La Granders Visit Both Shanghai and Hong Kong

Hong Kong where we arrived on Thursday, January 21. Hong Kong is an island in the estuary of the Pearl river. It is the outpost of British possessions in the far east. Here they have built the beautiful city of Victoria, riding from the water's edge terrace above terrace, 1500 feet to the very summit, from which there is a superb view of the splendid harbor filled with craft of every description.

Beyond is a wonderful panorama of islands and waterways and the purple hills of the mainland stretching away to the distant horizon. The myriad lights of the city seen from the deck of the Belgenland at night is a scene of wondrous beauty. The first day of our stay here we had free. On the second day we went on an excursion steamer to the Portuguese city of Macao. This city was close on three centuries the only gate way through which European merchandise was introduced into the Chinese Empire and it was here that the Chinese came into touch with western civilization. It is one of the show places of the far east.

The ship carried a squad of Indian police and the cabin occupied by the captain and pilot was locked. These were precautions against river pirates. On the way we passed many Chinese fishing boats manned with from two to ten large cannons for their protection from pirates.

VAN SWERINGENS ATTEMPT A NEW RAILROAD MERGER

NEW YORK, Mar. 19. (AP)—Wall street was convinced today that the Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland are going ahead with new plans for the Nickel Plate railroad merger recently denied approval by the interstate commerce commission. The resignations yesterday of officers and directors of three of the five roads involved to eliminate the interlocking directorates was interpreted in banking circles as a step by the Van Sweringens to remove official criticism of the proposed merger.

O. P. Van Sweringen resigned last night as director chairman of the Nickel Plate but retains chairmanship of the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Hocking Valley roads. His brother, M. J. Van Sweringen, is his successor as chairman of the Nickel Plate and has resigned as a director of the two other roads.

ONION MARKET IS AWAKENING

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 19. (AP) —The local onion market is slowly awakening from its long sleep. With the new crop less than a month off, some activity is shown both in the local jobbing trade and in the country.

Very little fancy stock is available at this time and it takes considerable culling to obtain a United States grade No. 1 even from Sherwood supplies. There is still plenty of ordinary stock scattered around that can be purchased all the way from $1.40 to $1.75 a hundred. Real fancy stuff would bring close to $2 in the country.

Along the street produce houses are asking $2.50 for select stocks with cookers and ordinary grades down to $1.50.

Radical advance in wheat has forced a rise of 20 cents a barrel in Portland flour prices. Family patents are again quoted at $9 with bakers' grades $9 to $9.70 a barrel. Rye flour did not participate in the advance.

Eggs React.

Top grade eggs have reacted from yesterday's decline and are back to 25 cents on the local exchange again today. Other grades remained steady at previous level. Considerable stock is still finding its way into the cooler.

Lower grades of cube butter are easing off a fraction. Today firsts are a half cent lower at 36½c. Extras and standards are holding steady. Production continues heavy.

Meeting is going good. The house was full last night, including all the side seats and a lot of extra chairs. The street was parked full of automobiles. The sermon was very melting. A larger crowd expected tonight. Leo Bryant will sing in a special solo tonight.
