Home Paper First
The first great need of everyone is to be in touch with one's environment and then, there is one's duty to the community at large, in maintaining interest in all issues of advancement and development of the section in which we reside. The way to keep posted in all matters of interest in the county of Malheur is to subscribe for the Enterprise. Keep yourself versed in the affairs, movements and events of your locality and send us news of them and of your neighborhood. We will be very glad to receive and publish it.

"OREGON-MADE" GOODS

Steady Demand for Home Products Means Employment For Laborers And State Prosperity.

When the local base-ball club needs new suits, who do you go to for a donation? Who contributes to the church social? Who pays for the street assessments for paving the main street of your town? These are the questions asked the residents of the State by A. G. Clark, Manager of the Associated Industries, in his effort to create a larger consumption of Oregon Products.

Consumers who buy from concerns other than those of their own locality do not realize that they are sending away money that could be used in the development of their own community. They do not see that when money is needed for local development it must come from the merchant or the manufacturer who is located in the community, and not the outside concern.

Oregon manufacturers and business men of all classes have willingly given jobs to returned soldiers. It remains for the consumers now to demand Oregon-Made Products to keep these factories and business houses going and thus create steady employment for men returned from overseas.

"It is absolutely vital to the continued prosperity of the State," said Mr. Clark, in a recent interview, "that the consumer realize the necessity of buying home products. The Oregon merchants, manufacturers and farmers will do their part if the consumer will only ask for Oregon-Made goods. They are only waiting for the chance to prove that Oregon can produce just as good products as any State in the Union."

IRRIGATION VOTE CARRIED.
The irrigation district election Tuesday carried by a vote of 93 to 4, a complete victory for progression and development in Harney valley, says the Burns Times-Herald.

A. R. Olsen, William Hanley, and Judge Grant Thompson were elected as directors of the district, with no dissenting votes. Commissioners chosen on the unofficial ballot were M. B. Hayes, 92 votes; Sam Mothershead, 72; P. G. Smith, 72; J. C. Welcome, Jr., 65; and C. T. Miller, 58.

The above 13 lines of type tell the story of the beginning of the greatest era Harney county has ever experienced. The story means that Harney valley people are working together. It means that every land owner in the project is on the eve of the greatest prosperity ever known. It means that $3,000 acres of the best soil in Oregon is finally about to be developed and cultivated to a higher extent than was ever before possible under methods that within three years will be considered primitive. It means that instead of some years dry and lean, and a few years long and fat, every year will hold a full measure of productiveness and plenty.

Succeeding steps in the development of the district will start Monday, when Judge Dalton Biggs, who is expected today, canvasses the vote and announces the official result of election.

Within ten days following, the board of directors are required to meet and organize the district, electing a secretary and fixing his salary. The directors are also charged with securing engineers to prepare and assemble data for a complete plan of irrigation and estimate the cost.

Foreign Butter Menaces Market
Heavy shipments of Danish butter of good grade at lower prices are reaching America and farmers must produce more milk per cow and better cream to compete. The Dane gets about 8000 pounds of milk per cow, the American Oregon farmer half as much, says P. M. Brandt, head of dairying at O. A. C. Culling out the low yielder by testing will lower production cost. Farmer and creameryman are jointly responsible for meeting foreign competition of low-priced high quality butter.

To Help You Win

Riches—power—happiness. The average man places these as his goal. He dreams about having them.

But the average man is slow to take a practical step towards that goal. He is content to dream about it—and never gets there.

The most practical start is to start a savings account. Rockefeller had to save his first thousand dollars. It earned the rest of his fortune.

Character Earns Credit
Saving men not only have a reputation for their efforts. In saving they establish a reputation which will make it easy to secure additional capital when necessary.

A farmer has frequent need for capital if he is striving continually to improve his property. How important it is then that he build up his credit—establish his character.

The easiest and quickest way is to start a savings account.

Progress of Science

YOU KNOW that Robt. Fulton invented the first steam boat, Robt. Stevenson the first steam engine and Benj. Franklin invented electricity. To be sure they were crude as compared to the present day giant ocean liners the trans-continental trains and electricity as we know it today. What wonderful progress science has made with the world wide necessities.

The same progress with the aid of science has been attained in production, manufacturing and distribution of every day necessities as well as luxuries.

A quarter of a century ago, vegetables, out of their regular seasons were unheard of. Today with the aid of science you have practically every standardized canned product within your reach.

Have you noticed the full ripe flavor and tenderness our standard brands produce? Their uniformity and our guarantee are features, not to be overlooked.

Investigate our standard brands—it pays.

Proper Selection of Materials Means Better Construction

Time and the elements prove that the use of first-class building materials means better construction. Economy follows the proper selection of these materials. A house built on the sands will eventually fall. In this same class is the building constructed of poor lumber and other building items. It can't stand the test against the rigors of severe weather.

All Boise Payette yards carry our high grade lumber and building materials. Our yard managers are ready and competent to advise you regarding your construction problems. Consult your nearest yard manager about your building plans, whether it be a house, barn, garage, shelters for animals or implements, chicken coops or other structures.
