Bread Pudding.

Get a dish deep and wide,
And rub round the inside
With a little fresh butter or lard,
That the pudding may be,
To a certain degree,
Good in form when turned out, but not hard.

Then of stale bread procure
Half a pound, and be sure
To reduce it to crumbs. Next obtain
Four sixteenths of a pound
Of loaf sugar well ground,
And some lemon-peel cut up. Again,

Beat to cream five or six
New-laid eggs, with which mix
Two half-pints of fresh milk by degrees,
Pop it into the pot
When the water is hot,
Boil one hour, and then it will please.

OPINIONS OF A FARMER.—I am near fifty years old, was always a farmer, as were my ancestors, as far back as I can trace them. My opinions are formed on experience and experiments that satisfy me, whether they do others or not.

OPINION I—Hay should be cut when in full bloom, as all plants contain most saccharine matter then and consequently, are more nutritious, if used for food. If hay is left later, sugar are chemically the same.

II.—All heavy or clayey soils should be plowed in autumn, so that the frosts of winter may pulverize them and kill the germs of insects deposited in the soil for the next season.

III.—The best way to raise calves is to take them from the cow as soon as dropped; it possibly never let them suck, as they learn to eat or drink sooner, and there is no sore teats from biting and the task of weaning the cow from the calf is soon over. I put them in a place where they will be sheltered from the sun and rain, give a good bed of straw, and feed three or four quarts of new milk per day until three weeks old, then feed skim milk warmed. Let them have access to hay or grass. By this method I have raised calves every year since I can remember, and never lost one in my life.

IV.—Nine-tenths of our farmers do not sow enough hay-seed to the acre. I have kept increasing the amount, and have not found a stopping place. The more seed the more and better hay; it timothy and clover, up to half a bushel each per acre. If the surface of the ground is completely covered, the hay will be fine, and no weeds can grow. I have choked out Canada thistles with timothy and clover seed sown as thick as "hair on a dog," so as to form a good, firm sod the first summer. Sow early in spring, or in February.

V.—Oats should be sowed very early, as early as possible. I saw a good crop raised that was sown in February, and was not harrowed but snowed and rained in.

VI.—Cooking food for hogs is better than doubling the same amount it fed raw, if you wish to fatten. For breeding, feed lightly.

VII.—Potatoes are worth more, for all kinds of stock, than most farmers think they are. If you can have them frozen and then cooked before they thaw, the starch is changed to sugar, and I know of no food that will fatten faster, or give a better flow of milk.

RAISING COLTS.—Never expect to have a good horse if you cram your colt; it cannot be done says Dr. Loring in Massachusetts Agriculturalist. The old adage in Vermont, "A ragged colt makes the best horse," means everything. Your colt, then, should run with its dam until it has reached that condition of the stomache which will enable it to digest solid food. Then take your colt and let it have abundance of free, cold air to begin with, and in addition to that, avoid the feeding of grain until it is three years old, as you would avoid feeding brandy and water to your children when they are little. It is astonishing how many nice colts are ruined by the excessive use of stimulating grain food in their infancy, so to speak. Let your colt mature slowly, its bone grow properly, its digestive functions be properly organized, its flesh in the proper condition—never fat, horse fat is the poorest fat in the world—keep it upon the best hay in winter, and good sweet pasture in the summer, and you will make the possible horse of that colt.

SOMETHING NEW.—Our attention was called a few days since, says the Sonora Herald, to a very pleasing and novel sight. Into the limbs of one of the locust trees which surround the Rifle building has been grafted seven slips of a rose bush. But one of the grafts took, and this produced curious flowers. The stem is that of a rose bush, or course, and the leaves are shaped like a rose leaf, but in every other particular resembles that of the locust. The flower is a deep red, like a rose, but formed and looks precisely like the locust flower. It is a very pretty combination, and the first one of the kind we ever saw.

WEEVEL IN WHEAT.—I. Friedlander, McCondry & Co., and other wheat dealers in San Francisco have published a card, in which they state that they have received advices from Europe of the existence of weevel in California wheat. They earnestly call upon producers "to take steps to eradicate the weevel," and "to prevent its appearance hereafter, to do so immediately so as to avoid danger to the coming crop." Boiling water and lime should be freely applied to your grain floors and the building inside whitewashed.

