SEVEN SHOT TO DEATH BY CHICAGO GANG

is going to get his orders. We are going to start one of the greatest fights against crime this or any other city ever has seen. The raids in which 3,000 were taken and put in jail won't be in it compared with what we will do now."

All victims were well dressed. In the pockets of one police found $800 and most of them wore expensive watches and jewelry.

Five in Murder Party

Five men apparently constituted the slayers. The five were seen to leave the garage after the shooting, lugging along their weapons, without any attempt at concealing them. One man said he saw the men emerge from the building, that they were carrying their weapons in their hands and proceeding without any hurry. He believed them to be police officers. He said the five climbed into a car at the curb that he thought was a police car, stowed their guns in the rear and drove away.

Every body, including that of the wounded man, bore from six to ten bullet wounds. From the appearance of the Cartage company's offices, the gun raiders apparently swooped down with the intention of killing everybody in the place.

Something New

Today's slayings, in the form of a massacre, was something new in Chicago gang warfare. Heretofore the gangsters took their victims for a "ride" luring them into automobiles and killing them, or else swept past in automobiles and raked their victims with gunfire.

Never, before, however, has one gang invaded the stronghold of another, rounded up the victims and calmly shot them to death. The slayers escaped today in approved gangster fashion, dashing away in waiting motor cars.

The revised list of dead follows:
Peter Guzenberg, gang leader.
Frank Guzenberg, his brother.
Al Weinshank, soft drink parlor owner.
John May, a mechanic.
James Clark, brother-in-law of Moran.

Two other men, variously identified as Arthur Hayes, Arthur Davis, and Frank Foster, Moran henchmen.

Police received reports that Moran had been wounded. One man said he saw a man stagger from the building with blood streaming from his face. The police were uncertain whether this may have been Moran, one of his henchmen or one of the assassins who was struck by a ricocheting bullett.

Two women reported to have been in the building at the time were arrested and taken to a police station for questioning.

Some one telephoned to the garage, police learned, to ask whether Weinshank was there a few minutes before the killers entered, hanging up as soon as an affirmative reply was given. The police viewed this as a ruse by the assassins to make sure that their victims were present before they entered.
