreer at the age of 19 engaged in stock-raising. He came to Oregon in 1878 and settled at Antelope, his present home. After devoting a few years to mercantile pursuits Mr. McGreer has returned to his original pursuit of stock-raising.

ROBERT GLENN SMITH.

Robert Glenn Smith, Representative from Josephine county, is a native son of Oregon, having been born near Perrydale in 1862. He was engaged in farming until 1890, since which time he has been a member of the general merchandise firm of Wise & Keyt at Perrydale. Mr. Keyt was nominated as a Republican for State Senator in 1892 and defeated with the rest of his ticket, but was returned as a Representative in 1894.

THIRTY MEMBERS OF THE OREGON HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

JOHN C. YOUNG.

GEORGE SHUTRUM.

George Shutrum, Representative from Umatilla county, was born in New York State in 1848, and owing to the death of his parents was obliged to struggle for himself from the age of 8. He enlisted in the Ninth Illinois in 1864, and was mustered out at the close of the war in 1865. After temporary residence in several States Mr. Shutrum came to Oregon in 1876, and settled in Umatilla county without money or friends. He engaged in farming on a small scale in 1877 and to-day owns and farms 2,000 acres of land near Pendleton. Mr. Shutrum is a Republican.

D. L. KEYT.

D. L. Keyt, representative from Polk county, is a native son of Oregon, having been born near Perrydale in 1862. He was engaged in farming until 1890, since which time he has been a member of the general merchandise firm of Wise & Keyt at Perrydale. Mr. Keyt was nominated as a Republican for State Senator in 1892 and defeated with the rest of his ticket, but was returned as a Representative in 1894.

ORIN L. PATTERSON.

Orin L. Patterson, Representative from Grant county, was born in Indiana in 1867 of Virginia lineage. His early life was divided between the schoolhouse and the farm, becoming a teacher when duly qualified. In 1889 he came to Oregon, locating at Heppner, where in partnership with his brother, Otis Patterson, he established the Heppner Gazette, recognized to-day as a leading and influential journal of Eastern Oregon. In 1891 Mr. Patterson purchased the Long Creek Eagle, and this paper and the Heppner Gazette were combined under the ownership of the Patterson Publishing Company, composed of Otis, Alvan W. and Orin L. Patterson. The latter gentleman is now editor and manager of the Eagle, which under his auspices has become an influential exponent of Republican principles. Mr. Patterson believes in adequate protection to American industries and the rehabilitation of silver.

CORNELIUS B. SMITH.

Cornelius B. Smith, Representative from Clackamas county, was born in Seneca county, New York, in 1846. After graduating from the Medical College of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia he came to Oregon in 1880 and practiced medicine in East Portland until 1889. For the past five years Dr. Smith has followed his profession at Eagle Creek.

FRANK A. STEWART.

Frank A. Stewart, joint Representative from Coos and Curry counties, was born in Illinois in 1843. He crossed the plains in Oregon with his parents in 1854. Mr. Stewart resided for three years at Dallas, receiving an education at the La Creole academy, afterward teaching school in Marion county, and following the same profession later at Gold Beach. During his busy life Mr. Stewart has been Treasurer of his county, School Superintendent, joint Representative in 1882, Deputy Collector and Collector of Customs for Southern Oregon, and in 1894 was elected joint Representative from Coos and Curry counties as a Populist.

J. A. WRIGHT.

A prominent and successful merchant of Sparta, Union county, Oregon, was born in Bourbon county, Kentucky, October 23, 1855, and is the second son of ex-Governor James A. Wright of Indiana, who was a native of Pennsylvania, born in 1810 and came to Indiana at an early day. He was married to Miss Harriett B. Burbridge in Bourbon county, Kentucky. Mr. Wright was elected twice Governor of Indiana, served his State in the United States Senate and was a United States Commissioner to the first great World's Fair at Hamburg, and in Pierce's administration was appointed United States Minister to the Court of Prussia, and was returned under Lincoln's administration and died in the city of Berlin in 1867. Our subject was educated in New York and New England. He is a graduate of Yonker's Military Institute, a graduate of Wilbraham Academy of Massachusetts, also a graduate of the Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn., in 1879. He then entered the Park National Bank in New York city, and resigned an honorable position there to accept the position of Treasurer and Secretary of the West India Manufacturing Company, which position he held until 1883, when he came to Oregon to take care of a mining company in Baker county, and has since engaged in the mining business, being interested in some very prominent mines, both quartz and placer, in Sparta, Union county, in connection with which he conducts a large mercantile enterprise. In 1890 Mr. Wright was elected to represent Union county in the State Legislature on the Republican ticket, and was re-elected in 1892 on the same ticket to fill the same office and again in 1894 received an overwhelming majority to represent again the interests of his constituents. Mr. Wright's interests in the state are all identified with the great mining resources of the state, and he has worked assiduously to aid its development and advertisement. His efforts in the cause of silver are well known, which he has expressed with his well-known vigor and candor. He has served as Commissioner on the World's (Oregon) Fair Commission, Governor Pennoyer having resigned in his favor with great credit. He was chairman of the Committee on Mines in the House in 1891 and chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means in 1893, and was prominently mentioned for the speakership in the same session. He has a great many friends in Eastern Oregon where he has become one of its representative men.

J. H. SCOTT.

J. H. Scott, Representative from Linn county, was born in Iowa in 1850, emigrating to Oregon with his parents in 1853. The family settled in Douglas county where they remained until 1860. In that year they removed to Linn county where Mr. Scott has since resided. All his life he has been a farmer and his interests are all identified with the tillers of the soil. He was elected to the Legislature as a Republican in 1894.

C. A. SCHLBREDE.

C. A. Schlbrede, Representative from Douglas county, was born in Louisville, Ky., in 1851, of German parentage. His early life was passed on a farm in Indiana and he later studied law and was admitted to practice in 1874. Mr. Schlbrede came to Oregon in 1877 and has resided in Douglas county for the past ten years. He is a consistent Republican, but has never before held office, although always active in political work.

S. M. NEALON.

S. M. Nealon, Representative from Jackson county, was born in Connecticut in 1841. He went to Georgia with an uncle at the age of 15, where he remained clerking until 1862. Then to avoid conscription into the Confederate army he made his escape on foot and reached the Union army in Tennessee, ragged and hungry. He served in the Connecticut volunteers until the close of the war. Mr. Nealon came to Oregon in 1883 and has since resided in Jackson county. Originally a Republican, Mr. Nealon joined the Populists in 1891. He was defeated as Representative in 1892, but elected in 1894.

C. F. TIGARD.

C. F. Tigard, Representative from Washington county, is a native son of Oregon, having been born on the same farm in Washington county in 1862 where he now resides—on the Tigard donation land claim. Mr. Tigard is now engaged in hop-raising and also in the general merchandise business at Tigardville. He expresses himself as a firm believer in the free coinage of silver.

PORTLAND MARKETS.

All grades of sugar declined ⅛ to special points in Eastern Oregon. Local quotations are not changed. A large lot of California vegetables were brought up on the steamer, but a considerable portion of it was in bad condition. Eggs are still lower, weak and difficult to sell. Dealers cannot explain the lack of demand. Grocery, merchandise and provision quotations are without change.
