A HEART TO HEART TALK BY CLAUD C. PRATT

A few days ago a price-cutting campaign was turned loose against us in order to run us out of town and it looked like, from the surface that we were a gone goose. But thanks be to our hundreds of friends who have rushed to our rescue, we have survived. How can we ever repay you for your great kindness to us? You have absolutely covered us up with so much business that I am writing this message to you after the midnight hour. We were compelled to add another truck and truck driver yesterday and the people have flocked to our place of business and the new lumber yard has the resemblance of a public sale being carried on.

One thousand dollars worth of business rolled in yesterday, of which $600.00 was in cold cash and the other $400 will be paid when the orders are completed.

The kalsomine sold like feathers in a wind storm. One man took 15 packages. Telephone calls came in offering us encouragement and even high up business men that have never had the occasion to visit our yard before, drove down and said "We are all with you, Claud." We are not worthy of so much kind treatment. Two different men came in and offered their services free to us. One man came and offered to circulate a petition to protest any kind of a move to run us out of La Grande. Well, all that we have to say about this is, all the little things we have tried to do for the farmers in this valley and the citizens of La Grande is only a drop in the bucket of what we have outlined to do. There is nobody so unreasonable that he wants to buy material at the expense of one's downfall, and on the other hand, they don't like to pay two prices. Some people are extremists. If they can't get more than anything is worth, then they are like the old Southern expression, "We'll be whole hog or none."

A farmer has left some orchard equipment here for sale. It consists of a disk, a two-section harrow, a harvest pump, 8 ladders and a box press. The articles are dirt cheap, either buy one piece or the whole outfit for $37.00.

We found a little gold emblem in the office about the size of the end of your little finger. Looks like it might be some Catholic emblem. We are holding it, and the owner can have the same by giving a description of it and taking it away.

We always put a picture at the top of our ad that looks like the firm which it represents.

The Results of a Service Rendered
The continuous growth of this Nation-wide Institution of Department Stores and especially the large expansion that is being made this Spring, is creating truly remarkable opportunities for young men with selling experience in our lines to associate themselves with this Company and train for future Co-partner Store Managers.
Thruout the United States, the J. C. Penney Company Stores are acclaimed the friend of the people—exercising in the fullest way a buying power that gives large savings to the public.
This growth is directly the result of that liberal appreciation of our Service which the public has shown in our operations during the last twenty-five years.

ABIE PUMPERNICKLE SAYS:
He never knew there were so many different kinds of shingles before. Abie is a little new in the lumber and shingle game but he is willing to learn. After considerable scouting around he has been fortunate in getting a deal through on five cars of shingles at a very favorable price. The first of these cars should be shipped Monday from the coast and we expect it here the last of the week. Abie doesn't know just what shingles have been selling for around here but anybody who wants any of these can have the Extra "A" grade, which most of the master builders prefer, for $3.15 per M. The cheaper grade of "A" for $2.10 and the No. 2 which is really just the mill culls for $1.75. Orders delivered from car will be filled for 10c per M less than the above. Rush your order in for they probably won't last very long.
Frank Appleby made a mistake in our ad yesterday. He said our barb wire was 90-rod rolls. It is only 80-rod rolls. Frank didn't mean any harm to make this mistake but Abie positively couldn't deliver 90 rods of black barb wire for $3.90 or galvanized for $4.45, even though he does get the cash for it. Anyhow not the high-grade American Glidden cattle wire.
Abie wants us to let him run one implement department, too. We are not sure that this would be a good thing to do, for our Mr. Jay Hagen, who has had charge of this line for us for the last three years has spent about 15 years learning the business and we are a little afraid Abie might gum the works a little. About the first time some good farmer came in for a mower repair and went home with one for a binder we expect there would be trouble. Jay knows more about most of our farmers' machinery than most of them do themselves and they know that when he gives them an extra or sends for something for them that they will just about get it right the first time and right now. However, we don't want to curb Abie's ambition any and we will try to give him at least a part of the implement line. No doubt the manure spreader department would give him a fine opportunity.
The customers are flocking in so fast that Abie hasn't time to say anything more this morning but Monday be sure has some news for you about paint and kalsomine.
