NATIONAL TITLE MEET ON FEB. 25

Illinois - New York A. C. Track Rivalry to Be Renewed in Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—With all the frills incident to a turnout of Olympic talent from the East and Middle West the old track and field feud between the Illinois and New York Athletic Clubs will flare up anew in the National A. A. U. Indoor Championships in Madison Square Garden February 25.

Last year the New Yorkers wrested the team championship from the Illinois A. C. after the Chicago clan had won the title four successive years. Out to establish a winning streak on their own account as well as to settle a few additional scores with old rivals, the Mercury Footers have strengthened their squad of talent for the 128 point struggle.

Roland Locke, famous Nebraska sprinter and world's record-holder in the 220-yard dash, is the latest to join the New York A. C., but he will not be eligible to represent the club because of a rule requiring four months residence in the district first. Locke, who recently came east to train, will run unattached. If he finds the 60-yard sprint too short for his style, he may turn his attention with better results to the 300-yard dash. Such speed merchants as Frank Hussey and Jackson Scholz, the Olympic 200-meter champion, already are in the N. Y. A. C. fold.

Joie Ray's come-back, if he is in shape, may add spice to the indoor title battle, recalling some of the spirited struggles in the past between the New York and Chicago rivals.

Ray Conger, the national mile champion and conqueror of Dr. Otto Peltzer, is among the stars of the Illinois A. C. squad, while Harold Osborn, the Olympic high jump and decathlon champion, will wear the tri-color as he marks another step in his come-back.

Sabin Carr, of Yale, holder of the world's record for the pole vault, is expected to defend his indoor title, but participation of Lloyd Hahn, indoor champion at 1,000 yards, appears unlikely. Hahn planned to compete instead in the New England championships in Boston the same day.

It was just four years ago that the Illinois and New York Athletic Clubs staged one of their bitterest battles for the indoor crown. The meet was not decided in the I. A. C.'s favor until the final event, the medley relay, and in this the Chicagoans entered two teams, one of which was outclassed and served only to provoke a row over alleged interference with the New York A. C. runners, while the other anchored by Joie Ray, was triumphant. Ray Baker, a minister and later national mile champion, was the anchor on the second-string I. A. C. quartet and also the "goat," being accused of blocking the New York runner at a crucial stage of the race. Baker denied any ill-intent.

This particular meeting ended in a near-riot among competitors and spectators and resulted in A. A. U. legislation to prevent any club from entering thereafter more than one team in a relay race.

Four Basketball Games At Union During Weekend

UNION, Feb. 22 (Special)—Union High and grade teams played four basketball games at home last week, winning all but the grade game with the Enterprise grade boys. This is the only team that has defeated Union's eighth grade tossers, the Enterprise boys having won over the Bobcat cubs twice this season.

Friday night the Cove team was here again, after having been defeated three times in practice games during the holidays, and this time they played a more improved brand of basketball, suffering defeat by only a margin of five points from the Bobcats. Preceding this game the Maroon and White girls carried the Alumni women into camp with a decisive victory, the score being about four to one.

Saturday night after the grade defeat the Enterprise High boys attempted to emulate their eighth graders but were disappointed. Union took an immediate lead when Delap lossed three field goals almost as soon as the game started. A safe margin was attained during the first quarter and gradually increased during the game ending with 31 points to Enterprise's 11. DeLap was high point man of the game having six field goals and one foul goal to his credit. Coach Coburn has shifted his lineup during the past week, Jack Cox now being back in his old position as guard. His ankle which he injured during the football season, had kept him out of practice till the last couple of weeks. Glenn Miller was used more than in past games also, and shows promise of developing into an excellent player. Wilkinson, guard, has quit school, for a time at least, and may not be here for play during the tournament, but will be back for graduation at least.
