MARTINEZ

from the Mariners organization constantly publicizing his worthiness, to die-hard fans who believed in the beloved Martinez, to voters taking a new look at the importance of a player who was primarily a designated hitter.

"I think it was really big part of why I've been elected," Martinez said of the Mariners' efforts. "They have done an amazing job sharing information about my career for the last seven years or so. and the effort and the work they have done definitely is one of the big reasons why I am talking to you today."

He's the second player to be inducted in Cooperstown under the Mariners umbrella. He joined Ken Griffey Jr. who until this year had the highest vote total in history at 99.3 percent in 2016. Griffey was topped by Mariano Rivera, a unanimous selection Tuesday.

"I finally got some company. ... This is one of those days that the Mariner family will never forget," Griffey said on MLB Network.

Then Ah You-Dias took command.

The senior shot a perfect 6-for-6 in the third, including hitting a pair of 3-pointers to help the Mountaineers gain some separation. She hit a quick 3-pointer and a jumper, later hit a jumper in the paint and then grabbed one of her six steals and converted a layup for a 50-37 lead.

That basket triggered a 10-0 run — capped off by a triple from Ah You-Dias — for a 57-39 lead. The lead reached as much as 21 late in the third on another 3-pointer by Nelson.

"I give credit to C of I. They played hard," Weissenfluh said. "They played physical. But we have the players to be able to play through that. And tonight we didn't play through it very well. Maya stepped up and carried us. Jane was a beast on the boards and hit some big 3s. We did enough, and when you have Maya, it takes a little pressure off."

The third, in fact, hasn't been a favorable quarter for EOU this season, but both Weissenfluh and Ah You-Dias said that was when the team stepped up Tuesday.

"We came out of the locker room wanting to win the third quarter," Ah You-Dias said. "I took that to heart and was trying to be a little more aggressive, find the open teammates and knock shots down."

The Mountaineers did go nearly five minutes without scoring to open the fourth, which allowed C of I to get as close as 10 points late, but EOU held on.

Nelson finished with 15 points and 10 rebounds for EOU, which had four players in double figures. Maren Herrud and Beverly Slater provided a spark off the bench with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

EOU (18-2 overall, 12-0 CCC) hosts Walla Walla Friday.

had 15 points, but he was off his normal pace from the floor, shooting 7-for-16. He had shot 73 percent in his previous seven games. As a team, EOU was 42 percent from the floor.

"He's usually shooting 70-80 percent," Labarda said of Schetzle. "If he makes three or four of those, the complexion of the game is different. And Jordan had an off night."

Brock Johnson added 11 points and hit all four of his shots — including three 3-pointers — for a bright spot for EOU.

Pinckney and Bruneel both had 15 points to lead the Yotes, who beat EOU for the fifth straight time.

Eastern (12-11 overall, 7-5 CCC) visits Northwest Feb. 1 in Kirkland, Washington.
