"Ten Commandments" Seat Sale on Tomorrow Morning.

The sale of seats for the engagement next week of Cecil B. DeMille's cinema spectacle, "The Ten Commandments," will begin tomorrow morning at the Glass Drug store. Already many mail orders and inquiries have been received, indicating that the well-founded celebrity of this splendid picture is widely known among local playgoers. Discussion of "The Ten Commandments" has indeed been very far-reaching and its tremendous appeal to all classes of thinking people has caused it to be the most talked of motion picture that has ever been made. Two presentations, with full orchestral accompaniment, will be given twice daily.

"Lover's Lane" At Sherrys Today And Friday.

The name "Lover's Lane," never fails to awake tender feelings or memories even in those of us who are least inclined to sentiment. It means a path where lovers meet and spend many happy hours. Yet, there is another meaning, a still bigger meaning that is the theme of the film version of this Clyde Fitch stage play, "Lover's Lane."

"Lover's Lane" is the path of heart's desire, that symbolizes something different to each of us. To some it may be love; to others it may be self-sacrifice and service; still to others it may be just a mad search for pleasure and fun.

The story is of a young man who has chosen as his "Lover's Lane" life of service as a country doctor, even at the sacrifice of love—and a girl who has given up the man she loves in her search for happiness away from the secluded life of the country. Both have sacrificed love, but one has sacrificed it to a noble purpose. It is not long, however, before the girl realizes that a life of sacrifice and love is the road to ultimate happiness, that a life of selfish pleasures will lead to discontent and unhappiness.

The cast of brilliant players headed by Robert Ellis and Gertrude Olmstead, includes Frances Dale, Crawford Kent, Bruce Guerin, George Periolat, Maxine Hicks, Charles Sellon, Ethel Wales, Kate Toncray, Allen Manning and Dorothy Vernon.

Phil Rosen directed this Warner Bros. Screen Classic. Dorothy Farnum adapted the stage play to the screen.

Comedy showing "Short Kilts."

ACCIDENT PROVES FATAL

PENDLETON, Ore.—A transient laborer, who gave the name of Jack West, but was believed to be J. A. Cameron of Cinderella, Idaho, died in Echo, Ore., a few miles above where he had lost both legs below the knee in a log chopper on the Will Rogers farm.

The man had been feeling the machine was dropped onto the conveyor on the chopper, which carried him into the knives before it could be stopped. Both legs were cut off. He had been employed about three weeks. Nothing was known of him.

A coroner's jury which investigated the circumstances rendered a verdict of accidental death.

The orders are still coming in, but some are asking me to hold them until Old Man Winter has stopped blowing his breath in this direction. From all indications, when warm weather strikes us we will certainly have to hustle to take care of our orders. One man told us that he will need two carloads of shingles and all the other building material to go under them.
