The outstanding national change in hay acreage from 1926 to 1927 occurred in the southern states where the acreage increased 41 percent. Hay acreage in the south Atlantic states increased from 2,500,000 acres in 1926 to 3,600,000 acres in 1927 and in the south central states from 4,500,000 to 7,200,000 acres. In the mountain and Pacific coast states the acreage increased from 4,800,000 acres in 1926 to 11,500,000 acres in 1927. There was little change in other parts of the country. Keeps His Job

Roger Peckinpaugh, shown here, doesn't have to worry about his job as manager of the Cleveland Indians any more. He's been signed as boss for another season and already has started fading out what some of the younger players on the club can do. He wants the Indians in the race next year.
