POPERY CANON LAW SHOWS THE FIERCE MENACE OF ROMANS

Here's Straight Goods from Unquestionable Official Catholic Church.

The canon law, the undisputed fundamental code of Romanism, is utterly incompatible with the Constitution and Laws of our Republic, as witness the following leading provisions, gleaned therefrom by Dr. G. F. Von Schulte, professor of Canonical Law at Prague, viz:

"I. All human power is from evil, and must therefore be standing under the pope.

"II. The temporal powers must act unconditionally, in accordance with the orders of the spiritual.

"III. The church is empowered to grant or to take away any temporal posesssion.

"IV. The pope has the power and the right to give countries which are non-Catholic to Catholic regents, who can reduce them to slavery.

"V. The pope can make slaves of these Christian subjects whose prince or ruling is interdicted by the pope.

"VI. The laws of the church, concerning the liberty of the church and the Papal power are based upon divine inspiration.

"VII. The church has the right to practice the unconditional censure of books.

"VIII The Pope has the right to annul state laws, treaties, constitutions, etc, to absolve from obedience thereto, as soon as they seem detrimental to the rights of the church, or those of the clergy.

"IX. The Pope possesses the right of admonishing, and if needs be, of punishing, the temporal rulers, emperors and kings, as well as of drawing before the spiritual forum any case in which a mortal sin occurs.

"X. Without the consent of the Pope no tax or rate of any kind can be levied upon a clergyman, or upon any Church, whatsoever.

"XI. The Pope has the right to absolve from oath and obedience to the persons and the laws of the princes whom he excommunicates.

"XII. The Pope can annul all legal relations of those in ban, especially their marriages.

"XIII. The Pope can release from every bolligation, oath, vow, either before or after being made.

"XIV. The execution of Papal commands for the persecution of heretics causes remission of sins.

"XV. He that kills one that is excommunicated, is no murderer in a legal sense."

These canons are amply corroborated by the following paragraphs from the Syllabus of Pius I, issued December 8, 1864, and subsequently by the degree of infallibility confirmed as truths eternal and equal in authority with the Decalogue, viz:

"The State has not the right to leave every man free to profess and embrace whatever religion he shall deem true.

"It has not the right to enact that the ecclesiastical powers shall require the permission of the civil power in order to the exercise of its authority.

"It has not the right to treat as an excess of power, or as usurping the rights of princes, anything that the Roman Pontifts of Ecumenical Councils have done.

"It has not the right to adopt the conclusions of a National Church Council, unless confirmed by the Pope.

"It has not the right of establishing a National Church separate from the Pope.

"It has not the right to the entire direction of public schools.

"It has not the right to assist subjects who wish to abandon the monasteries or convents."

Then in the same Syllabus the rights and powers of the church are affirmed thus, viz:

"She has the right to require the State not to leave every man free to profess his own religion.

"She has the right to exercise her power without the permission or consent of the State.

"She has the right to prevent the foundation of any National Church not subject to the authority of the Roman Pontiff.

"She has the right to deprive the civil authority of the entire government of public schools.

"She has the right of perpetuating the union of church and state.

"She has the right to require that the Catholic religion shall be the only religion of the State to the exclusion of all others.

"She has the right to prevent the State from granting the public exercise of their own worship to persons immigrating into it.

"She has the power of requiring the State not to permit free expressions of opinion."

street on Burnt Bridge creek,—an ideal scenic spot.

At least 10,000 persons witnessed this ceremonial, and a large number of first-class Americans was admitted as novitiate Klansmen.

Krawling Kasey Kollared.

Jerry D. Riordan, a notorious K-C, who edits the Romanist "Clarke County Sun," which shines weakly within the restricted radius of the local Catholic church, was caught in the act of crawling on his belly like a cowardly snake behind the picket lines of the Klan. No excitement whatever was caused by this discovery, for such papal antics are expected on such occasions and the Klansmen are always prepared for emergencies.

The Klan pickets in this instance merely grabbed the papal spy by the scruff of the neck and the seat of the pants, shook him up a little and gave him a good talking to, hustled him outside of the lines and turned him loose. When he was caught he whined like a sick puppy, declaring he "wasn't there looking for trouble." He was only there to get an eye-full of Klankraft, of course. Many Klansmen were in favor of standing him upon a perch and allowing him to witness the whole ceremonial, to show a Kasey how white Americans put on their work, and to convince even a Kasey of the exalted principles and purposes of the Ku Klux Klan.

