AT THE THEATERS

"Stop Flirting" Showing at Sherrys Today Only

Happy ballons, happy joy, long laughs! That's what's waiting for the people of La Grande at Sherrys today. "Stop Flirting" is being shown.

With John T. Murray, Wanda Hawley, Juanita Adams, Jack Duffy, David Batters, Elliot Sullivan and a host of other fine stars playing the leading roles under the direction of the great Sam Sidney who acknowledges Charley's Aunt" as his best production. It is small wonder this is a whirlwind farce that fills the public like a cyclone.

There isn't any introduction nor are there any long dramatic monologs—there are just tons and tons of laughs—wholesome, spontaneous, elaborate, merry laughs. For two years the story as a musical comedy, kept the legitimate stage to a constant capacity but can't anything to what it is going to do in moving audiences. All we can say is the Chinese seem to have found the secret for turning out a one hundred per cent comedy with every production judging from this one and the skin-rattling predecessors.

Fake Prophet Finds Profits in "Selling" Religion to People

"Selling religion to the people" proves profitable to Jesse Kirkwood, playing the role of a hypocritical prophet in Frank Ling's new First National picture, "The Wise Guy," opening a three day run at the Arcade Theater today.

Kirkwood starts out in the picture as a seller of Indian medicine, but discovers that there is more money to be made in revival meetings. While he preaches the "gung" goes through the pockets of the right congregation.

The power of the Word wins many converts and the entertainment free in, but the hypocrisy of this mountain guitar player leads with the leader and his followers. The truth he preaches proves a double edged sword.

This is the unusual theme of Frank Lloyd's new First National offering, "The Wise Guy."

James Kirkwood plays the title role; Betty Compson is Rita Kane, who later joins the author habitually of a religious worker; Mary Astor is a world-eyed sequence whose soul is weighed down with a dread secret; Mary Cary and George F. Marion are a matrimonial couple who assist the charlatan in his operations, and George Cooper is a "dip" also with the outfit.

Pathos and Irish Wit Mix Nicely in "Shamrock Handicap"

"The Shamrock Handicap", which will be shown at the Star theater today is another of Fox Films' irresistible combinations of Irish wit and pathos which introduces the combined efforts of John Ford and J. Farrell MacDonald, who directed and MacDonald played the role of Casey in "The Iron Horse" and the result was a masterpiece of photoplay comedy which is duplicated in this Peter B. Kyne story.

Leatrice Fountain, who played Douglas Kirk in "Sandy" and Janet Gaynor, who was Anna Mae "Fonda," have the leading roles and others among the cast are Willard Louis, George Harris, Claire McDowell, Brandon Hurst, Andy Clark, Linda Fayne, Thomas Delmar and Ely Reynolds.

"The Shamrock Handicap" by Kyne's dramatic story of a female Irish jockey and a famous Irish steeplechaser transplanted to an American track. Fontan plays Neil Kane, the jockey, who is injured in a race so badly that he is not expected to walk again. Miss Gaynor has the role of Lady Sheila Gallway, who owns the jumper and J. Farrell MacDonald is the trainer. Miss McDowell is his wife.

Lady Sheila, her father, the trainer and his wife arrive with the famous jumper to find Kane in a wheel chair. They had expected Kane to provide funds until the horse had made a winning and they are broke, which spoils the way for a lot of John Ford's best comedy.

On the day of the race, the jockey who was to ride the jumper finds he can't manage the horse. Kane, in spite of his injuries, demands that he be strapped in the saddle. He rides to victory over the road who had caused his injury and with the prize money undergoes treatment which restores him to health. Then the whole party return to Gallway manor, where he marries Lady Sheila.

The cast is not the only high spot in the picture. Hoot and "Chinky" Morgan, Clark's role have a knockout fight in the early scenes which adds to the swift action of the story.
