PROGRAM IS COMPLETE FOR GRADUATES

1928 Graduating Class Will Soon Enter Commencement Week

REV. J. G. WALZ TO GIVE THE ADDRESS

Picnic Planned for Tuesday; Tentative List of Graduates Given—Seven on Honor Roll.

With just one week remaining until the 1928 graduating class enters into the active week of commencement, with the baccalaureate services, definite plans for the event have been completed. The Rev. J. George Walz will deliver the baccalaureate address, it was announced today. Mr. Walz is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city. Services will be held Sunday evening, May 13, at the L. D. S. tabernacle. In accordance with the annual custom, the junior class will have charge of the decorations and program. The girls' and boys' glee clubs, led by W. W. Nusbaum, are to present a cantata, "The Lore of the Saga of Eric the Red," as the music for the evening. Seniors will again wear the caps and gowns for both commencement and baccalaureate.

Two days later, an event less dignified but equally momentous to the class—the senior picnic—will take place. This picnic will be an all-day event Tuesday and will probably be held at Radium Springs, though the place has not been definitely settled.

The next day, Wednesday, is the date of commencement itself. Announcements have been sent out for several days, and as is the annual custom, many seniors have exchanged photographs.

Four-year honor students, students who maintained an average of 96 or more through their four years of high school, number seven this year, more than in any other previous year, giving the 1928 class an unusual distinction. Those who won the permanent honor follows: Phyllis Ansell, Dorothy Brownton, Alyce Cook, Edwardine Malone, Ben Oesterling, Kenneth Owen and Louise Welzel. These students were automatically entitled to the Hi-Dad honor pin.

MOOSE LODGE HEARS ADDRESS BY C. R. OLSEN

The regular meeting of the La Grande Moose lodge No. 850 next Friday night will be a banner one in double measure, for it will not only mark their first meeting night in the new Moose club rooms, but will be the occasion for initiating one of the largest classes ever taken in here at one time, members say.

Last night the lodge held an interesting meeting, at which quite a large class was initiated. Adding greatly the interest of the session was the presence of C. R. Olsen, of Coeur d'Alene, Ida., who is state supervisor of the organization department of the L. O. O. M. Mr. Olsen talked to the members on their order.

A report on progress of work at the building which was recently purchased by the lodge and is now being remodeled, was heard. The remodelling work is nearing completion. The property is located directly across from the Morelock garage, on Washington avenue. Lodge members are enthusiastic over the prospects of having their own meeting place.

Not only will the large initiation be held next Friday, but there will be a surprise program, followed by a banquet, it was announced today.

Preliminaries Of Track Meet Are Completed

No Records Broken This Morning. Tigers Have a Good Chance to Win

Except a brisk wind, which slowed up the track time to some extent, weather conditions were excellent for the annual Eastern Oregon track and field meet which opened at Union this morning. During the morning the preliminaries were completed, the La Grande high school team qualifying in every event. No records were broken.

Judging from the morning preliminaries La Grande has a good chance to win. Keffer, of La Grande, won his heat both in the 100 and the 220 yard dashes, and Baker of La Grande won his heat in the 220 low hurdles. In the discus and javelin La Grande qualified three men.

Six men qualified in the pole vault: Anson and Stoddard, of La Grande; DeLap, of Union; Plass, of Wallowa, Robbins and Crimmins, of Milton-Freewater. MRS. ROSS SPEAKS IN CITY TONIGHT

First Woman Governor Here in the Interest of Al Smith Campaign

Frills and furbelows still interest the woman whose name will be penned in history as the first of her sex to be inaugurated a governor of the United States.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, who as ex-governor of Wyoming holds that honor, confessed her fondness for "frills and furbelows" this afternoon while she rested in her room at the Sacajawea Inn preparatory to her talk this evening at the hotel advocating Al Smith for the presidential chair. But a fascinating pair of Deauville slippers, sitting near a decidedly feminine travelling bag and a pink negligee which Mrs. Ross wore as she rested, would have betrayed her fondness for feminine things had she not admitted it.

Indeed, it is easier to bask in the beauty of the ex-governor than to attempt to "talk shop."

Mrs. Ross has a charming smile and striking blue eyes that were complimented by the pearls and rose negligee which she wore.

