OUR IMMIGRANTS

GREATEST NUMBER OF ARRIVALS IN OUR HISTORY.

Italy Sends Most People to Our Shores of Any of the Foreign Countries—Many of the Paupers Are Sickly and Turned Back.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—The number of immigrants to the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1903, is 857,046.

This information is gleaned from a preliminary report just made public by F. P. Sargent, commissioner general of the bureau of immigration, department of commerce and labor, and these figures place this last fiscal year as the record breaker in the matter of the arrival of foreigners to this country. The only other year in American history which approached this total was 1882 when there landed at American ports 788,992 people of foreign birth. Other high years were 1881, when the number was 669,431; 1883, when it was 603,322; 1888, 546,889, and 1891, 560,319. In 1898 the total arrivals was 229,299 only.

The arrivals of immigrants in the United States, by months, during the fiscal year just ended were as follows:

A Cotton-Rate War.

New York, July 28.—The most important matter to consider which the officials of the Gulf lines assembled in conference at the Manhattan Beach hotel today is the cotton-rate war which threatens to be precipitated by the attitude of the Rock Island road. While the Rock Island originates very little cotton traffic on its line in Texas, it may concentrate at Fort Worth and Dallas, and pay Texas lines a liberal proportion of any through rate it makes. Besides the 'Frisco and Houston and Texas Central can also feed the Rock Island. Hence, when the Rock Island announced recently that it would waive the two cents differential on insurance in hauling cotton from Texas to the New England seaboard, it meant a general war in rates for the handling of the coming cotton crop. It is in order to avert this threatened disaster, if possible, that the trade officials of the leading Gulf lines are in conference here.
