Where Every One Smokes.

Smoking is universal in Polynesia, China, Japan and Siam. In Burma the mother takes the cheroot from her mouth and puts it to the lips of her nursing babe, while the child purses its tiny lips and puffs away with every indication of pleasure. Kaffirs habitually smoke cigars with the lighted ends in their mouths and their tongues adroitly tucked out of harm's way. Even the pygmies of central Africa are inveterate smokers. The sun never sets on the smoking world, for before the white man of the occident puts down his pipe at night the yellow man of the orient has lit his matutinal cheroot.

An Explanation.

In one year the aurora borealis was seen one night as far south as Wiltshire. The inhabitants of a certain village assembled to witness the unwonted spectacle. Many were the inquiries as to what it was when a woman exclaimed: "Do thee send for our Jock. He's a scholard. I'll be bound he'll gie un a neame!" When Jock arrived, he looked upward and said, "Oh it's only a phenomenon!" "There," said the delighted mother; "didn't I tell 'ee he'd gie un a neame?"—Notes and Queries.

Willing to Wait.

"I can't pay this bill just now. You will have to wait a little for the money."

"All right, sir," cheerfully responded the boy as he seated himself and unfolded the copy of the morning paper. "Them's the orders of the guv'nor."

"What are the orders of the guv'nor?" demanded the gentleman sternly.

"I'm to wait for the money."

Luckiest.

His Nightcap.

Young Husband (picking up bundle from table)—What have you here, love—something for me?

Young Wife—Yes, dear. I went shopping this morning expressly to buy them for you. I hope you'll like them.

Young Husband—Like them! Of course I'll like them if you bought them. But what are they?

Young Wife—They're nightcaps, dear. I heard you tell Sparkles this morning that you'd go down to the club with him this evening and get a nightcap, and I made up my mind at once that I'd save you that trouble by seeing that you had some in the house. Just open the parcel and try them on, won't you, love?—Pearson's.

The Reward of Kindness.

A kind hearted man in New Zealand had a sudden shock a little time ago. He was standing on a railway platform giving apples to a circus elephant caged in a cattle truck as the circus was on the move. The train started, and the elephant, not to lose the last apples in the basket, promptly seized the man in his trunk and carried him along with the train. The train had to be stopped and the kind hearted man rescued from the trunk of the traveling elephant.

Barred Out.

"He seems to be no longer in your set?"

"Hawdly," replied Cholly. "He's such deuced bad fawm, y'know."

"How is that?"

"Why, when the fellah bets on a hawse wace he sometimes wins, y'know, instead of losing like a gentleman."—Chicago Post.

A Cheery Pair.

"Do you remember," said Mrs. Grumps, "when you asked me to marry you?"

"Yes," said Mr. Grumps.

"And I said 'Yes?'"

"I remember it. We both always did talk too much."—Washington Star.

Surprising, but Not Sudden.

Blobbs—Did she seem surprised when you proposed?

Slobbs—Yes, indeed. She said she never thought I had the nerve and had about given up hope.—Philadelphia Record.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

APPLE CANKERS.

These Are Now Largely Engaging the Attention of Orchardists.

The canker of apple trees has been attracting the attention of orchardists in various parts of the country lately. H. Hasselbring of the Illinois station has also lately investigated the whole subject of apple cankers, and from his report the following is learned:

The common term "canker" includes all diseases involving portions of the living bark of trees. These may be due to different causes. Several canker diseases caused by fungous parasites are known in the United States.

If the canker is found in its first stages, however, it may be useful to cut away the injured bark and a portion of the wood and keep the wound covered with bordeaux mixture or paint. The bark at the edges of the wound will grow out and heal over the injury.

Limbs which have extended diseased areas should be removed and burned. When a limb is badly injured, it is so weakened that the fruit borne on it is of little value, and the death of the limb is only a question of time. Meanwhile every diseased spot is a source of danger to the orchard and cannot be too quickly removed. The canker spots frequently occur near the trunk, so that the life of the tree is endangered by them.

