Town and County.

Rev. Gillespie will hold services in Port Orford next Sunday.

Mrs. Champlin was quite seriously ill during the week, but is recovering.

The Arcata arrived from the city Sunday morning, landing a large amount of freight.

The attention of delinquent tax payers is called to the Sheriff's notice in this issue.

The neat, new and substantial yard fence at the Knapp Hotel adds greatly to the beauty of the place.

The weather continues fine, although we have had no extremely hot weather, as has been the case in many parts.

The dry weather and horn flies are affecting the dairy business to some extent, by causing a decrease in the output of butter.

Miss Mathers, of Wedderburn, had her hand badly hurt, at the cannery, one day last week. Dr. Caldwell was called to attend her.

The next examination of applicants for teachers' certificates will be held in Port Orford, beginning August 14. The annual institute will be held during the same week, program to be published later.

A large family by name of Ford, who have been spending some months in the vicinity of Wedderburn, passed through during the week enroute to the Yakima country, state of Washington, where they expect to locate.

County Treasurer, W. S. Winsor, arrived up from Gold Beach Saturday last, for the purpose of taking the steamer for the city, and from thence to Seattle, where he expects to spend a month visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Gauntlett, and family.

There are numerous hunting parties out in the mountains, and others will be arriving continuously from the city and elsewhere during the next month. It should not be forgotten that the law requires non residents of the state to pay a license of $10 to hunt.

A. H. Moore and Dick Guthridge arrived up from Rogue River with a four-horse team last week, bringing a 35 foot dredger, which has been in use at the mouth of the Illinois river, and which will be shipped to Cape Nome. They took back with them a large engine, for E. B. Burns' new Rogue River sawmill.

H. Neely and wife are enjoying a vacation at their "Slide Ranch," pending the completion of their new residence. They will soon return, and persons having work in Mr. Neely's line will find him prepared to perform the same with "neatness and dispatch." Mrs. Neely will open a variety store in the new building.

"Bill Nye," Murphy Grant & Co's well-known traveling salesman was interviewing our merchants during the week, and secured an unusually large order from Kerr & Co., which will be placed before the Port Orford public in a short time at bedrock prices. Mr. Nye was traveling down the coast, with A. N. Hoyt as teamster.

Last Saturday at noon, two gentlemen, strangers, coming up the coast, on arriving at Mussel creek, went out to take a look at the Corbin mill company's new wharf, now under construction, and which extends considerable distance out through the surf. While looking down into the water from the end of the wharf they were surprised to see the body of a man some distance down in the water. While watching it the body floated up almost to the surface, and the men could plainly see that it was the body of a man, with head and one hand missing. They immediately started for the mill, a mile distant, and notified the men, who were at dinner. A number returned to the wharf, and as dilligent a search as possible was made, but the body had floated away and could not be found. The body is undoubtedly that of one of the Strahan boys or Theodore Fleming, who were recently drowned at Cape Blanco reef, and will probably soon be found on the beach if a close watch is kept.

Had the claim of the Corbin mill company, that they controlled "practically all the oak timber west of the Mississippi river" been allowed to go uncontradicted, much harm may have resulted to the best interests of Curry county, by diverting the attention of capital away from the vast timber resources of the county, the natural conclusion of those who read the prospectus of the Corbin company being that they controlled all the hardwood of the county, and that it would be useless for any other company to look for an opening for the manufacture of hardwood lumber, whereas, the fact is they own a very insignificant fraction of the hardwood timber of the county. Recent investigations of the timber resources of the county demonstrates that immense forests of oak exist on Rogue River, Euchre creek, Brushes creek and their tributaries, besides large bodies of fir and cedar, and all comparatively easy of access. Those who have investigated, and are in a position to know, say that one of the finest and most extensive bodies of oak and cedar timber on the Pacific coast lies on Euchre creek. Now that the attention of manufacturers have been attracted to the vast timber resources of the county it will not be long before the manufacture of fir, cedar and hardwood lumber will be the leading industry of the county.

Edward Hughes made the county seat a visit during the week.

E. B. Burns is due at Rogue River, From San Francisco, in ten days.

Mr. Adolphsen's new Elk river mill will begin sawing lumber next week.

