Law of Newspapers.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If any subscribers order the discontinuance of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their newspapers from the offices to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled the bills, and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publishers, and the newspapers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from the offices, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. The postmaster who neglects to give legal notice of the neglect of a person to take from the office a newspaper addressed to him, is liable to the publisher for the subscription price.

A CHRISTMAS ODE.

WRITTEN FOR THE SENTINEL BY MISS FLORENCE E. MACK.

Hark again we hear the chiming
Of the merry Christmas bells;
Echoing o'er the hills and valleys,
Murmuring in the distant dells.

'Tis the day our Savior entered;
All our sins he meekly bore.
Praise the hand of God most holy;
Praise the Lord forever more.

'Tis with hearts of love o'erflowing
That we meet around the hearth;
Father, mother, sister, brother,
Hearts o'erflowed with joyous mirth.

O! to-night we meet kind friends;
Just as we have met of yore,
But, alas! we miss those loved ones,
Who have passed beyond the shore.

O! the dearth that's in this household,
On this merry Christmas day;
For the circle it is broken,
One by one have gone away.

Some have passed beyond the river,
To the blest tomorrowless;
Some in quest of worldly riches,
Tread this rough, polluted shore.

Still the memory of those dear ones,
Like a cord is in the air;
Breathing of the perfumed spices,
Thus we breathe a silent prayer.

A prayer, that the great God of love,
Shall on this Christmas eve
Around our weak and feeble hearts
A golden memory weave.

That the Christ may move our hearts to bear,
On this great Christmas day,
The crosses and the losses,
Which we meet upon our way.

And now God's blessing on thy head;
And may you live to know,
That joys can never come alone,
They must have sheaves of woe.

His death occurred in a miserable manner at the Chinese house, the inmates have suddenly decamped to avoid the popular indignation which threatened violence. Eight or ten young men have been in the habit of visiting this den nightly and the Coroner's jury have requested the town trustees to abate the nuisance.

The San Francisco Board of Education has declared that hereafter the positions of all lady teachers who marry will be declared vacant.

Miss Lizzie Dollar was recently married to a Southern gentleman. We suppose there will soon be some small change.