Infections through wounds caused by pruning can be to a great extent prevented by careful attention to the details of the operation. The indiscriminate and careless cutting of branches frequently practiced is detrimental to the health of the tree, aside from the opportunities it offers for parasites of all kinds to enter.

Long stubs should never be left on the tree. Limbs should be cut close to the parent branch without making the wound unnecessarily large. Wounds caused by proper pruning heal without difficulty. They should be kept painted or covered with bordeaux mixture.

Injuries caused by climbing about in the trees can be prevented entirely by picking from ladders. There is rarely any necessity for climbing the tree to pick the fruit.

A NEW CARNATION.

A Pure White of Beautiful Form and Clove Fragrance.

The accompanying illustration from Gardening shows a new carnation, the Empire State, of which its originator, Mr. Marquisee, says:

"It is a pure white, of beautiful form, very full and double, with serrated edges, and possesses an exceptionally strong clove fragrance. In size it will easily average 3½ inches in diameter and often four inches. It has unusual substance and is a remarkably good keeper. It has a strong stem, which properly supports the flower. It has the ideal habit, produces no grass, but a constant succession of strong flowering shoots. It is therefore a free and continuous bloomer."

WHITE CARNATION EMPIRE STATE.

A Good Western Apple Box.

Judging from the letters received, eastern fruit men are taking increased interest in the box as an apple package, says Rural New Yorker. The inside measurements of the typical Pacific coast apple package, in which hundreds of bushels of Oregon and California apples were received at New York during the past season, are 20½ by 11 by 9¾ inches. The ends are three-fourths inch material, and all four sides are one-fourth inch hard pine. The apples may be put in tightly, and the thin, springy sides hold them firmly without bruising. The box is put together with thirty-two rough wire nails 1¾ inches long. This package has been carefully studied out by the shippers and gives satisfaction all around.

Stray Petals.

Phloxes give abundance of gay color to the garden from the first of July to quite late in September.

Spraying with bordeaux mixture is recommended as the remedy for hollyhock rust.

The mock orange, sometimes called syringa, is one of the good old fashioned shrubs of which one never tires.

Flower seeds may be sown in September for winter bloom in the windows. Petunias, phlox and many other annuals are all good.

In the south perennials and biennials should be sown early in September.

Peony roots may be lifted, divided and replanted any time from the middle of August till stalks appear again in spring.

Women Wanted in South Africa.

The lack of British women in South Africa is one of the most serious facts with which the statesman has to grapple. It is vital that a carefully directed emigration of women from England should be organized by the state. A writer in the Quarterly Review reckons that 3,000 British women are needed a year to meet the emergency, and this is a total which it should not be difficult to find in England, where we have a very large excess of women.—London Mail.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Told Truth Accidentally.

A young woman in New York who had always been used to private laundresses insisted upon hunting one in the metropolis, difficult as this operation was. She accomplished a feat, as she supposed, when she obtained one with a fine address, cleanly appearance, and found also that she was "caretaker" in a wealthy physician's house in the Fifties. Two weeks elasped on one occasion before she heard of her clothing, and she was unusually anxious to gather in her belongings. Going to the house where this woman was employed, she found that she could get her wash gowns and underclothes. "But where are my stocks and ties and shirt waists?" she demanded. "Oh," replied the private laundress naively, "they haven't got back from the Chinaman's yet." Now that girl hunts for a "regular laundry" and doesn't boast.—New York Press.

The Sensitive Sultan.

For several years the sultan of Turkey's private theater at Constantinople has given employment to a considerable number of actors and actresses. It is related that on one occasion, when some Greek performers were giving "Othello," the sultan was so much affected at the approaching murder of Desdemona that he raised his hand and forbade that she should be smothered. The following night the play was again presented, but by the sultan's orders the final act was changed and the tragic incident eliminated.

Varnish From Seaweed.

A kind of seaweed which is plentiful on the coast of China furnishes an admirable glue and varnish. When dried, it is waterproof, and it is employed to fill up the interstices in bamboo network, of which windows are frequently constructed in that country. It is also utilized to strengthen and varnish paper lanterns.

A Cheerful Proposal.

A Scottish beadle one day led the manse housemaid to the churchyard and, pointing with his finger, stammered:

"My folk lie there, Jenny. Wad ye like to lie there too?"

