TRAP SHOOTING VERY POPULAR

Large Crowd Attends Yesterday's Shoot at the Country Club; the Scores Were Low.

Not since the golf tournament last fall has any outside event attracted as large a crowd as was out for the shoot yesterday. From the interest displayed this sport promises to be one of the big attractions of the club from now on.

About twenty-five shooters were taking part yesterday and a considerable number of spectators were also on hand. It was found that the new location of the trap was much more satisfactory than the old, but for some unknown reason the scores were not very good. In another week or so when the shooters have had time to accustom themselves to the new condition no doubt some excellent scores will be turned in.

It was found impossible to have the new improvements all finished for yesterday's shoot but these are being rushed to completion and should be ready within the next day or so. Any club members who wish to shoot for practice during the week may do so at any time. The next regular shoot is planned to be held next Sunday. Shooting will start at 12 o'clock.

Residents of Marghfield were entertained Sunday by watching two large black whales spouting and playing about in the bay.

become a tremendous force on critical occasions, that could be used as a dominant factor in legislation. This harm's extended to the minds of all of its members, however, and those who have been worried along those lines say that no intention has developed among them in the idea to force any issue, or defeat any issue save those in which they declare the bloc is vitally interested.

No doubt some sort of a marketing plan will be one of the main issues which will bring the bloc to the front, but what form this will take remains to be developed.

HOUNDS ON TRACK OF CRIMINAL

HOOD RIVER, Jan. 22.—A. D. Moe, local newspaper man, who with Mrs. Moe is on a motor tour of southern California, has written that the party was over the Siskiyous and through the mountains of Humboldt county, he adds:

"We made up our mind to get a good start over the mountain by daylight so we went out about 6 o'clock. A chilly wind was blowing up some of it was warm and pleasant. Round Grove little town packed on the roadway near the summit, the pavement ended nearly nine from the sides of the road. The road was also dry and in good condition to Yreka."

Every Link A Strong One

Vulcan, the Blacksmith God of Greek mythology, worked day and night in his grimy abode hammering out a chain, carefully testing every link of it. His fellow gods laughed at him and derided what seemed to them a waste of time and energy.

"A chain," said Vulcan, "is only as strong as its weakest link," and went on with his work.

The standard of a store is set, not by the value of a few spectacular offerings, but by the character of its general merchandise.
