Woman, About to Become Mother, Is Given Aid

The pathetic case of a young woman deserted by her husband within a few weeks of the time when she expects to become the mother of her first child has come to the attention of the Salvation Army this week. Left without any money and unable to work for her board, she has been dependent upon the charity of neighbors. One of them reported to Envoy and Mrs. J. C. Barker, who have arranged to have her received at the White Shield home of the Salvation Army at Portland.

The girl has had no means of providing a layette for her baby, and has mourned about it. Mrs. Barker says that the real necessities will be provided at the home but that if anyone has a few infant's things to spare, the gift would greatly cheer the disconsolate young woman.

Logger Hit, Sues Autoist

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—Chris Blanas, prominent hotel and apartment house owner of this city, was named defendant in a suit by Frank Olson, logging contractor, to recover $5561.75 damages. The suit followed an accident on The Dalles-California highway, north of Klamath Falls, July 6, 1925, in which an automobile, said to have been driven by Blanas, struck Olson, causing a fracture of the logger's left leg.

Meeske Wins on Foul.

EUGENE, Ore.—Billy Meeske of Australia won his wrestling match from Ralph Hand of Eugene at the Helig theater when Hand fouled him by slugging him in the jaw. Meeske won the first fall in 16 minutes with a headlock and Hand downed his opponent in 21 minutes with a toe hold. After 15 minutes more of wrestling Meeske became quite rough and Hand, in anger, began slugging and struck him several times in the face. The referee separated the men and awarded the match to Meeske. The decision was greeted with howls of disapproval.
