ONE REMEDY

For being short of cash is close buying, you probably spend more for groceries than you do for other living expenses. Would it not be well to look to this special item? You do not expect the grocery man to sell goods for cost; that is unreasonable, but trade where you can get THE BEST GOODS (they are the cheapest) for a little above cost. You are respectfully invited to call and see J. B. CROSSEN, the Grocer, about this, who has

Better Than the Egg Trick.

Something far better than the egg trick was shown at a card party in Twenty-eighth street a night or two ago. The exhibitor declared himself to be a reformed gambler. He had made much money out of the trick and did not mind letting a few friends know the secret. He arranged two whist hands from the deck, in one of which there were six trumps and in the other none. The cards being spread out on the table, face up, he bet $100 that he could take either hand and beat any man in the room holding the other. A young whist player tried him with the trump hand and lost. Then an old fellow took the other hand, which he said was the stronger, and also lost. Others followed suit and lost. It made no difference who had the lead. Finally the old fellow tried again and won. He had analyzed the play. It is not safe to bet on the trick with a first class player more than once. With two players evenly matched the trump hand will always be beaten.—New York Tribune.

A Mistake.

Of "Dumas le savant" a good story is told. Nothing annoyed the great chemist so much as being mistaken for the novelist. On one occasion a lion hunting English lady, after praising him in the most effusive language, and observing that she knew every line of his writings, from "Monte Cristo" to "Mousquetaires," added, "I hope you will allow me to send you a card for my next soiree."

"Madame, I am in no way connected with the writer you allude to," said the savant, with a cold disdain that no asinine,