It was his way of popping the question.

CANCEROUS ULCERS

Are in many respects like other ulcers or sores, and this resemblance often proves fatal. Valuable time is lost in fruitless efforts to heal the sore with washes and salves, because the germs of Cancer that are multiplying in the blood and the new Cancer cells which are constantly developing keep up the irritation and discharge, and at last sharp shooting pains announce the approach of the eating and sloughing stage, and a hideous, sickening cancerous sore begins its destructive work.

No ulcer or sore can exist without some predisposing internal cause that has poisoned the blood, and the open discharging ulcer, or the festering sore on the lip, cheek or other part of the body will continue to spread and eat deeper into the flesh unless the blood is purified and the Cancer germs or morbid matter eliminated from the circulation.

In February, 1899, I noticed a small lump on my lower lip. The doctor cauterized it but another came and broke out into an open sore. I began to take S. S. S. and after I had taken seven bottles the place healed entirely and no signs of the disease have been seen since. W. P. Brown, Hollands, S. C.

S. S. S. cleanses the blood of all decaying effete matter. It has great antidotal and purifying properties that soon destroy the germs and poisons and restore the blood to its natural condition. And when pure blood is carried to the ulcer or sore the healing process begins, the discharge ceases and the place heals over and new skin forms. S. S. S. is a strictly vegetable blood purifier containing no mercury or minerals of any description.

Ripans Tabules Doctors find A good prescription For mankind.

Ripans Tabules are a common sense, effectual cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, heartburn, headache, constipation, dizziness and all disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. They are intended for the use of men, women and children everywhere, and have proved beneficial in the majority of cases. It is not claimed that they will perform miracles, but some of the cures which they have effected amount almost to that. Easy to take and prompt in action, they have no rival as the best remedy for the every-day ills of humanity.

A MEDICINE WHICH PROLONGS LIFE.

"I have used Ripans Tabules for a number of years and would not be without them. I was troubled with indigestion and constipation, and have noticed since I have been using them that I am getting rid of those terrible bilious spells which confined me to bed on account of the dizziness. Of late I have not had any. I had just got over a bad spell of bilious fever and was sitting on the step, when a neighbor came to me and remarked how bad I looked. I told him I had just got over the fever and that I was afraid to eat anything on account of indigestion, from which I had suffered since I was quite young. He advised me to take Ripans Tabules. I said I would try them, and from then I haven't been without them. I can eat anything, providing I finish with a Tabule instead of dessert. I feel very thankful that I have found something that will prolong my life."

GASTRIC TROUBLES.

"I had suffered three years at least from gastric troubles. I could not sleep at night. My head ached and my feet would be cold as ice. My bowels were not regular and I would have such cramps from gases forming on my stomach that I would faint away. I was in such distress that I would have sooner died than live. About three months ago I was suffering and felt as if my body was tied up inwardly. My brother recommended Ripans Tabules to me. My husband obtained some for me from the nearest drug store and I would not now be without them. They relieved me of all the foul gases that formed in my stomach and they move my bowels regularly, for which I had been taking physics all the time. I have no more gases, my bowels move regularly, I have no more headaches and can sleep well; in fact, I feel as light as the air which I breathe, and that is saying a good deal for a woman who weighs 190 pounds. I am sorry that I did not commence using the Tabules a year ago, for they would have saved me a great deal of pain and suffering."

One gives relief

A Ripans Tabule now and then, Will benefit the wisest men. And if dyspepsia is their foe, Continued, R·I·P·A·N·S goes it go.

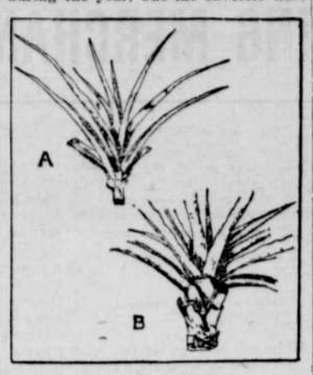
GROWING THE PINEAPPLE.

The Main Crop Grown From Suckers. The Planting Season.

