Former Emperor and Empress Are Living Quietly

Funchal, Island of Madeira, Nov. 30.—(By Associated Press.)—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and former Empress Zita are living quietly in their exile. Their only guard at the Villa Victoria, where they reside, is a plain clothes policeman, who accompanies them on their journeys about the island to prevent beggars from bothering them and to avert other annoyances.

Charles and Zita are treated as honored guests by the new governor, Major Acacio Correa Pinto, and the other Portuguese officials. They attend mass on Sundays and have engaged Canon Antonio Homen De Gouveia as their private chaplain. After mass recently a few women outside the church attempted to kiss Zita's hands, thus showing their affection for a member of the family of Don Miguel De Braganza, pretender to the Portuguese throne.

Slipping in the snow and falling in front of an automobile while on his way to school, Edwin, 7-year-old son of L. P. Peterson of Wallowa, was run over and killed Thursday.

What's New On The Market

By Rex Stewart

Wonder berries made their first appearance this season on the market this morning at three pounds for a quarter. They are fine for preserving, but not very palatable in their raw state. There is only a small quantity offered and the distribution is not general.

There is little buying in country butter, merchants steering clear of buying even in small quantities. The price to the farmer is 37 cents and to the consumer 43 cents.

The 48 cent price on eggs is becoming quite general. The retail price should not be more than 55 cents.

Those who are thinking of sending their Christmas packages of Oregon fruit back east should put in their orders now to be sure of prompt delivery at their destination. Nine pound boxes of prunes can be bought for $1.85, while a 25 pound box of the larger sizes is priced at $4.

BOLSHEVIK ACTIVE IN PORTUGAL

Recent Revolutions Laid To Reds Who Are Blamed for Letters to Consuls

London, Nov. 30.—(By Associated Press.) — Bolshevism is spreading through the large towns of Portugal, the Times declares this morning, and there have been many outrages, especially in the province of Alemtejo.

The recent bombing of the American consulate in Lisbon was an incident in this movement, it is said, and most of the foreign diplomats there have received letters threatening their lives.

As a result the powers are considering intervention in Portugal and the assumption of a mandate there to quell the ugly wave of bolshevism, according to the Times. France, Italy and Spain favor such a move.

When a number of foreign warships moored in the Tague river at Lisbon recently, the sailors on a Portuguese gunboat are said to have been restrained only with difficulty from attempting to torpedo the Spanish vessels.

Dispatches to the Times assert that the condition of the country is such that it has been very difficult to find men willing to accept posts in the cabinet.

Dispatches from Portugal to the Associated Press have reported two distinct revolutionary movements in the past six weeks. In the first, several members of the Portuguese cabinet, including Premier Granjo, were assassinated following their resignations. A few days later it was reported that royalists were plotting for the re-establishment of a monarchy. On November 24 dispatches from the Portuguese frontier of Spain reported another revolution brewing, Carvalho Mesquita heading the movement. The troops in Lisbon were said to have been confined to their barracks in preparation for eventualities. No advices have been received since that time as to conditions in Portugal.
