RISE OF NEW BREWERY

DEPENDS ON OREGON ELECTION

BEDDING, Cal., May 31.—The result of the Oregon election in June will determine the rise of a brewery in Redding.

The Salem Brewing association has already invested $20,000 in Redding real estate with the avowed purpose of building a brewery. The plans are drawn, but building operations are kept in abeyance until after the election.

Prohibition is a leading issue in the Webfoot state. If Oregon goes "dry" in June the Salem Brewing association will concentrate its business in Redding and its proposed brewery will be built on a much larger scale than had been planned.

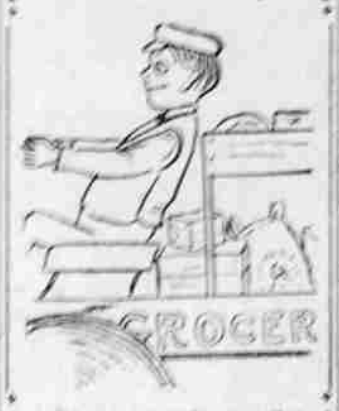
Wise Talks By the Office Boy



Pa says a rose by any other name would be just as expensive back east this time of year. I sometimes think he pines for the piney woods in old Penobscot, Freeps County, Maine, where he was raised—but that's one thing yours truly never yearns for. The good mountains and the good old ocean and also old Oregon atmosphere are good enough for me. But it's all in how you were raised. I'm fixed fine—chowder and corn on the cob, and harvest apples and a lot of things that a kid who was born this side of the snow sheds hasn't had much chance to get acquainted with. Those who have lived on both sides of this great country and lived long enough to know what's what can get all those things just as nice one place as another, if you know where to buy. We've got clam chowder from Boston that is just as nice as any you ever ate on the sand, and lots of other things that have that "Down East" taste.