It may be of interest to readers in general to know how so popular a fruit as the pineapple is propagated. Suckers are planted for the main crop of the common varieties. Well matured suckers will produce a crop in fourteen to eighteen months from the time of setting out. The sucker should be set three to five inches deep, according to size, care being taken not to set it so deep that sand can be easily blown into the bud.

Plants may be set out at any time during the year, but the favorite time



PINEAPPLE SUCKERS.

[A, pineapple sucker trimmed ready to set; B, base of a properly trimmed sucker.]

is during the fall after the suckers have made a good growth and are somewhat hardened off.

If there should be suckers fit to set out in spring, the pineapple grower should not permit any avoidable disturbance at that time because it is the time of fruiting, when the plants need every advantage possible to produce the finest fruit.

Practically the time for setting pineapple suckers is limited to the season from July to November and in a more limited way to the 1st of February.

Nuts at the Michigan Station.

At the Michigan station last year one American, three European and four Japanese chestnuts fruited. Paragon, one of the European group, was the most productive. It is the most promising variety on trial. Cosford and Kentish Cob filberts fruited sparsely. They are valuable plants for ornamental purposes and can be expected to produce some fruit under favorable conditions. The Japan walnut (Juglans sciboldii) continues to grow thriftily and again bore, as for several years past, a full crop of nuts. Pecan seedlings from Iowa, planted in 1890, have grown vigorously, but have not yet fruited. Three-year-old hard shell almonds are making a strong, healthy growth. Last spring they showed a few blossoms, but set no fruit. English walnuts, a number of varieties of which are upon trial, still continue to grow very slowly and show no signs of fruiting.

The Ivies.

The American ivy is at its best for only a few months of the year, and mildews, blights and the untimely frosts all combine to make it unsightly for some weeks before the leaves have fallen. Fewer objections of this sort obtain with the Japanese ivy, for its foliage colors beautifully with crimson and gold in the autumn, and in winter it shows an interesting tracery of lacework of stems and tendrils upon the brick and stone. The English ivy remains practically unchanged amid summer's heat and winter's cold, a perennial live cover that is particularly charming when snows coming through the leafless trees find lodgment in the greenery of the vine clad walls.

Deutzia Gracilis.

Deutzia gracilis has long been a great favorite with the amateur, and is likely to remain so. It is one of the most useful plants that can be cultivated, as, if desired, it can be so readily and easily forced. If grown naturally, it also flowers most freely on every twig and shoot, from which the long racemes of snow white blossoms hang in the greatest profusion.

For Bare Spots on the Lawn.

When bare spots make their appearance on the lawn, it will sometimes assist matters to apply a dressing of air slaked lime at the rate of a bushel to the square rod. Work it into the surface with a sharp harrow and after a few weeks reseed as for a new lawn.

Flowering the Calla Again.

In September repot callas, and flowers will soon follow. After the flowers are cut remove to a cool place for a fortnight for a rest. Bring again to warmth and stimulating treatment, and new flowers will be the reward.

Notes From Gardening.

Conditions in the nursery trade are such as to warrant the expectation of well maintained prices for the next year or two.

Possibly there are better window box and lawn vase vines than the vinca, but the buying public doesn't think so.

Schizanthus wisetonensis, says a competent English authority, is one of the best novelties in the way of annuals sent out in recent years.

A number of growers have benched the Mrs. Lawson carnation for a trial of indoor summer culture.

Of new roses Lady Roberts is a most promising variety.

A Composer.

Hoax—I thought you said that man was a musician?

Joax—Nonsense!

"You certainly told me he wrote melodies."

"I told you he was a composer of heirs. He sells soothing syrup."

A Marrying Man.

"Are you a marrying man?" was asked of a somber looking gentleman at a recent reception.

"Yes, sir," was the prompt reply; "I'm a clergyman."

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco August 30th, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's disease and diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases. They commenced the serious investigation of the specific November 15th, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to August 25th, eighty seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably. There being but thirteen per cent of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J. Felton Company, 420 Montgomery street, San Francisco, California.

For Over Sixty Years.

An old and well tried remedy. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. 25 cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.
