REPORT FILED BY STOCK INSPECTOR

Animals in Marion County Reported to Be Free from Infectious Diseases.

MRS. M'ILWAIN FOLLOWS HER HUSBAND'S FATE

Three Days After He Commits Suicide Wife Swallows Same Poison.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Dec. 10.—D. D. Keeler, stock inspector of Marion county, yesterday filed his quarterly report in the county court showing the condition of stock in this county. The text of the report follows:

"Stock of all kinds is in fair condition, and there has been this fall no infectious or contagious disease manifest. The weather turning very favorable grass sprang up, and stockmen have not had to feed very much dry feed, at least but little hay as yet this fall.

"In a few localities there have been some cases of ergotal poisoning (commonly known as staggers) in horses.

"I have seen a few cases of verminous bronchitis or worms in the lungs of calves this fall, but it has not attacked any great number as yet that I know of. Calves and sheep seem to keep in good condition on the grass that has grown. Since the fall rains set in no weather has yet been cold enough to retard their growth.

"I would like to caution the people while I am speaking on the food question by saying that a good deal of bran should be used in the food this season. We cannot have a balanced ration if something of this kind is not added in abundance, owing to the coarse and nitrogenous condition of some of the obtained foods.

"There has been quite a shipment of butcher stock hogs and sheep, also of breeding stock, but I am unable at this time to give the gross number or price received for said stock. In this connection permit me to say I am surprised that any shipper has the heart to attempt the handling and shipping of butchers' stock with the poor facilities afforded him anywhere along the lines of railroad passing through the county. Many of the farmers and stockmen are rapidly improving their stock by the importing of thoroughbred and fullbloods, and I think one of the prime factors in this improvement is the state fair held within this county. Probably nowhere in the state can be found better sheep, goats, Hereford (whitefaced) and Jersey cattle, well bred horses both of the heavy draft and carriage breeds, saying nothing of the good drivers.

"I have not as yet made a tour of the different dairies of this county, but intend to in the near future, and am promised the company of Pure Food Inspector Bailey in my rounds, especially among those supplying Salem with milk. When I have made such inspection I shall be pleased to bring before you my findings."

Follows Husband's Path.

At 10:30 o'clock last night Mrs. Jennie Cameron McIlwain, widow of Young Charles McIlwain, who committed suicide by taking carbolic acid on last Tuesday afternoon, entered the back room of the Council saloon in this city and repeated the act of her husband. As she entered the saloon she called for a drink of whisky which was brought to her by the proprietor of the place. Instead of drinking the whisky the woman turned toward the door and swallowed the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid. She then drank the whisky and lay down on a sofa in the room, and within five minutes was unconscious. A physician was summoned but arrived too late to do any good, and the woman died about an hour and a half after taking the poison.

Mrs. McIlwain had taken several drinks of liquor during the evening but was sober when she committed the deed. There is no doubt but that the act was deliberate, as she left a note to her parents asking their forgiveness for her last wayward deeds.

Grants Requisition.

Governor Chamberlain yesterday afternoon issued a requisition on the governor of California for Charles Keith, who was arrested in that state and who is wanted in Portland for the larceny of cigars from an O. R. & N. car.
