Moroni Olsen Players To Present "Friend Hannah" February 23

Tuesday evening, Feb. 23, will mark the return of the Moroni Olsen players in the last play of their season "Friend Hanna" by Paul Kester.

"Friend Hannah" is entirely different front anything Mr. Olsen has yet given to the northwest. It is a dashing historical romance and characters are taken from the pages of English history.

The play will be presented at the Arcade theater.

Vaudeville Bill Coming to Arcade Sunday

Vaudeville enthusiasts will see a program heralded as a high-class troupe of entertainers presenting comedy, songs, dancing and gymnastic feats, Sunday at the Arcade, Meyers and Bowen announce.

One of the acts is the Ankar Trio in "Athlete Pastimes at Sea." They will undoubtedly prove their offering both educational and entertaining. Curt Galloway in "The Wandering One" presents a comedy hobo act with a big surprise opening, material in songs, parodies and talk with special scenery. Leo and Gladys make their appearance in "The Music Shop." This act consists of singing, comedy talk and eccentric dancing with a few novelty instrumental numbers introduced. Dale and Adair specialize in blackface comedy, songs and patter. Frank Curran and Co. in "The Monopede Marvel" has a surprise consisting of talking, dancing and sensational leaping together with refined comedy. Frank Curran is a splendid example of overcoming physical difficulties.

"The Bloodhound" Showing at Sherrys Tonight

"The Bloodhound," Bob Custer's latest starring vehicle, comes to the Sherry theater heralded by motion picture critics as the best production in which this popular star has ever appeared. It gives Mr. Custer a somewhat different role from those which he usually assumes, and certainly no actor could ask for a more colorful part. As a Sergeant of the Northwest Mounted Police who is forced to trail his man on horseback by dog-sled and in a canoe, and who makes his arrest only to find the man he thinks is wanted for murder is his own brother with a pitiful little wife and a four year old son, Bob has slashing action and powerful drama, and he shows that he is as much at home with one as with the other. William Craft has directed the picture with a fine understanding of its compelling dramatic values.

Comedy "Live Cowards."

Peter Kyne Story Is Now In Film Form

"Never the Twain Shall Meet," Peter B. Kyne's enchanting story of the South Sea Islands is coming to Sherrys.

This picture, a Cosmopolitan production, directed by the celebrated French director, Maurice Tourneur, was picturized in Tahiti and Moorea, two of the famous islands of the South Sea group. The cast includes such prominent players as Anita Stewart, Bert Lytell, Huntley Gordon, Justine Johnstone, George Siegmann, Lionel Belmore, William Norris, Emily Fitzroy, Princess Marie de Bourbon and Florence Turner.

Perhaps never in the history of moving pictures has there been a story filmed against such gorgeously beautiful background as those which appear in "Never the Twain Shall Meet." Filled with all the magic and romance associated with life in the South Seas, this photoplay sounds an entirely new note in the literature and drama of motion pictures.

In the role of Tamea, the half-caste Island princess, Anita Stewart appears in a characterization thoroughly suited to her enchanting personality—a portrayal which calls for many phases of dramatic intensity, varied with comedy situations. Bert Lytell plays opposite Miss Stewart in the role of Dan Pritchard.

The production is lavish in the extreme, and as the picture develops on the screen there is a breadth and freedom, a tropical magic and a pictorial panorama of loveliness never before visualized with a moving picture camera. In addition to a wealth of scenic beauty there is an equal beauty in the exotic interior setting, designed by the masterful hand of Joseph Urban.

"Never the Twain Shall Meet" is distributed by Metro-Goldwyn.

Comedy showing "Cheer Up."

It is getting so that the modern fast-stepping flapper is very, very much of a problem to their mothers. The one in particular we have in mind in Roberta, the "dangerous" damsel in "Headlines," the new Encore picture which will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Star Theater. Roberta wildest little blonde powder puff who ever graduated from college through a rear door. Roberta makes 'em wild, and then tames 'em.

Roberta in the picture is Virginia Lee Corbin and her mother is Alice Joyce, who takes the part of a woman sob writer whose famous stories are being headlined in the metropolitan paper on which she works. Home from school, Roberta smokes and carries on as she pleases, while her mother, a widow, has to work overtime to cover up the advancing years which Father Time has written in wrinkles on her face.

The young flapper even flirts with her mother's suitors, while she publicly accepts the attentions of Donald Austen, a rich man to whom money is water and women are wine. Austen is married, and his wife sees in Roberta the necessary divorce atmosphere which will win her freedom.

The plot is carefully laid—but instead of the daughter being caught in the net her mother is the victim. Rushing to Austen's apartment on learning that her daughter has an appointment there, the mother quickly conceals the child and is herself made the evidence as she faces witnesses secreted in the building. Her fate is made even harder when her own suitor, who has come to save Roberta from disgrace, enters.

The story comes over the wires to the city editor, who has endeavored to win the flapper. He rushes out on the story himself and, learning the truth, arranges a meeting between the mother and her suitor aboard the giant liner Leviathan. The suitor has booked passage to Europe, carried away by his misery and the city editor newspaper assignment abroad. When they meet on the ship, the city editor rushes abroad with Roberta who takes full blame for the affair at the apartment.

The cast includes Alice Joyce, Malcolm McGregor, and Virginia Lee Corbin.

The Gang will also be present in their latest comedy "One Wild Ride."

Hero Hesitates Over Beautiful Girls In "Lover's Island"

Whom should he choose?

Julia, to whom he was engaged, was beautiful, sophisticated, vivacious and clever.

Clemmy, who had saved his life, was a simple, unworldly girl whose life had been spent in the little fishing village, and who was romantic, dreamy-eyed and beautiful.

The man facing these two alternatives is the hero of Associated Exhibitors' thrilling melodrama, "Lover's Island," which is playing at the Arcade theater Monday only. The part is essayed by James Kirkwood, while the two girls are played by Hope Hampton and Flora Le Breton.

Which qualities appeal to him most and what means he takes to assure himself of his preference are told in a thrilling sequence of scenes ranging from a terrific storm at sea to a tense scene of gun play in a little fisherman's cabin, and ending in a powerful climax on a deserted island.

As the unworldly niece of an old fisherman, Miss Hampton has one of her greatest opportunities for her particular delicate acting, and creates a part which will long be remembered by her many devotees.

James Kirkwood is virile and yet sensitive as the handsome man in the case, and Miss Breton is as delectable as ever a false sweetheart could be.

Not to be outdone by the stars, the supporting cast boasts names of great distinction, foremost being Louis Wolheim, famous legitimate stage star who is best known for his acting in the Broadway success, "What Price Glory?" Ivan Linow, Flora Finch and Jack Raymond complete the cast.

How London Zoo Determines Value of Birds And Animals

LONDON (AP) — Giraffes are valued according to the length of their necks and hippopotami by weight, it was revealed in the animal stock taking of animals at the London Zoo.

Giraffes generally are worth about 500 pounds each. The length of the neck is a determining factor owing to the difficulties of railway transport.

The most valuable animal in the Zoo is India Rama, an elephant which carries children about on its back. Its worth is placed at 1000 pounds. Rhinoceroses are next, being valued at 900 pounds. Hippopotami are bought and sold by weight the largest one here being priced at 800 pounds.

The price of llows averages 50 pounds each, according to size, age and disposition, while tigers, which are more difficult to catch, are worth 140 to 150 pounds each.

All told, the Zoo mammals were estimated to be worth 25,000 pounds.
