Law of Newspapers.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

1. If any subscribers order the discontinuance of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

2. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their newspapers from the offices to which they are directed, the law holds them responsible until they have settled the bills, and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publisher, and the newspapers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from this office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. The postmaster who neglects to give legal notice of the neglect of a person to take from the office the newspaper addressed to him, is liable to the publisher for the subscription price.

GLOOMY VIEW OF THE DEMOCRATIC SITUATION.

New York, Oct. 18.—The "Sun" has a remarkable editorial under the heading "No Mincing Matters," whereof the following are extracts: The Democrats have sustained an unexpected and mortifying defeat in Indiana and Ohio. It is disastrous and may prove fatal. It is silly to make light of it and idle to try to whittle it away by cunning calculations and adroit figuring. The Democrats are beaten, badly beaten; whether beaten to death or not is the only question. It has seemed to us that the whole Democratic campaign was a series of blunders. The party had one man (only one) whose immense strength had been demonstrated on the national field—Samuel J. Tilden. It is the one great, preeminent name in the Democratic party. He was a reformer indeed, as his record in the office of Governor had proven; he was a statesman, as all his public papers especially his letter declining to compete for the nomination had emphatically shown. Childless like Washington, he had only his country to love and even ties of kindred were ruthlessly sundered by his stern and unrelenting hand if the faintest blush of improper practice rested upon them. So patriotic, so lofty, so convincing was his great letter to the convention which made the nomination that the most adroit, the ablest of his enemies, after reading it avowed his disposition to support him. This illustrious man the Democratic party thought it could dispense with as a candidate. There is a word of one syllable with two o's in it which might not inappropriately be inserted here. The party nominated Gen. Hancock, a good man, weighing 250 pounds, but Hancock is not Tilden.

Then, as a crowning act of folly, the party went into the state of Thomas A Hendricks and took another man for Vice President. Any name other than that of Hendricks would have been folly enough, but to go one step further, they had to take a man with the most odious reputation as skinflint to overcome. There used to be a fellow who made an occupation of butting his head against a rough stone New England wall for 25 cents. The Democratic party, in making this nomination, resembled him; only if report be true, they did not get the 25 cents. Now we are for looking the actual facts squarely in the face. Who cannot do that without flinching in defeat and disater as well as in victory, has no manhood in his make. We are beaten; we are overthrown; but we are not destroyed. The disaster we have experienced may yet be retrieved.

Some Democratic Maxims.

A bird in the bush is worth two in the hand.

Don't let well enough alone.

A tree is known by its—Cincinnati platform.

A good and faithful servant should never be allowed to stand in the way of a bad and unfaithful servant that wants his place.

A change for the sake of change is the only hope of the Republic.

The elements that endeavored to destroy the Union are obviously the very elements to which to entrust its management.

Any man who wouldn't put wolves in charge of a sheep-fold—shoot him on the spot.

The sword of Bunker Hill must pale its ineffectual gleam in the presence of the corsets (price $3 29) of Hancock.

In order to show the South that she thoroughly forgives her, the North ought to restore her to power—no olive branch ought to be of less dimensions than a telegraph pole.

The Republican party had no more to do with bringing in this blessed era of prosperity than General Grant had in stamping out the rebellion.

Anything to beat Garfield.—[Albany Journal.

Yes, the people are ready for a change, and they will have it. The next Congress will be Republican.