She has a seemingly boundless vigor for her work. Though she was somewhat tired this afternoon she insists that she likes travelling and is enjoying her trip. Incidentally she delighted in the ride over Immigrant hill this morning, part-

Train Schedules In Effect Tonight

At midnight tonight the new Union Pacific train schedule goes into effect, inaugurating the 68-hour train service between Chicago and Portland. Tomorrow, adjustments in the time schedules will probably make some irregularities in train arrivals, but by Monday, officials here anticipate that trains under new schedule will have made up the time and will be running according to the new times. The local changes have been announced. Train No. 17 will probably be here Monday morning at 6:50 o'clock.

The following La Grande singers will have the principals in the presentation: Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp Jr., contralto, Raymond O. Williams, baritone; Mrs. Floyd Sherwood, soprano, Mrs. Ray Fuller, soprano, and Elwood Gwilliams, tenor.

Mrs. H. E. Miller is assisting Mrs. Richardson, having charge of the dramatics.

300 JAPANESE ARE KILLED REPORT SAYS

British, American Consul-Generals and Nationals Said to Be Safe

FACTS WITHHELD GENERAL BELIEF

Information Scant from Battlegrounds; Situation Continues to Be Extremely Serious.

SHANGHAI, May 5 (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, commander in chief of the nationalist has sent a wireless message from Tsinan that the British and American consul-generals and their nationals are safe.

TOKYO, May 5 (AP)—A message received from Tientsin today said that it was officially reported from Tsinan that more than 300 Japanese residents were killed when nationalist forces looted the city. There was no mention of foreign casualties and the exact figures of Japanese casualties were still unknown.

LONDON, May 5 (AP)—Reuters Tokyo advices say the Japanese war office is reticent regarding the fighting at Tsinan and is generally believed to be withholding the facts. This is because of fear that publication of exceptionally heavy Japanese civilian losses will have a detrimental effect politically throughout the country.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—American Minister MacMurray at Peking telegraphed to the state department today that he was trying to learn through the Japanese legation at Peking as to the welfare of Consul Price and Vice Consul Stanton, and other American residents numbering about 30 reported in Tsinan.

Mr. MacMurray said the Japanese declared they had offered protection to other foreigners as well as their own nationals at Tsinan prior to the outbreak of the fighting.

The only means of communication between Peking and Tsinan, Mr. MacMurray reported, was by the Japanese military wireless at Tientsin. Messages received were fragmentary and did not give a complete account of what had occurred.

The Japanese casualties were reported as five officers and men killed and 20 wounded, the dispatch said. The Chinese forces at Tsinan reported to be nationalist troops of General Hoyao Tsu total about 40,000 men.

It was reported that several Japanese civilians have been killed and that both Japanese and other foreign property has been looted, although there is no confirmation to the effect of the foreigners other

Conscience Causes Man To Surrender

With the admission, "My conscience has been hurting me," Alvie Baxter, 22-year-old unmarried Missourian, surrendered himself to Sheriff Jesse Breshears yesterday and confessed that he had robbed the J. D. Rankin tar shop at Tarkio, Mo., last October of $40. The sheriff is holding Baxter and wired the sheriff of the Tarkio community this morning. Baxter told Sheriff Breshears that he did not believe anyone knew that he was the one who had robbed the Tarkio store and had not feared detection but simply wished to confess the robbery.

The sheriff is awaiting word from the Missouri officials.

Confession Of Murder Received Today in Letter

LOS ANGELES, May 5 (AP)—A convict's tale of having killed William Desmond Taylor, film director, some six years ago, looked upon at first as the solution to Southern California's outstanding murder mystery began to disintegrate afterwards when it became known that it was similar to a confession made several years ago by the same man.

J. D. Barrett serving a long term in Folsom prison, Cal., is the reputed author of the confession. A letter bearing that signature was received by a judge whose name was not divulged. It stated that a copy had been sent to District Attorney Asa Keyes.

The latter official immediately branded Barrett's statement that he was paid to kill the picture director as probably unauthentic.

Two Men Now Under Arrest In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 5 (AP)—After a long series of bombings, some political, some due to labor troubles and some the result of private grudges, police have arrested two men. Despite long investigation, spurred in two cases by rewards totaling $75,000, these are the first arrests made, with the exception of persons picked up for questioning.

