Legionnaires Plan For Special Train

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 5. (AP)—A Legionnaire train made up of delegates from Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Utah, has been planned to carry northwest delegates to the National convention of the American legion at San Antonio, Texas, October 8 to 15, Lester F. Albert, Idaho department adjutant, announced yesterday.

Idaho is planning to send 25 representatives, ten of whom will be officially accredited delegates, while Oregon is sending 100 men, including two drum corps. Delegates from the other states to the number of about 250 will join the train, Albert said.

Fire Horses Scarce

NEW BERN, N. C.—The firemen's parade here was spoiled to some extent because the committee on arrangements, after combing this section, was unable to produce more than two pairs of horses to draw the ancient equipment formerly used by the fire fighters.

"Medicine won't help you any," the doctor told the patient. "What you need is a complete rest and a change of living. Get away to some quiet country place for a month. Go to bed early, eat more roast beef, drink plenty of good rich milk, and smoke just one good cigar a day."

A month later the patient walked into the doctor's office. He looked like a new man and the doctor told him so.

"Yes, Doctor, your advice certainly did the business. I went to bed early and did all the other things you told me. But say Doctor, that one cigar a day almost killed me at first. It's no joke starting to smoke at my age."

Friend: "You give your help two-weeks vacation, don't you?"

Dealer: "No, I give them a month."

Friend: "A month!"

Dealer: "Yes, the two weeks when I go on mine and the two when they go on theirs."

Customer: "Are those doughnuts fresh?"

Clerk: "I don't know, madam. I've only been here a week."

Sweet young thing: "Oh, it's perfectly all right. It's not gambling really."

"What?"

"No you see we get our clothes back."

College Capers And Novarro Film at Arcade

"College Capers", Fanchon and Marco's collegiate idea comes to the Arcade today, with Jack Kates, Broadway comedian, prominently featured.

Nicknames seldom carry any weight in accurately describing a person but in the case of Kates, "rubber legs" fits him to perfection.

Kates prances about the stage humming and skipping here and there and twisting himself up and down in a comical manner.

The "College Capers" idea savors of campus life with its peppy song and dances and the smart collegiate costuming at the San Francisco Beauties who for this show have all become coeds.

Others presented in the stage revue are Nita Martan, "blues" singer, Hobby Gillette, banjo soloist, Reggie Montgomery, pianist and Frank Sterling, the "singing caddie."

In connection with the F. & M. idea, the Arcade will also show the moving picture "A Certain Young Man," featuring Ramon Novarro. This is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film and others in the cast are Marceline Day, Renee Adoree, Carmel Myers, Bert Roach and Hunter Gordon.

"Circus Rookies" At Arcade Thursday

The pomp of heraldry has passed before the simpler fashions of modern days, except in the circus. Women's modes under the "big top" back back to the good old days when knighthood was in flower, according to Lonie Lorraine, one of Ringmodom's prominent actresses, who makes her second appearance with the famous Dane-Arthur comedy team. In fact, they are connecting links between the past and the present.

"The pleated hats and other details of the circus costume," she says, "really are modeled after the costumes of pages back in the days when knights wore armor, while the costume of women equestrienne is that of a Victorian era.

"The only thing in which the circus has set a popular fashion for women is in the new semi-military cuts of feminine garb which have a striking likeness to some of the newer circus costumes worn by women animal tamers."

Miss Lorraine plays the heroine in "Circus Rookies," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new co-starring vehicle for Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, a comical romance laid in a circus. She enacts a trapeze artist in the play, with Dane as an animal trainer and Arthur as a circus press agent. Both, of course, are in love with her. The pair is to the quickest wilted. Edward Sedgwick directed the new picture, which comes Thursday to the Arcade theater.

A complete circus was built for the production and many professional circus performers take part in these scenes. A wild chase with a bare gorilla, a vivid adventure on a careening circus train and other thrills embellish the romance. More than 20,000 extras take part in it.

"Kit Carson," Western Epic, At the Star

Spectacular backgrounds, mass movements of whites and Indians, struggles between trappers and the red men, with Fred Thompson and his white horse, Silver King, at their best, combine to make "Kit Carson" one of the outstanding pictures of the season. Carson's life was a series of thrills and Mr. Thompson has skillfully chosen many of them in building up a remarkably dramatic story for his Paramount special which opens Thursday at the Star theater.

Two pleasing love stories are threaded into the drama—one with a pretty Indian girl, and the other with a Spanish woman. This latter role is played by Nora Lane, who first leaped into prominence in "Jesse James," and later added to her laurels in "The Pioneer Scout." The Indian girl is newcomer, in Dorothy Janis.

And William Courtright, who portrays his now famous lovable character, takes care of the smiling moments of the film. And Raymond Turner as "Smoky" furnishes plenty of comedy relief. Rosco Ates as the French-Canadian trapper and rival of Kit Carson does an admirable piece of work.

The film version of the best romantic episode in the life of this country's famous Indian scout and military leader is authentically done, the intensive research work undergone by Mr. Thompson in getting it to the screen being manifested reflectedly. It compares favorably with any of the big Western specials produced by any film company in recent years. It's a Paramount picture.
