Syndicated TV Series Rapped By Co-Star Of 'Rescue 8'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — When is a star not a star?

When he plays the lead role in a syndicated TV series.

Syndication means the show is not shown on a network, but sold individually to local stations throughout the country at different time slots, on various days and dissimilar sponsors.

In the acting fraternity stars of such programs are considered almost second-class citizens. The performers on syndicated shows begin to brood and complain about their lot.

Such is the case with Jim Davis who co-stars with Lang Jeffries in an adventure series about firemen, "Rescue 8."

Difference Exists

"There's a difference between syndicated and network stars, all right," he complained. "You sense the difference in the industry and among people in general."

Davis is a big- rough-hewn character with a mop of hair and a deep-timbered voice. Under no circumstances could he be considered handsome. He is something of a syndication two-time loser.

Before joining "Rescue 8," Jim starred in "Stories of the Century," another snydie.

"The bigshots sort of consider us a nondescript group," he continued. "And we're treated like poor relations."

Other Factors Cited

Other elements affecting syndicated programs are the budget, lack of publicity and the fact that they precede and follow local shows across the country which do not draw many viewers.

"We're a budget show," Davis said. "We don't have the money to throw around that the network programs do. But there's one big advantage. We never worry about the show being cancelled because of sponsor cancellation.

"If one sponsor drops us, the others still are around to draw up the slack until we find another new check grabber."

SANTA LOSES GLASSES

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Three-year-old Ruth Waters, on her way to see Santa Claus, took no chances that she might get so excited she'd forget what she wanted to say. She brought it in writing.

Ruth came up to the jolly gentleman and handed him a slip of paper with his name on it. St. Nick frowned slightly and beckoned to Ruth's mother.

"What does this say?" he whispered. "I left my glasses at home."

COUNCIL TAKES HOE

HARROW, England (UPI) — Bernard Leslie Davies, 23, was arrested Friday on a charge of stealing two pints of milk. The milk, although recovered, gave authorities a problem.

Touhy Accuses 'Barber Jake' Of Book Bootlegging Tactics

CHICAGO (UPI)—Roger Touhy, three days out of prison, said today John (Jake the Barber) Factor is making a "book bootlegger" out of him.

A lawyer for Factor said the publisher of Touhy's book would be sued for scandal, libel, slander and invasion of privacy.

Fear of this suit, Touhy said, has caused dealers to put the book under the counter.

Touhy charges in the book that Factor faked a $70,000 ransom kidnaping in 1933. The book is titled "The Stolen Years" and details Touhy's long fight to free himself from the sentence he got for kidnaping Factor.

Touhy served 25 years and 9 months in Stateville Penitentiary and was paroled Tuesday. He is in Chicago, where once he ruled as a prince of the prohibition-era underworld. Factor is in Los Angeles.

Throughout his imprisonment Touhy charged he was framed. His book quotes a 1954 ruling by the late John P. Barnes, U.S. district judge, that the Factor kidnaping was a sham.

Joseph E. Struett, former assistant U.S. attorney, told United Press International he would bring suit for Factor against the book's publisher, Pennington Press of Cleveland, Ohio, charging scandal, libel, slander, invasion of privacy and contempt of court through misuse of Barnes' decision.

The suit, Struett said, would be brought in federal court here in about 10 days. He said the amount of money to be asked has not been determined.

Factor's lawyer has sent letters to retailers, warning that the suit will be filed. Some book dealers, it was reported, had removed the book from their shelves and purchasers had to buy it clandestinely.

"Factor is making a bootlegger out of me, I guess," Touhy told the UPI; "A book bootlegger, that is. But this time I'm not violating the law."

Six Demo Presidential Hopefuls Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six Democratic presidential possibilities will be on display at a series of party huddles in New York Dec. 5-7.

The Democratic get-together also will produce a "state of the union message" recommending a program for the 1960 session of Congress.

The double feature will be offered at a meeting of the Democratic Advisory Council. The climax will come at a fund-raising dinner Dec. 7 honoring Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Among the dinner speakers will be a number of party leaders viewed as probable or possible candidates for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

These include Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.), Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Gov. Edmund G. Brown (Calif.), Gov. G. Mennen Williams (Mich.) and Robert B. Meyner (N.J.).

The only conspicuous absentees from the field of Democratic presidential prospects are Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.).