The men held are Joseph Czaja, a plastering contractor, and Stanley Kenlzaer. They were taken into custody following the bombing of a bungalow under construction by John Weckzzyky.

"You'll never finish this house" Weckzzyky said he was told by men who had come to find out why Czaja had not been given the plastering contract. "It will be blown up before daylight comes again."

The interior of the bungalow was demolished by the bomb.

HOPE OF SAVING DAM INCREASED

Flood Pipe Opened, Taking Pressure Off the Break Under Dam

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 5, (AP)—Hope of saving the Table Rock Cove dam, 31 miles north of here, grew today when engineers succeeded in opening the flood pipe, thus taking the pressure off the breaks which developed under the dam late yesterday.

The dam 740 feet long, 145 feet wide and 750 feet thick at the base, with a 50 foot crown, held back 5,000,000,000 gallons of water intended for use in the waterworks system of Greenville. Today the water behind the structure had dropped nine and one-half feet and while the gap widened no perceptible rise was noted in the Saluda river below.

While about 30,000 persons are said to reside in the immediate path the water would take should the dam break no great alarm is felt, since ample warning had been given. The valley is very narrow and in most cases safety could be found in a few hundred feet of the farm dwellings or hamlets.

No Towns in Danger

No towns are in danger. Most of these in the area are built on bluffs along the river. Stretches of lowland would be inundated.

Fear was expressed that other power dams on the Saluda be-

WOMAN TELLS HOW HUSBAND KILLED MAN

WALLACE, Ida., May 5 (AP)—Mrs. Angelina Constanzo 22, today told a grewsome tale—of how her husband, Joe Constanzo, 42, killed her admirer with an axe and threw the body into a flume, then forced her to swear upon the crucifix that she would not tell.

Prosecutor C. E. Horning, in disclosing the woman's statement, said that a murder charge would be filed against her husband for the slaying of Vido Constanzo, 24, on April 16. The Constanzo's are not related. Vido's body was found in a flume yesterday.

Mrs. Constanzo said that jealousy was the motive. Her husband, enraged at the alleged affair between Angelina Constanzo and Vido, grasped an axe in rage when his knock was heard at the door of their home at Kellogg, April 16, the woman averred. Then he took her by the hand. She jerked away, she said, clasped her youngest child and ran to a barn, where she remained all night.

When morning came, she said, she returned home, to find her husband washing the axe in a bucket of water and cleaning the walls of their home. Forcing her to her knees, the man brandished the axe and made her swear upon the crucifix she would not reveal what had happened, she said.

The bloody door of their home and the axe were held as evidence by officers when the two were arrested shortly after the discovery of the body.

Committee Is In Session Today In Rand Hearing

Tell Newspapermen That Decision When Prepared Will Be Given Out Typewritten.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 5 (AP)—After retiring this morning to reach a decision on charges concerning Chief Justice John L. Rand, a special committee of lawyers decided to get more information and much of the day was spent in developing facts concerning the litigation over the estate of E. Henry Wemme.

It was in connection with this case that charges had been made against Judge Rand.

Animated discussion was heard in the committee room after the investigators went into executive session this morning and one of the members left the room. He returned later and took part in the hearing today.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 5 (AP)—The unofficial committee of lawyers investigating charges against Chief Justice John L. Rand, of the supreme court, went into executive session this morning to formulate findings. The first development of the day was a report that one of the committee men had bolted from the deliberations.

Neither Senator George W. Joseph, who made the charges, nor Justice Rand was present when the committeemen assembled in a room at the court house at 9 o'clock this morning to continue the hearing. Chairman Lawrence

Youth, 17, Kills Father, Mother And Five Others

EL DORADO, Kans., May 5 (AP)—Owen Oberst, 17-year-old farmer youth, has confessed he shot and killed his parents and his five brothers and sister at their farm home near Burns the night of April 29, then set fire to the farmhouse near Burns to destroy evidence of the deed.

In the boy's confession obtained by county officers here today, Oberst said he had planned the deed only two hours before he carried out his plans.

He "just got mad" at his father because his father would not allow him to use the family automobile, Oberst said. He insisted his mother had "nothing to do with it," and that he had planned and carried out the killings unaided.