The pickets hustled him away before the executives knew of his malodorous presence. In his dirty little rag a day or two later, Riordan had a flaring headline over a smart-aleck write-up:

"Editor leads Ku Klux parade. Hard Rocks is Kleagle, or something. Initiation held near city dump."

He didn't have the nerve to sign his own name to it, but substituted the name of an innocent youngster, E. T. Stone. The Black Pope probably will send little Jerry a "Merit Card for Efficiency" when he gets his copy of the weakly "Sun."

Jerry is one of the loud-talking stripe of Kasey, but he loses his nerve in a pinch. For example,—and this is no joke,—he was the veritable guy that somehow found the $30,000 stolen from the circus some time ago and, to make a long story short, he gave it back to them,—instead of sending it to the Pope! Wait till he hears from Rome! Give him credit, if you call it that, for delivering such a huge chunk of CIRCUS money. "Somebody must have SAW him." It isn't in human nature, so by that incident you can measure Jerry. As the old farmer said when he gazed for the first time at a giraffe in the zoo: "There AIN'T no sich animal!"

On this occasion Jerry performed like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. One day an Honest Kasey—giving up a huge wad of circus money which he found—a good little mick—the noblest Roman of them all—and next day he is caught sneaking like a coyote through the picket lines of the Klan at an open-air initiation ceremonial, crawling like a scaly snake into a scene where only white men belong. He can thank his lucky stars that he is able to sit down, after being caught at such a caper.

Riordan reported the initiation was "near the city dump." He was guided in this guess by his own odor, perhaps, and his familiarity with that haunt. It was, as everyone knows, a beautiful spot, a natural amphitheatre, at the edge of the city limits, where devoted Klansmen had erected a gigantic fiery cross, 125 feet in legth. It blazed as a beacon of goodwill and liberty—token of the American crusade for national safety and progress. The 10,000 spectators were enthralled throughout. It was magnificent and inspiring altogether. And it was the largest turnout that Clarke county ever saw.

In future open-air preparations the Klansmen will send little Jerry a special invitation, which he can have vised by the Black Roman Pope. A special high chair will be provided for him, and binoculars with which to scan the sea of eager faces.

The Protestant Americans of this community now realize that Columbia Klan No. 1 is composed of the very best citizens in Clarke county; that they are here to stay—the same yesterday, today, tomorrow and forever; and that vast good is being done by them for the whole community, little Jerry Riordan to the contrary notwithstanding. Jerry was raised at La Center, this county. He once harbored an ambition to become Prominent in Politics, and was snowed under by the votes of white men when he recently dared to run for County Treasurer.

PARSON OF $104.15 FAME IN OFFICE KAT

$104.15 — $104.15 — $104.15 — $104.15

Western American Special, Astoria, Oregon, Aug. 2.—After being buried in oblivion ever since his sensational publicity stunt wherein he "lost his battle scarred Bible, the Rev. Will Gilbert, leader of the local Presbyterian church, again has gained Public Notice. This time Parson Gilbert is given a place in the upper berth of the Office-Kat Kolyum of the "Evening Budget" an easy place to light since his son is the editor of this particular column.

The Will Gilbert to whom we so kindly refer is the same individual that received one hundred and four dollars and FIFTEEN CENTS from the Fire Relief Fund for some dishes loaned the famous Kommittee of Ten last December after the conflagration.

The ad from The Budget office Kat follows:

Parson Gilbert thinks that early evening drowsiness noticeable among people of 35 or thereabouts these warm nights is probably due to the change from coffee to iced tea for the evening meal.

Some time ago The Western American gently chided Parson Bill and hinted that he should return to the Relief Fund the $104.15 which he applied for as pastor and approved as Chairman of the Committee of Ten, because he is very rich, being a highly something, also receiving a large salary as preacher. True, he "worked for nothing" on the Committee of Ten, depriving his paid jobs of his time, but he did get away with that hundred and four Bones and FIFTEEN pennies. He should at least refund the pennies.

The donation represents the gift of all the Klans in the State and it is said that the funds are at hand and will be ready for delivery to the W. C. T. U. in the immediate future.