COLLEGE LOCATION.—The California State Agricultural College has been finally located in Alameda County. The exact place is not yet determined. The question of location was held open until after the adjournment of the State Convention. It looks very much as though it was held back for the purpose of affording a small stock of trading capital to be used in the Convention.

HORSES' FEET.—Many of the diseases incident to horses feet are caused by injury received in standing on a hard floor. An earth floor is the best for a stable, but it should have good drainage to prevent mud. When horses have been driven through muddy roads, they should not be allowed to stand all night without a thorough washing of the feet and fetlocks, and rubbing dry.

SIMPLE REMEDIES.—Mr. Lyman B. Sanford writes to the New York Farmers' Club that, while in Canada lately, he paid an English farmer ten dollars for a secret remedy for the disease in cows of abortion, which was simply to feed with salt for each one about a teaspoonful of bone, pounded or ground to dust. As a result, in a diary of 33 cows he had lost none, while his neighbor's flocks were as badly afflicted as ever.

AMERICAN LINSEED CAKE.—An English correspondent of the Country Gentleman says: "All our fatting cattle get four pounds per head daily of linseed cake, when first put up, increasing the quantity to eight or ten pounds to finish off; this is in addition to plenty of roots. The very best linseed cake we get comes from New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and costs here now $60 per ton."

SALES OF SHEEP.—A New England paper announces that Edwin Hammond, of Middlebury, Vt., recently sold six ewes to go to the West for $600 each.

OUR ACQUISITIONS.—At the rate we are going on, the old figure of speech, "that the whole, boundless continent is ours," will soon be words of plain sober fact. Since the constitution was adopted, we have made the following acquisitions of territory:

1. The purchase of Louisiana and the Mississippi Valley, in 1803, from France, for $15,000,000.
2. The purchase of Florida, in 1819, from Spain, for $3,000,000.
3. The annexation of Texas, in 1845.
4. The purchase of California, New Mexico and Utah, from Mexico, for $15,000,000, in 1848.
5. The purchase of Arizona from Mexico, for $10,000,000, in 1854.
6. The purchase of the immense Russian possessions, running down on the Pacific coast from the North Pole to fifty-four forty north latitude, at which line it strikes the British possessions.

These excessive flights of the American eagle, from the frigid North down almost to the equator, in the sunny South, are of a character to convince the world that nothing short of the whole Western Continent will content the "universal Yankee nation."

The new region just acquired by the Russian treaty extends our western line from Cape Flattery, the extreme western point of Washington Territory, just under the outer coast of Vancouver's Island, in longitude 127½ degrees west (or rather to 167 degrees east) longitude. This extension is equal in time from Cape Flattery, to four hours and thirty-three minutes; so that the full measure of time from the New Brunswick to the Atlantic line of our territory will be over eight hours and a half, or one hundred and twenty-six degrees of longitude. When the sun marks noon at Eastport, it will not be quite 3:30 in the morning at Atlon Island; or, being noon at the said island, it will be a little more than 8:30 in the evening at the Maine boundary.

NOTICE TO POSTMASTERS IN OREGON, WASHINGTON AND IDAHO.—The primary object of the Postoffice Department in the establishment of a Distributing Postoffice at Great Salt Lake City, and placing a daily mail service between that city and the Dalles, was to afford more rapid mail communication between the Atlantic States and the State of Oregon, and the Territories of Washington and Idaho. And in order that Oregon and adjacent Territories may reap the benefit of these new arrangements, mail matter for the East, as well as from the East, should pass over the route via Boise City.

Packets of letters for the East, therefore, should be addressed "Salt Lake City, D. P. O.," instead of "Sacramento, D. P. O.," or "St. Joseph, Mo., D. P. O.," as heretofore. And all such packets made up at Postoffices west of the Cascade mountains should be forwarded in pouches tagged "Portland," whilst those made up at offices east of the Cascades should be forwarded in pouches tagged "Boise City."

The above arrangements are not intended to apply to Postoffices in the counties of Jackson and Josephine, in Oregon, which offices will receive and forward their mail as heretofore, viz: via Sacramento.

It should also be borne in mind that all letters for the East go overland, unless otherwise ordered. If parties prefer that their letters do not go overland, they should be careful to mark them "Steamer."

