A large crowd enjoyed the Easter program presented by Mrs. Darrell Hoskins, chairman of the music committee of the Island City Community church, on Easter morning. The orchestra played several selections appropriate for Easter, and the choir sang, accompanied by Mrs. Max Robertson at the piano.

The children of the primary department of the Sunday school took part, furnishing songs and recitations. An Easter program was a feature of the Thursday night meeting in the morning.

In keeping with the occasion the church was worthily decorated with Easter lilies and other spring flowers.

Italian Police Arrest Man On Bombing Charge

GENOA, Italy, Apr. 14 (AP)—Romano Tranquilli was arrested here after a chase through the woods and police today thought they were on the trail of the perpetrators of Thursday's bomb outrage at Milan. Tranquilli came from Brescia, near Milan, in the province of Mantua.

He was found to have a false identification card under the name of Renato Zonzi. He said he was given him by persons whose names were unknown to him and who employed him on various commissions in Genoa and Milan. Upon inquiry the police said these were communists.

Tranquilli also had a map of Milan showing the fair grounds where the bombing occurred with several spots marked.

BREMEN FLIGHT THRILLS GOTHAM

Metropolis Is Planning a Welcome for German-Irish Fliers

NEW YORK, Apr. 14 (AP)—Almost as this half has been since Charles A. Lindbergh flew to Paris nearly a year ago New York's millions today were planning such a welcome as will be needed when the crew of the Bremen finally reach this city.

Since Tuesday morning, when the news came that Captain Hermann Koehl, Colonel James Fitzmaurice and Baron Von Gronefeld had hopped off from Dublin for New York enthusiasm had been steadily mounting. When word came that the three flies had landed safely at Greenly Island the whole city joined in the tumult of thanksgiving.

"I knew they'd make it," was the cry, reflecting the spirit of optimism that had prevailed throughout the long anxious hours.

A Distinct Triumph.

Max Pruniers, in aviation half-off the feat as a distinct triumph. "A splendid venture, and considering the tremendous odds, the great achievement in the annals of flying," Commander Richard E. Byrd said.

"My hat is off to them," said Fiorello Bennett, Commander Byrd's pilot on his flight to the north pole. "Who sure they did not make New York, but in reaching the coast of Labrador they did what so man had done before them."

Byrd, daftness, who was with Byrd on his flight to France from New York last summer, called it a "great job." "They had everything against them," he said. "It is one thing to fly from west to east with good summer weather, but another thing entirely to have a big fresh wind all the way."

"I think the flight of the Bremen is the most remarkable ever made," Charles A. Levine said.

Never Lost Faith.

Miss Dorothy Dunaiss, official representative in this country for the company which built the Bremen, never lost her faith that the big plane would win through.

"I knew they will make it," she repeated over and over to newspapermen as she waited all day at Mitchell field with a sister aviator of the Bremen crew to take the girl to welcome the flies and guide them safely to their destination. Late in the afternoon when others had begun to express their doubts as to the safety of the plane and its occupants Miss Dunaiss curled up in the cabin of her plane and took a nap.

A tall, slim, amiable woman of 28, she has worked beside her father in his aircraft for years. She had been up since 6 o'clock in the morning and when the news of the fliers safety was received she shrieked aloud.

Josef Koehl, an uncle of the German aviator, and Baron Zimmer, a cousin, both waited at the field until the news came from Greenly Island. Professor Koehl expressed the hope that the flight would tend to cement the cordial relations of Germany and America.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH, MUNICH, Apr. 14 (AP)—In memory of the victims of the sinking of the steamship Titanic the crew of the cruiser Hessen today held special service near the location of the Titanic disaster of 16 years ago.

Different men have been calling up this morning, complimenting me on, or rather for, running for Union County Representative on the Democratic ticket. My father was a representative, my mother never voted in her life, and I was a male citizen in the south. Marvel that you offer to make me work with the Democrats, because they are both quite stubborn and if anything goes wrong they both are as good hand at kicking. If I go from Union County as a representative I hope to do credit that Union County will have the best representative that money can buy. Vote for Claude C. Pratt, Republican, Union County, Oregon. Vote for the man who will have the best representative that Union County ever had. Vote for the man who will be President of the United States. Who can ever tell? Meanwhile, I could talk quite often for you to hear and when I was in Jail I was in jail quite a long time and nothing but the cruel hand of fate could keep me from my fellow citizens. I could write volumes of suggestions about Monmouth, Dallas and I believe I could well come up there. Come over sometime for lunch. Have your radiator and motor cleaned and polished and your car painted.

Tangent Woman Dies of Injuries

ALBANY, Ore., Apr. 14 (AP)—Mrs. M. L. Plunter, of Tangent, died from burns suffered when her home was destroyed by fire last night. Her husband escaped from the burning cabin but was suffering from shock and tried today and was unable to say what caused the fire.

Mrs. Plunter crawled from the home and was picked up by a neighbor. Because of the odor of oil on her clothing it was thought that a lamp or oil stove might have exploded.

Coroner E. C. Fisher said today he believed the fire due to accident, and that no further investigation would be made.
