It is said that interested parties are circulating the report that Walter Butler is not competent for school superintendent. He is a graduate of LaCreole academy and has been teaching for years. Of what school is his opponent a graduate Has he had more years of school room experience, and where in has his success as a teacher been greater. Let those interested in education weigh their respective merits and vote accordingly. Mr. Butler's party and his friends are ready for a fair comparison.

If the doings of the republican county convention were fair, square and manly and just to all concerned why does not the West Side refute the repeated assertions of the Observer to the contrary. The things being said are detrimental to the interests of the nominees and if untrue should be denounced and the facts called for. If the West Side is not the spokesman of the faction in power it has none. If the Dallas republicans were there given a fair showing let the West Side come out and say so or the public will conclude that it was a hoggish game in which Dallas republicans were forced to the wall and ignored. Everybody will watch to see what next week's West Side has to say about it.

Walter Butler, democratic candidate for school supreintendent, will get many republican votes from men who know full well his capacity and have been observing his sterling integrity and pure manhood during the past years When he went to Dundee to teach he was given $5 a month more than the former principal and now the directors have offered him a still larger salary if he will teach for them next fall.

Nearly all the candidates will attend picnics and other public gatherings but very few of either party favor special political meetings. The democratic nominees are satisfied to stand on their past records which some of the opposition cannot afford to do, it being rather to their interests to make big promises for the future. If the republicans want any drawing speeches made they will have to import the talent.

Some republicans say that Frank Fawk is too young to send to the legislature, but we could name more than fifty of them who have inquired into his capacity, character and reliability and say they will vote for him. They have concluded that they can depend upon him to do the fair thing under all circumstances. He cannot be bought at any price, nor can he be persuaded to support any unjust or unworthy measure. He is not an orator, neither is he a slick, shrewd politician, but he is a well educated, honest, common sense farmer, who would every time be on the side of common people as opposed to all grafts and trusts.

Judge Boise has been in Oregon over fifty years. He was chosen prosecuting attorney in 1852 and helped to prepare the Oregon code in 1854. He was in the constitutional convention of 1857 and was that year made supreme judge of the territory add was the first chief justice of the state. He has been circuit judge almost continuously since 1880. No man in Oregon has had more to do with its laws or is more competent for a judge His term of office will soon expire and he is a candidate for reelection on the democratic ticket.

It has been reported in the south part of the county that Sheriff Ford has taken to hard drink, the intended effect being evident. The people of Dallas among whom he has lived for the past six years, know full well that there is not a more temperate and moral man among them. The attempt to bolster up somebody else up by dragging Mr. Ford down will simply add to the number of his friends and votes. Both his official and his private life are above reproach.

NOT BROTHERLY UNITY.

After reading the following editorial from last weeks Observer, the public will not accuse us of exaggerating the split among republicans. The minority have no thought of standing in with the larger faction that walked over them rough shod:

"Some of the leaders in the present campaign are in an ill-concealed sweat because all the republicans in the county are not standing in and endorsing their methods of conducting politics. "stand in and help us," they cry; "of course we rubbed it into you just as hard as we knew how, and are doing it yet, but you ought to stand in with us, anyhow." Morning, noon and night, day in and day out, this is the burden of their song. Some of these leaders and one or two of the candidates seem to have forgotten how they failed to "stand in" with certain republican candidates two years ago—with George Hawkins for instance. They have evidently forgotten how they fought Mr. Hawkins right up to the day of election and did everything in their power to bring about his defeat. Two years ago Mr. Hawkins' friends made it a point in the convention to see that the minority was given liberal recognition in the make-up of every committee and in the election of delegates to the state and congressional conventions. The men who had supported Mr. Keyt were treated with kindness and consideration, and in every act of the convention that courtesy was shown that is due from the victors to the vanquished in a contest between brothers of the same political faith. Some of the leaders who were given recognition two years ago have lost no opportunity to bully and brow-beat the minority this year, and all the time they are asking the minority to endorse their leadership and "stand in." Such an exhibition of gall would be amusing, if it were not disgusting. The men who compose the minority this year will probably vote as much of the republican ticket as will some of these newly hatched bosses who are doing so much talking, and awhole lot more of it than these bosses would have voted had they succeeded in their scheme to dictate the democratic nominations for trading purposes. A review of the campaign two years ago, showing the prominent part taken by a few of this years leaders in the effort to defeat George Hawkins for representative, would make interesting reading, and some day when we are long on space and short on local news, we may regale our readers with a few chapters of it.

