Hardman News Notes.

Written by Garfield Cawford, while on the way on his outing trip.

The wheat in this locality has been greatly impaired by the dry hot weather.

Spring grain has been damaged to quite an extent, but the fall sown is in splendid condition. The most of the wheat in this section is spring sown. Owing to the immense crop harvested last season the farmers were unable to get it to market and out of the way in time for them to get in usual amount of grain.

The weather conditions have been anything but favorable for spring sown grain. The early spring was dry and cold which kept the grain back and it never gained the strength that it should to have stood the hot weather.

The recent rains, tho light, will help all spring grain on the slope above Rood hill considerably, but from Rood hill down on Eight Mile this class of grain will hardly be worth cutting.

Monday was the opening of the hay harvest and a good many fields of grain will be cut for hay.

Hay is selling for twelve dollars per ton here now and it is predicted by those who claim to know, that it will likely reach twenty by spring.

The hills are covered with good grass and stock are fat and if the feed question for winter stays with is each the stockmen will pull through in good shape.

The Newberg Condensed Milk company plant is now running on full time with a demand for more milk than they can furnish.

HUMOR

SHE WAS NOT A PURITAN.

Her Expression Was Severe, but It Belied Her Thirst.

In the seat opposite me in the railway coach was a woman who looked to be forty-five years of age, and as I glanced at her occasionally and noticed her severe expression I set her down for a person with puritanical views on the subject of intoxicants and one who would scorn the slightest favor at the hands of a traveler. Great was my surprise, therefore, at the end of a couple of hours and when we had been left the only passengers in the coach, to see her lean forward and hear her pleasantly ask:

"Young man, might I ask if you have any peppermint essence in your grip?"

I replied that I was sorry I hadn't, and she resumed her bolt upright position, and nothing further was said for a quarter of an hour; then she kindly asked:

"Young man, do you carry the means to make a glass of lemonade when you travel?"

I didn't. I was sorry for her sake that I didn't; but, as a matter of fact, I didn't care for lemonade. She said it was just as well, and another fifteen minutes passed. Then she, smiling, said:

"Young man, perhaps you carry a bottle of milk or cold tea?"

"Sorry to say I don't, ma'am."

"Do you mean to say that you do not carry any kind of a bottle?"

"Well—er—you know"—

"Say, sir," she continued as she looked me straight in the eye, "is it wine or whisky?"

"W-ine, ma'am, but it's in case I am attacked with"—

"Never mind what it's in case of, but hand it right over. I've sat here for three long hours with my throat as dry as a bone and you haven't had the chivalry to ask me to take a nip."

As I sat down beside her and she took a nip she said that I might call her Aunt Polly and that her severe expression was only the result of sitting up nights with a sick cow, and during the remainder of my journey she beat me twelve games of euchre and said she'd be glad to adopt me if she hadn't three sons all older than I was.—Chicago News.

Breaking Eggs For a Living.

A correspondent of a contemporary who has been searching for the most monotonous method of earning a living decides in favor of that of cracking eggs. "I met a man who said he was a biscuit manufacturer on a large scale and was rather inclined to boast about the number of eggs—continental eggs—which his firm bought in the course of a year. Now, it seems that to avoid calamity five eggs are broken into a bowl at a time before being added to the common stock. There are men, he told me, who do nothing else but crack eggs. They become so expert that a man can dispose of 1,000 an hour, or 10,000 a day."—London Star.

Discouraged.

"Mamma," remarked Dottie, "if I get married when I grow up will I have a husband like papa?"

"I suppose so, dear," said mamma.

"An' if I don't get married I'll be a old maid, like Cousin Charlotte, won't I?"

"I guess you will, pet. Why?"

"Oh, nothin'—only I wish I was a boy!"—Cleveland Leader.

The Bishop's Gaiters.

An amusing story is told of Dr. Gore. He was once walking in the street when two little boys were attracted by his black episcopal gaiters. "Wot's 'e?" asked one in surprise. "Oh, 'e—'e's a Scotchman in mourning," was the reply.—London M. A. P.

Willing hands will not remain long idle if wedded to thoughtful hearts and observant eyes.—H. W. Little.

Meyerbeer.

Meyerbeer was so nervous and "fidgety" about his works that when they were in course of preparation or rehearsal or performance he never gave himself or any one else concerned a moment's peace of mind. He was constantly making changes or alterations in the score and would sometimes write a passage in three or four different colored inks in order to try the different effects and then could not make up his mind which was the best. He worried over his opera "L'Africaine" so long, delaying, retouching and polishing, even while it was in rehearsal, that the self imposed labor made him ill, and he died before the first public performance.

Dynamite Whiskers.

The name "whiskers" is applied to feathery crystals which gather upon the outside of the wrapping of frozen dynamite. The "whiskers" are more "irritable" than dynamite itself. A case is on record where sticks of dynamite had been thawed out in hot water and the can of hot water in which it was done left in the blacksmith shop without being emptied of the residual scum of grease and whiskers. The first blow of the blacksmith's hammer on a nearby anvil was sufficient to set off the whiskers by concussion. The can was blown to pieces, but fortunately no one was hurt.

Clatskanie and Nehalem valley people are planning to build an electric railroad from the Astoria & Columbia River railroad down the Nehalem to Jewel, a distance of 33 miles, and it is hoped to have dirt flying by September 1, if free right of way and some other necessary concessions are granted.

Prospecting has taken on some activity on Canyon creek a few miles above Canyon City during the past few weeks. There are reported to be about eight or ten working along the creek. No strike of importance has been reported but it is understood that some very encouraging prospects have been found.

How is this from the Port Orford Tribune for a fish-lion story? George Forty and his son Robert and Walton Meller went out to the reef last Monday, and killed 35 male sea lions, witch George says is his record for one days killing—and he is proud of the fact that he lost none and fired only 34 shots.

It's Easy to Reach North Beach

Take Steamer Potter from Portland

Passengers are now transferred to the railroad at MEGLER—fourteen miles up the Columbia River from Ilwaco. This eliminates the necessity of steamers waiting for the tide, and insures a prompt and regular Summer Schedule.

The Steamer T. J. POTTER leaves Portland every morning except Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 o'clock—Saturday only at 2 o'clock p. m. Remember the Summer rate on the O. R. & N. is $11.80 from Heppner, Oregon, to all North Beach Points and return; good until September 30.

North Beach is a famous, beautiful place—the most perfect beach on the whole North Coast.

There are accommodations galore at prices to suit all tastes; camping facilities without equal—perfect bathing conditions; all sorts of amusements and diversions. Come, have a good rest and a jolly good time.

Let us send you our new summer book, and tell you all about NORTH BEACH.

Westerberg's Pure Ice Cream

Is a strictly Morrow County product made of 21 per cent cream, Babcock test, [which means 21 pounds butter fat per 100 pounds cream] guaranteed to be strictly first class and free from adulteration.

During the season of 1907, according to a conservative estimate, there were paid $7000.00 to Portland ice cream manufacturers and the express company, for ice cream, by Morrow County dealers. This money you will see was sent out of the county and never returned. I believe in boosting Morrow County. Distribute the money among our farmers. Morrow County first, last and all the time.

My plant is of sufficient capacity to supply the entire county with the frozen product and I solicit agents in every town. Write or call for wholesale prices.