Oberst, held in the county jail without bond, will be charged today with first degree murder, Sheriff E. E. McKnight said.

Throughout repeated grilling since the fire, the youth had maintained that he was in Florence attending a picture show at the time of the tragedy. Yesterday, officers said, he broke down and told of the killings. Previously he had been cleared of blame.

DeMolay Select Queen; Bend Is After 1929 Meet

KANSAS CITY, May 5 (AP)—Elevation of John H. Glazier, New York broker to the post of grand master councillor of the order of DeMolay was announced here today by Frank S. Land, grand scribe of the Masonic order for youths.

Mr. Glazier succeeds the late Alexander G. Cochran of St. Louis, who died May 2.

SALEM, Ore., May 5 (AP)—Miss Anna Mae Wells of Medford, was elected by the DeMolay conclave yesterday as its ruling queen for the annual session now being held here. The election was by vote of delegates from each chapter meeting in the Masonic temple, while hundreds of DeMolay members waited in the street to hear the result.

Miss Wells will be presented with a loving cup by Chemeketa chapter of Salem and will preside over the formal dance tonight.

The address of welcome was made by the Rev. Martin F. Ferrey, of the Unitarian church, and was responded to by Harold Tomlinson, of Salem, senior councillor.

At the Willamette university gymnasium last night the initiatory degree was conferred by the Corvallis chapter and the DeMolay by Pilgrim chapter of Bend on 12 members.

The place and date for the 1929 conclave will be voted on this afternoon. Bend is the only bidder so far.

DEMOCRATIC POLITICS AT FRONT TODAY

Hoover-Watson Battle for Indiana's Delegates to Convention Fades

SMITH SUPPORTERS SEEM OPTIMISTIC

Walsh's Withdrawal Necessitates Changes in Plans for the Oregon Primary May 18.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—The impending Hoover-Watson battle for Indiana's delegates to the republican convention was of secondary interest to Washington's political observers today as a result of important developments forging to the front in democratic ranks.

Withdrawal of Senator Walsh, of Montana, from the race for the democratic presidential nomination, the decision of Senator Reed, of Missouri, to continue in the fight, and the significance of a half hour political conversation between Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, and Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the chairman of the democratic national committee—all were subjects of lively discussion among those looking forward to the big conventions heat month.

Meanwhile, the new senatorial campaign expenditures investigating committee moved forward with its preparations for starting Monday the examination for the first group of 14 presidential candidates as to their pre-convention money outlays. The committee also was expected today to make public the acceptances to appear it already has received from nine of the candidates.

Smith Supporters See Way

Smith supporters now see a clearing of the way for the New York governor to obtain Montana's eight delegates.

Walsh's withdrawal also will necessitate a change in plans for the Oregon primary May 18. Like in California, Smith, Reed and Walsh each have delegates slates in the field in Oregon, and while Walsh's state may be left on the ballots to comply with legal requirements, his notice to stop his campaign henceforward, centers the fight between Reed and Smith.

While no announcement was forthcoming following Senator Borah's conference with Mrs. Shaver, speculation continued today as to its portent. Mrs. Shaver has made it plain in several recent speeches that she favors a dry democratic candidate for president. Senator Borah is conducting a cam-

Central Grade School Wins Annual Contest Wtih Nearly 600-Point Lead Over Greenwood, in Second

A nicely coached Central grade school track team walked away with first place in the annual track and mass games yesterday afternoon at the high school athletic field, wresting the championship from Riveria in a more or less surprise showing.

The Central school had a well balanced team, winning a large lead in the races and field events, and maintaining the supremacy in the mass contest.

Outstanding in the races was Gilbert Loven's 75 and 100 yard wins, the time marked up by the Greenwood 440-yard relay (58.1), the Central 440-yard relay in class 3 (58 flat), and E. Workman's 16.5 time in the 150-yard dash.

Start Jumping

The meet followed a parade, and began shortly before 2 o'clock, the final game being concluded at 5:25 o'clock.

Complete scores follow: Central 599½, Greenwood 1429, Riveria 1109½ and Willow 242. Willow's showing was very good considering the fact that there is no seventh or eighth grade in Willow school. Final scores were announced by the officials in front of the high school building after the games.
