TO CARRY ON BRYAN'S FIGHT

CLEARWATER, Fla. May 22. —The fight that lost its leader when William Jennings Bryan died has found a new standard-bearer. A new chieftain has arisen to take the place of the Great Commoner in the ranks of militant Fundamentalism.

George F. Washburn, multimillionaire of Clearwater and Boston, has taken for his own the ideals of Bryan. He has dedicated his life and his fortune to war on the teaching of evolution. And this is his battle-cry:

"Save the orthodox Bible from the onslaughts of modernism."

It was a year ago, before Bryan's death, that Washburn heard a sermon in a Clearwater church about the fight to prevent the teaching of evolution in the schools. After Bryan's death he began to rally the dead leader's following, and in November of last year he held a big mass meeting here, where 3000 people heard him cry:

Dedicates Fortune to Task

"I hereby dedicate myself, my family and fortune to the task of stamping out the theory of evolution and the teaching of anything disrespectful to the Holy Bible."

And the crusade was on again.

Washburn's leadership is different from Bryan's. Bryan depended on his oratory to stir his followers. Washburn's is applying modern business methods, working as an organizer and executive to weld together an efficient fight-machine.

The Bible Crusaders of America, which has as its object the championing of the teaching of Genesis, is the official name of his organization. He subscribed $100,000 to its treasury at the beginning, and has promised $100,000 more when it is needed. He has organized groups of workers who are invading various states with eloquence and pamphlets, always working for legislative action against the teaching of "Darwinism."

The organization recently concluded its campaign in Mississippi, and saw the legislature pass an "anti-monkey bill" such as it had asked for. A crusade has been carried on in Florida, and the legislature is to consider a similar bill at its next session. Eventually the crusaders expect to campaign in every state in the union.

Sees Movement Spread

"The Bible crusade is the biggest movement before America today," says Washburn. "It is a movement destined to spread over the entire universe before many months have passed. Sweden and Jugoslavia have already taken up the fight, with fierce battles raging at trials similar to the Scopes trial at Dayton last summer."

Washburn's genius for organization is evident in the way the crusaders are grouped. There are associate members, active members, a children's branch known at the Junior Crusaders, an organization of ministers and evangelists, a monthly magazine full of arguments and quotations.

Bryan is gone. But the last movement he led is still going forward. His friend and co-worker is carrying on.

Nine boys and myself went fishing last night, caught 64. Had fish for breakfast, and it looks very much like are are going to sell about two carloads of Royal lump coal at $10.95 delivered off the car. When you read this ad tonight phone your orders in, because this is the only $10.95 lump coal that I know of this year; especially a good quality like the Royal is. A Baker fuel company informs us they sold many carloads of the Royal without a single complaint. A phone call last night for 25 gallons of pure linseed oil and enough white lead to go with it. We have sold a total of 3400 gallons of paint and oil, shingle stain and varnish in a year's time. The price no doubt has something to do with it. We are now figuring on furnishing about 400 gallons to one man over 200 miles from here.
