FLOYD STIMSON (above), between puffs of his Camel, describes a typical parachute jump. "I ease out of the cockpit and stand on the wing hooking one foot behind a strut wire. Then I crouch down and dive over, headfirst. I usually make 2 or 3 turns. (In next to last picture Floyd has completed a turn and straightened up.) When I'm facing the sky, I pull the rip cord. It's a sweet feeling when she blooms open." Floyd's work is no job for a nervous man. His cigarette is Camel—has been for 10 years. He says: "They don't frazzle my nerves."

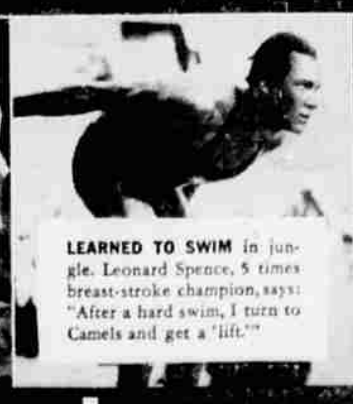
HE'S stepped out into empty air well over 1000 times—yet landed right side up every time. "My order is Camels," Floyd says. "They're so mild I can smoke all I want to. Camels never frazzle my nerves. It seems as though there's no bottom when I bail out—and my stomach knows it," Floyd Stimson continues (right), as he enjoys Camels at mealtime. "However, a Camel helps me ease off. Camels set me right!"

HOURS SPENT IN trying research work can be tense too. Miss Ruth Bruder says: "At times like that a Camel gives me a 'lift.'"



LEARNED TO SWIM in jungle. Leonard Spence, 5 times breast-stroke champion, says: "After a hard swim, I turn to Camels and get a 'lift.'"

JOANNA DE TUSCAN, Women's Foils Champion, says: "Being alert counts in fencing. One reason I prefer Camels is they never jangle my nerves."