Lake Erie.

Lake Erie is the most dangerous of all the great lakes both for vessel property and human life.

LOVE DIES.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox says there comes a time in the course of married love when "the thrill goes out of the hand-clasp and the kiss at times, and it is then that husband and wife may be susceptible to other magnetic personalities." The reason for this condition of affairs is often the fault of the husband, but how often is it not due to the wife's nervousness and irritability due to some trouble with the organs peculiarly feminine—the wife under such circumstances feels languid and spiritless—she suffers perhaps from headache and sleeplessness.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

A great deal of sickness may be saved by keeping on hand a copy of Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser." Sent free, paper-bound, for twenty-one one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only; or cloth-bound for thirty-one stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Constipation and a bilious attack go hand-in-hand. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure and speedy cure for both. Tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Nothing else is "just as good."

The Seven Ages of a Tree.

A very practical way of classifying trees according to size is the following: Young trees which have not yet reached a height of three feet are seedlings. They are called seedlings in spite of the fact that any tree, of whatever age, if it grew from a seed, is properly called a seedling tree. Trees from three to ten feet in height are small saplings, and from ten feet in height until they reach a diameter of four inches they are large saplings. Small poles are from four to eight inches in diameter and large poles from eight to twelve inches in diameter. Trees from one to two feet through are standards, and finally all trees over two feet in diameter are veterans. It is important to remember that all these diameters are measured at the height of a man's chest, about four feet six inches from the ground. In forestry this is, roughly speaking, the general custom.—Gifford Pinchot.

Roosting Closets.

The Maine experiment station has tested close roosting closets. These are three feet from the floor, thus giving the entire floor space to the fowls during the day. The front of the closet has a tight frame hinged at the top so as to be raised by day and lowered by night. This frame is covered with white drilling, thoroughly saturated and glazed with boiled linseed oil. The closet is made as tight as can be by ordinary carpenter work. The outside wall of the building where it comes in contact with the closet is packed with soft, fine hay. The closet should be as near air tight as possible when the curtain is down. It will get plenty of ventilation through the cracks. The house is practically open on one side, having a curtain coming to within three feet of the floor. The floor is covered with several inches of clean straw. The hens in this house averaged 144.44 eggs in ten months.

Horticultural Notes.

"I don't remember that I have ever met with anybody who had a single disparaging remark to make about the dewberry. Fruit growers seem to like it," says one of the fraternity.

The cankerworm has become so destructive to the apple crop of this country that farmers should not fail to spray their trees wherever it is present.

The interest in the propagation of trees for ornament, shelter and timber has grown enormously in the past few years.

It is claimed that one of the people of the department of agriculture has produced an orange that is hardy as far north as the District of Columbia and "sourer than any lemon ever grown."

Thirteen million feet of Wisconsin white pine are to go, through Canadian buyers, to England and The Hague.

Strawberry culture is a thriving proposition in Delaware, with Gandy and Parson's Beauty as popular varieties. Big yields are reported, and the industry is expected to increase

An Early Error.

A few years ago a great Texas daily in calling attention to artificial hatchers then on exhibition in its city said that the main advantage of the artificial over the natural method of hatching was the saving of time; that whereas it took twenty-one days ordinarily to hatch hens' eggs the old way these machines operated by steam would hatch in less than half that time.

Dragging Pains
2825 Keeley St.,
Chicago, Ill., Oct., 2, 1902.
I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.
Mandie Bush
Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.