Attention is also called to the importance of wrapping all packages of letters in paper of proper strength, tying them securely with twine, and addressing them plainly, as required by the Regulations.

QUINCY A. BROOKS,
Special Agent P. O. Department.
Portland, Oregon, July 1, 1867.

TEAZELS.—The Times, of San Francisco, has the following: "The woolen mills on this coast consume large quantities of teazel thistles, which are imported for this purpose from the East, and even from Europe, being brought by steamer via Panama, at a very great cost. These teazels are used in combing up the fine nap upon the surface of cloth. For this purpose they are unequaled, and no machinery or artificial substitute has yet been discovered to supply their place. Thousands of dollars worth are annually imported from abroad for the use of our mills, and yet in certain districts in this State they are found in great abundance. We have before us a fine specimen, plucked some forty miles from this city, in Santa Clara county, where large numbers may be gathered. Farmers in districts where they abound may rid themselves of a great pest and at the same time receive a handsome return for their trouble, by gathering them for the woolen mills; and at present prices it would pay handsomely to raise a special crop, the demand being already large and constantly increasing." Those California farmers must be slow chaps. Why, web-footed farmers have raised teazel for the past eight years.

ENGLISH SPARROWS.—A writer in the New York Evening Post thinks the city fathers have made a mistake in introducing English Sparrows into the park. He says they are a grain-feeding bird, and once domesticated they will spread into the country and prove a pest to the farmers.

PRESERVATIVE.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman recommends boring an inch or half inch hole, say six inches deep, in the end of posts to be set in the ground and fill it with crude petroleum, and when the wood has absorbed one filling, to fill again and plug it up, when the post may be set in the ground.

BLACK CATS.—A correspondent of the American Agriculturist, after trying ferrets for some years, comes to the conclusion that cats are the best rat catchers. He keeps his cat in the barn, always feeding her there. For some unexplained reason, he seems to attach importance to having a black cat.

TO DRIVE RATS AWAY.—An Iowa farmer states that being troubled with rats, he caught one, and poured kerosene oil on it, then let it go. The result was the rats all left for parts unknown, and have not been heard from since. The experiment is worth a trial.

PRINTER TO THE POPE.—John Murphy, of Baltimore, has been appointed Printer to the Pope—a title and honor never before conferred upon a citizen of this country. The official paper of appointment bears date Rome, March 15th, 1867. Mr. Murphy is the senior partner of an extensive publishing establishment in Baltimore.

LOOK OUT FOR MAD DOGS.—From every quarter of the country our exchanges come laden with accounts of mad dogs. That the disease has become so generally prevalent thus early, is just cause of alarm.

Du Chaillu says that when he remonstrated with the Africans for their intemperance, they replied: "Look at the gorilla; he drinks water."

OFFICE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The State Treasurer of New Hampshire receives only $600 salary, and is obliged to give bonds to the amount of $200,000.

ALARMING.—A span of horses valued at $1,200, belonging to Mr. Perry, of Battle Creek, Mich., died recently very mysteriously. Fears are entertained of the cattle plague.

EXCELSIOR! EXCELSIOR!
CHASTELLAR'S
HAIR EXTERMINATOR!
For Removing Superfluous Hair.
TO the ladies especially, this invaluable depilatory recommends itself as being an almost indispensable article to female beauty, is easily applied, does not burn or injure the skin, but acts directly on the roots. It is warranted to remove superfluous hair from low foreheads, or from any part of the body, completely, totally, and radically extirpating the same, leaving the skin soft smooth and natural. This is the only article used by the French, and it is the only really effectual depilatory in existence. Price 75 cents per package, sent postpaid to any address, on receipt of order, by

There cometh glad tidings of joy to all,
To young and to old, to great and small;
The beauty which once was so precious and rare,
Is free for all, and all may be fair.
By the use of
WHITE LIQUID ENAMEL,
For improving and beautifying the complexion. The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint, that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckels, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by French and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 50,000 bottles were sold during the past year—a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price 75 cents. Sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of an order, by

REPARATOR CAPILLI.
Throw away your false frizzes, your switches your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.
REPARATOR CAPILLI: For restoring Hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out,) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal.
It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. There are others, too, by thousands of living witnesses, who have proved experience our best witness. But, many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nineteenths of the different preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in these purchases. To such we would say, try the Reparator (lastly) it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given.
