

CUTTING TABLE CLIPPINGS.

Nick Hatch is making himself a pair of peg-top trousers and he is almost through with them.

The Santa Claus party from the Tailor Shop visited Salem on Tuesday, December 20, 1910, and consisted, Luther Clements, Bunrey Wilson, Alex Cajete, W. n. Dell and Robt Dundas. All of the above-named boys are from Mitchell Hall, the boys from that building being the first to be allowed to visit the beautiful city of Salem to make their Christmas purchases.

It is currently reported that the entire party returned full of harmony, they having purchased all songs obtainable and now they are preparing to become singers, but not of the sewing machine variety. But real song birds without feathers. That speaks volumes for the perfect harmony of the Tailor Shop.

Robt Dundas is making a blue serge coat for himself of material he purchased from a merchant Tailor in Salem. He is doing very well with it and he hopes to wear it on Christmas day.

Alex Cajete will commence soon to cut and make a suit for our genial school teacher, Mr. Fickle. Alex will have a splendid opportunity of displaying his skill as a cutter and a tailor, as his subject can do full justice to any sartorial efforts. So keep your eye on Mr. Fickle; he will blossom forth in the spring time tra la la.

Chas and Ralph Martin, have become very useful boys in the tailor shop, they can clean and press clothing, sew on buttons, light fires, sweep, mop, and clean windows, and it is being able to do these things well that will insure their further progress in well doing.—TAILOR SHOP.

ENGINEERS 27—ALL-STAR 6.

The game was played last saturday afternoon, an oyster supper being the reward for the winners, the expense of which the All-Stars will stand. The Stars were completely out-classed from the word "go," the engineers sending their fullback through for large gains at any time, although the work of "Chim," for the All-Stars quite classed with that of the best of the opponents.

The game was not anything extra for team work, but this can be laid to the brief time in which the teams had to prepare. There was a great deal of "jaw fighting," as is customary in an interschool championship contest, but no out-breaks were recorded.

Officials: Referee, Smith; Umpire, Teabo; Head Linesman, Charles; Time-keepers, Fulkerson and Mann.

THE TUNE OF THE ENGINE.

Engineers, both locomotive and stationary, judge of the condition of their engines largely by their "tunes" when running. Every engine has a tone of its own, and an experienced engineer, with bandaged eyes, could unhesitatingly pick out an engine to which he was accustomed. As a locomotive roars along the rails, the engineer is always listening, though subconsciously, to its familiar tune, and if there comes the slightest discord, or if the tone changes, he knows instantly that something is wrong and makes an investigation at the earliest opportunity. He may have no ear for music, but the change in the tone of his great machine will be at once noted.—Harpers Weekly.
