LACK OF AIRPLANES ADDED CASUALTIES TO 91ST DIVISION

Veteran Who Served With "Wild West" Fighters Tells How Troops Into Line With No Protection in Air.

PORTLAND, Sept. 13.—The lack of aeroplanes is one of the reasons the Ninety-first ("wild west") division suffered such heavy casualties while fighting in France, according to Don H. Thompson, Portland newspaperman, who served in the famous division.

"Many a brave life was snuffed out by German shells and bombs that would have been saved with any kind of aviation facilities," said Thompson.

"I'll never forget the day we moved up on Parios, right behind the woods. There wasn't a sound. The wooded stretches and thickets, which were soon to becomea bristling hell of macine gun nests and sniper' lair, looked to us like some peaceful playground That night the uneven whirr-whirr, which we later learned to know as a German raider, disturbed our slumbers. No bombs were dropped. We didn't know why, but the next night we moved out and later we saw a squad of boche bombers tear the woods into splinters, right where our camp had been. Then we knew the reason why. And all that time not an American plane had taken wing to beat off the Hun flyers.

"Disgusted doughboys stood around in groups and discussed the problem, which, apparently, had no answer.

"From the time the Ninety-first went over the top until the time they had pushed the Germans off the ridge at Montfacoun and Gesnes, they were absolutely without airplane protection.

"The American doughboy succeeded in the Argonne woods rather in spite of the aviation section, rather than because of it."

NEW YORK SETS LOW MARK IN JAIL FOOD

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Snappy foods are barred, but it still doesn't seem possible that $2.90 will buy three square meals every day for a week in New York City. And yet that is the official report turned in to the city from the Ludlow street jail, where the Alimony club has its hangout, and where a few enemy aliens and political prisoners have been incarcerated.

As a matter of fact city officials have very little to do with this miracle, for a woman does the cooking. It is due to her that the price is kept down, according to Sheriff Knott.

That woman is Mrs. Rose Taylor, who, for 31 years, has presided over the kitchen back of the jail. Mrs. Taylor is 75 years old, but says she is just as spry ad healthy as a youngster. Only her wrinkled and hardened hands give evidence that she has cooked, with the help of one assistant, three meals for an average of thirty prisoners a day, not to speak of the keepers and prison employes.

The Ludlow street kitchen jail is a big, bare room, with a stone floor. A coal stove sixty years old is at one end a cupboard graces a side wall, and a long kitchen table occupies the centeh. It is spotlessly clean, for Mrs. Taylor's life centers around that kitchen. She has neither family nor friends. Her home is in the prison

If you ask Mrs. Taylor how on earth two hundred and ninety pennies can cover a grown man's three "squares" seven days in the week, she discreetly refers you to Warden Johnson and Sheriff Knott, who order the food and spend the money. Her part, she says consists only of "managing to get along."

"It isn't hard work to cook for a lot of people," she added, cutting the frankfurters (Monday is frankfurter day at the jail) "if you have plenty of stuff, and they're not stingy with me here. I don't have to scrimp. I wish I could have a gas stove, though.

"No, I haven't any modern conveniences around my kitchen. I have to make the coal stove every day and you certainly have to wash that stone floor to keep it clean, but I don't find the cooking or the cleaning hard, not a bit of it, though I'm seventy-five.

You notice Mrs. Taylor still hasn't explained about that $2.90 and she won't. This is how Sheriff Knott says it is done.

The daily morning menu consists of cereals, coffee, bread and butter. At night the inmates get tea, bread and butter and prunes or apple sauce. The noon meal is the big meal of the day, and it proceeds according to a generally unvaried schedule:

Monday — Frankfurters, sauerkraut and potatoes.

Tuesday—Hamburger steak, potatoes and beans.

Wednesday—Goulash with beans.

Thursday—Corned beef and beans

Friday—Pea soup, fish, macaroni.

Saturday—Beef and mutton stew.

Sunday—Roast beef and potatoes.

And we have it on authority of Warden Johnson that the portions are a lot bigge rthan those one gets in a restaurant.

Neither does the jail get its foodstuffs at low prices. The warden buys his provisions in the neighborhood and pays for it the same price that every housewife on Ludlow street must pay.

$10,000 SHOCK GIVEN BY SUIT MAN CLAIMS, SUES WOMAN FOR IT

HACKENSACK, N. J. Sept. 12.—A man is shocked $10,000 worth when served with papers in action involving alleged breach of promise, according to William R. Smith, a Tenafly, N. J., merchant, who has started an action against Miss May G. Phipps. He alleges "severe sickness of mind" as a result of two actions brought by Miss Phipps.

They Stand Up for 30,000 Miles in the Most Withering Tests

Road building is hard on truck tires.

Particularly does this apply to the tires—which must operate on the teeth of new laid crushed rock, and on which they must claw for traction.

Yet even in this heroic service two Goodrich 40x10 inch Truck Tires have each more than quadrupled the adjustment mileage on a truck of Willett & Camp, wholesale dealers in wood, concrete, gravel and crushed rock at Spokane.

The Odometer credits each with 30,000 miles.

Willett & Camp declares that this is by far the best tire service they have ever obtained—and they have tried all reliable makes.

You, too, will note a marked improvement in tire service once you use Goodrich De Luxe Tires—TRY THEM!
