Stocks Go Lower In Street Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—The line of least resistance in today's stock market was again downward. Sporadic outbursts of buying took place in a selected assortment of tobacco, public utility and railway shares, but these were checked when professional selling pressure was renewed against United States Steel common and several of the other so-called pivotal industrials. Trading was relatively light in volume.

NEW SESSION OF CONGRESS

Vice President Curtis pounding for order in the senate and Speaker Longworth wielding the gavel in the house. Despite the weather the usual opening day crowd was in the galleries of both chambers. In the senate gallery, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, sister and official hostess of the vice president, and several friends were among the visitors as was Mrs. Jean Large, sister of Mrs. Hoover. She also was accompanied by friends.

Nearly a full membership of both houses also were in their seats before the opening prayers by the chaplains.

The senate session lasted only nine minutes.

Before and after the meeting the members, still none too rested from the months of tariff debate, conversed in groups on the floor. There were many handshakings as many members, away recently, again returned to their seats.

Robinson, of Arkansas, proposed a resolution expressing the senate's sorrow at the recent death of Senator Warren, of Wyoming. He moved an adjournment as a mark of respect to Warren and the first meeting of the regular session was ended for this senate.

In the house chamber, as at the other end of the capitol, immediately preceding the meeting the house members went about shaking hands. This was resumed after Rev. J. Shera Montgomery, the chaplain, had offered prayer.

Oregon Scores High In Chicago Livestock Show

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (AP)—Judging of prize steers, barrows and wethers held attention at the International Livestock exposition today as spectators pondered the sweeping victory of veteran showmen in yesterday's grain and fat cattle awards.

C. H. Miller of Bend, Ore., won first prize in alsike clover seed exhibits, and Fred Duquett of Bend was sixth in the livestock show.

Barbar Dunn and Mary Ruth Coon of an Oregon 4-H club led the way to 12 states in the children's garment contest of the annual 4-H congress here today.

Tinkham To Appear Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Chairman Caraway said today an opportunity would be given Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusettes, to appear before the senate lobby committee to testify in regard to his request that the committee investigate the board of temperance of the Methodist Episcopal church and the federal council of churches.

Interior Report Given Hoover By Secretary Wilbur

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Stepping from the halls of Stanford university into the cabinet, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, famed diagnostician and educator, has informed his old friend President Hoover that a "changing emphasis" is the need of the big and busy interior department.

Some of the great bureaus of the department, he said in his annual report, have overtaken the peak of their administrative load while others have large tasks ahead for completion. Emphasis, therefore, he reasoned, should be transferred from those whose duties are on the decrease to those showing "constantly increasing fields of activity."

The pension bureau and the general land office were cited as two bureaus the duties of which are on the decrease. The geological survey, the bureau of reclamation, the national park service and the office of education, were listed by the former university president as the branches of his department called upon to carry out a huge expansion program planned in the re-organization of the department.

The Indian service, troublesome for over a hundred years, and presented in the following paragraph:

"One activity, that of the Indian service, has before it a definite, unique goal—that of working itself out of a job. Its progress calls for a large economic saving to the country by increasing present expenditures to enable the Indian population eventually to become self-supporting."

Administration of the public domain Dr. Wilbur reported to be of prime importance with great emphasis needed on the necessity of conservation.

"From Nebraska west, water, and water alone, is the key to our future," he said. "Monstrous thinking must be replaced with watershed thinking."

The Town Doctor (The Doctor of Towns) Says

Park As You Would Be Parked By

If there is any time of the year when automobile parking is vital to community business, it is now. The season of Christmas business La Grande does this year will depend in no little degree on the number of automobiles that can be parked, and the "turnover" of each parking space. For that reason every possible parking space should be made to pay a maximum profit, which means that no car should occupy a space for longer period of time than necessary to transact business.

The habit and practice of local business and professional people of converting "live" parking space into dead storage by parking their personal cars for long periods of time, thereby monopolizing in one day space that could be used by live "pay" or customer cars, is not only a community business liability, costing you money, but a means of actually driving money away from their own stores.

Here are a few suggestions for those who want more business:

Keep trucks and all slow-going vehicles out of business district as much as possible.

Make special effort to solicit the co-operation of regular and special policemen, earnestly asking that they do everything possible to be friendly and courteous with everyone with whom they come in contact, and at the same time enforce parking regulations affably. The policemen are the floorwalkers of your community, and can make or break a community business.

This is not a matter of importance to the business men alone. It affects every property owner, every worker and every citizen in La Grande. The more general business done, the more you benefit—it pays you a profit if business is good; it costs you money if business is poor. Therefore, it's good business t park as you would be parked by.

Her: "Do you see that man over there? He is the black sheep of his family."

She: "What's wrong with him?"

Her: "Well, it's this way: his father is the man who names Philippian cars and his mother is a famous movie subtitle writer."

She: "Is that so?"

He: "Yes, but the boy has disgraced the family. He carved a new 5-cent candy bar."
