A SHEEPMAN IS INDICTED

Albert Canning Will Answer Charge of Setting Fire in the Cascade Forest Reserve.

What is the first indictment against the alleged prepetrators of the disastrous forest fires which raged in Oregon last year and before, when millions of dollars' worth of valuable timber went up in smoke, was made public this morning, says the Telelegram. The indictment charged Albert Canning, a prominent citizen and sheepman of Prineville, Ore., with wilfully setting fire, July 21, 1903, near Davis Lake, section 26, township, 22 range 8, Crook county, to grass, underbrush and timber, and suffering that fire to burn. The witnesses examined before the United States grand jury which returned the indictment were S. C. Bartrum, John Phelps, Charles Malone and Cy J. Bingham.

The place where the fire is said to have been set is inside the Cascade Range forest reserve, and the act therefore constitutes a direct violation of the act of February 24 1897, as amended by the act of May 5, 1900.

A deputy United States marshal will be sent to Prineville today to arrest Canning, who is expected to furnish bonds for his immediate release until his arraignment and trial take place.

HIGH SCHOOL IS STARTED

Contractors Arrive and Work Begins This Week on County's New Building.

With the arrival of six brick and stone masons from Salem last Friday, the first steps were taken toward the construction of the county's new High school building. The rock work was started and arrangements made for burning the brick. In the party are: J. G. Wiltsey,, F. Gibson, George Reed, Miles Mason, Will Baumgartner and L. Burton.

The work of excavating the stone for the foundation and first story was begun immediately, and this week three kegs of power were used in raising some of the rock out of the quarry where it can be handled to some advantage and dispatch. A site has been chosen just south of the Crooked river bridge for establishing a brick yard where 600,000 bricks will be burned at the rate of 10,000 a day. Net all of these will be used in the High school and a good supply will be on hand for the construction of other buildings.

Monday the work of clearing the land on the site selected for the building was begun, and the excavation for the basement will be finished in a few days. It is the intention of Contractor Gray to rush the work on the building as rapidly as possible so it will be ready for occupancy in the fall. J. B. Shipp will be superintendent of construction and will in all probability furnish the wood work for the interior finishing.

CATTLEMEN STAY AT HOME

Annual Meeting of Stockgrowers Association Has But One Attendant Saturday.

Although the recently-born Oregon Cattle Growers' Association represents one of this state's great industries, its first annual convention, which was to have been held Saturday, fizzled out because no one but the secretary attended attended it. Grant Mays, of The Dalles, is the secretary, and he could give no reason why the cattlemen had failed to respond to the call.. The programme for the convention was all prepared, the Auditorium had been engaged, the preliminaries were complete and nothing was lacking but everybody.

The association was organized at the recent congress of the National Livestock Association, which was held in Portland. At that time
