CHEWAWA, OREGON,

FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1902.

THE GUEST.

Luck tapped upon a cottage door,
A gentle quiet tap;
And Laziness, who lounged with him,
The mat upon his lap,
Scratched at his ripples to the fire
And gave a sleepy yawn:
"Oh brother! let him knock again!"
He said; but Luck was gone,
Luck tapped again, more faintly still,
Upon another door,
Water-Industry was hard at work
Mending his cottage floor.
That door was opened wide at once;
"Come in!" the worker cried,
And Luck was taken by the hand
And fairly pulled inside.
He still is there,—a wandering guest
From out whose magic hand
Fortune flows fast,—but Laziness
Can never slaves and
His Industry found such a friend;
"Luck never came my way!"
He sighs, and quite forgets the knock
Upon his door that day—(S. Lister).
