Billy Evans Says:

CASE OF OTT.

Few youngsters breaking into the majors have the unusual experience that has fallen to Mel Ott of the New York Giants.

Ott, a school boy star, was sent to Manager McGraw by an old time friend as a youngster with possibilities. He was a catcher.

McGraw, quick to form impressions, most of them being correct, by the way, immediately put a natural ball player the moment he saw him. When I asked the club owner at Sarasota, Fla., he returned to me:

"A youngster by the name of Ott in the best looking recruit in the camp. I am afraid he is too light for a catcher. The outfield may be his right place. But at one thing I am positive he can hit."

Since as good a judge of ball players as John McGraw thought so well of Ott, I decided he was worth watching.

STARS IN PINCH

Shortly after the season opened I noticed he was used in an emergency but failed. He has delivered many a fine wire, however.

In his first 11 trips to the plate, young Ott has come through with a base hit on seven different occasions, a most remarkable performance. Batting better than .300, merely in the role of pinch-hitter, is going some.

Another peculiar thing about Ott's first year in the majors is that during the time he made seven hits in 11 trips to the plate, he has not once played any position in the field.

McGraw is continuing on the theory that he isn't built for a catcher and is having him work in the outfield, where he is showing considerable improvement.

I have it on good authority that McGraw expects to start this as a regular in 1927.

JIM AND TOM

Had a very interesting chat the other day at Boston with Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey.

The former heavyweight champion and the near contender are doing a stint in vaudeville and getting away big.

Like all old timers, both Jeffries and Sharkey regret they were not born about 20 years later. Both feel they could have "taken" any of the present day heavyweights without much trouble.

At that, both consider Dempsey the best of the crop and feel he will be able to defend his title against any of the challengers despite his long absence from the ring.

Sharkey has fallen right into the gesture of the actor. When the two entered the American league ball park at Boston, they reached an awning that must have warmed their hearts.

Jeffries slipped quietly into his seat. He appeared embarrassed. But not "Sailor Tom." He took a seat in front in order and as the crowd filled the Jeffries affair pulled him from his seat to share the plaudits.

Of the two Jeffries looks the more fit, but Sharkey, who always appeared a little fat because of his peculiar physique, is perhaps the more rugged.

BLOW TO YANKEES

While the Yankees are out in front with a comfortable lead in the American league, the injury that will put them of the services of Bob Meusel for perhaps six weeks is certain to prove a serious handicap.

Meusel recently suffered a broken bone in the left foot. Like most accidents of the sort, it was caused by failure to slide after having decided to do so.

Incidentally, it came at a time when the theft of the base meant little or nothing to the Yanks either than adding a stolen base to the record of Meusel, who is leading the league.

At the time the Yankees were leading 3-1 in the seventh inning. Two were out, with Meusel on first and a runner on third. I was sitting on the bench at the time and was right over the play as Meusel was injured.

Making a start to fool away in an effort to beat the throw to second, Meusel, seeing he was caught, tried to stay up. He spikes held fast and a broken bone in the foot resulted.

The Yanks will miss Meusel, who was playing the greatest game of his career.

Narcissus Quarantine Effective on July 15

The domestic narcissus bulb quarantine proposed to prevent the spread of bulb fliee and eelworm pests was signed July 2 by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine to become effective July 15, 1926. The bulletin regulation submitted June 25 to all interested parties for comment was received with general approval, no criticism or changes being suggested.

The quarantine applies only to the American-grown bulb crop, but includes commercial growers, shippers and handlers of narcissus bulbs in every state and district of the United States. It provides for the movement of the bulbs only after inspection and certification. Bulbs found free from infestation will be certified for interstate movement.

Bulbs found to be infested will not be allowed in interstate movement until disinfected or treated under the direction and to the satisfaction of an inspector. Persons intending to move harvested bulbs interstate should make application for inspection to the plant quarantine inspector of the state concerned as far as possible in advance of the probable date of shipment.

D'Autremont Suspects Held in Quebec Today

QUEBEC, July 12 (AP)—Three Americans giving their names to the police as Benjamin Lardemont, Emmanuel Harmont and Jose Harmont, are held here awaiting identification by the authorities of Eugene, Oregon.

American police are searching for Ray, Roy and Hugh D'Autremont, of that city, charged with dynamiting a Southern Pacific train near Hokkyus on the California-Oregon border in 1923 and killing the engineer, fireman, brakeman and mail superintendent. The three held by the police are under suspicion of being the men sought for the crime, the dominion police said.