The Coos and Curry Pioneer Society will hold its annual reunion at Coquille City, August 14.

Louis Frank arrived up last week, by the steamer Acme. He will take today's steamer for the city.

P. B. Hoyt and family, of Bandon, have been spending the week visiting relatives in Port Orford.

The Woodmen are thinking of giving a ball some time near the middle of August. Definite announcement will be made in the next issue.

Southern Oregon Reserve.

Salem, Or., July 14.—The boundaries of the proposed forest reserve in Curry, Josephine, Coos and Douglas counties includes nearly half of Curry county and about two fifths of Josephine county. The dispatches from Washington make the following announcement:

"The recent action of the secretary of the interior in making alterations in the Cascade reserve in Oregon and in the Olympic reserve in Washington was but the beginning of what intended to be a general revision of the forest reserves of the western states."

The creation of a reserve that takes in nearly half a county is a matter of too large importance to remain without public consideration until after the final act in its creation has taken place. It is possible that the creation of this reserve will tend to devolop the latent resources of a county that is overwhelmed with debt. It is possible that the taxpayers, property owners and business men of Curry county have asked for the creation of this reserve. It is also possible, and altogether probable, that a few men who will be enriched by the creation of such a reserve are engineering the scheme and that the citizens of these counties have been induced to lend their assistance to this project. It may be the department of the interior has already formed an opinion adverse to the creation of this reserve. But in any event, so long as the matter remains open for action the citizens of Curry and Josephine counties should determine where their interests lie and act accordingly.

Curry county contains approximately 39 townships of land, and 18 of these are included in the boundaries of the proposed reserve. Josephine contains about 49 townships, with 20 of them in the boundaries of the reserve.

The District Fair.

The managers of the coming district fair, which opens at Marshfield, August 16th, are making a strenuous push to secure attractions of interest.

They have received assurances that at least one and probably more automobiles will be brought here and placed on exhibition by San Francisco parties as an advertising scheme. It is also desired to have a wedding at the fair, and some young couple who think of getting spliced, can do so free of expense and be fitted out in good shape for housekeeping by negotiating with the fair management.

At President London's suggestion a tug will be sent to Gardner to enable the people of that section to attend with little expense.

Everything points to a successful fair, and it is to be hoped that the people of Coos, of all occupations, will see that creditable exhibits are made.

The entry fees are fixed at ten per cent of the first and second premiums offered, and in case there is no competition on any animal or article receiving a premium, twenty per cent of the premium will be deducted therefrom. In case where diplomas are offered an entrance fee of fifty cents will be charged.

No animal which has not been owned and kept in the district at least sixty days prior to the time of entry, shall be allowed to compete for a premium.

Ground rents will be charged exhibitions under canvass, at rates varying from $3.50 for 10x15 feet to $35 for 55x60 and over. Space in the pavilion will vary from $5 for 11 square feet to $30 for 300 square feet.

Notice to Directors.

Permit me herewith to call your attention to page 32, section 36, of the Oregon school laws, wherein it explicitly states that "no school shall be open in any district for the purpose of ordinary instruction on any Saturday, or any legal holiday, or in any county during the term of holding the annual county institute therein."

As I am led to infer that the law in this respect has already been violated, I now appeal to you to see that its provisions are complied with and the law pertaining thereto literally enforced.

Clerks are cautioned not to draw a warrant on the school fund for the payment of any money to any teacher who has taught on any of the days above mentioned; in other words, teachers are not entitled to compensation for any days taught contrary to law.

W. S. GUERIN.
Langlois, Or., July 20, 1901.

Notice to Teachers.

You are hereby notified that your school reports must contain accurate data pertaining to your schools and must be forwarded promptly at the close of your respective terms.

Teachers, as a rule, have been uniformly prompt in sending in their reports, but there are a few who fail to comply with the law in that respect.

Teachers who expect their pupils to be prompt in the discharge of their duties ought to set the example of promptness in faithfully discharging their own duties. "Verbum Sat."

You are requested to send to me at the beginning of your term, a program of your classes, the length of term, date of commencement and rate of wages, and you will thereby comply with the law, and oblige,

Yours truly,
W. S. GUERIN.
