THE ST. JOHNS REVIEW

A. W. Markle, Editor

Published Every Friday

Subscription price $1.00 per year.

THE REVIEW is entered at post office in Portland, Oregon, as mail matter of the second class under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Now if the government would exercise its power in reducing the price of cereals and meals to at least as low as wheat flour there would be less objection to wheatless days, and it would be only fair to the wheat growers and the consumers as well. Because the government in urging the people to use other than wheat flour has created a demand for other cereals is no reason why they should be allowed to soar sky high in price.

"War Gardens" is the title of a little pamphlet issued by the Union Pacific System for the purpose of stimulating food production this coming season. It is a continuation of the efforts of William McMurray, General Passenger Agent, along the same line in the past years. Mr. McMurray styles this the "first gun" in the campaign of a greater increase in production this year. It is for free distribution. Write to the Portland office for a copy.

A negro was burned at the stake in a Tennessee town Wednesday by a brutal mob of 1000 or more. The victim of this inexcusable outrage was charged with the killing of two white men, and in order to force him to confess red hot irons were applied to his body. So in order to be relieved of this excruciating pain the victim confessed, as any man would naturally do under the circumstances, whether guilty or not. The perpetrators of this dastardly outrage should receive the punishment they so richly merit. It is difficult to believe that in a civilized country such as this occurrences of this nature could take place. It is high time the Federal government should interest itself in making an example of merciless parties who burn human beings at the stake. If an animal, a horse or dog or a cow, were tortured to death in this manner by a mob a gasp of horror would ascend throughout the nation. To burn a human being alive is infinitely worse.

Enforcement of a "regional eight hour day in the Pacific northwest may shut down many sawmills and logging camps. England had to abandon the eight hour day to speed up production in war industries and abolished union rules and regulations. Enforcing an eight hour day would speed down production in this great lumbering region on the west coast. In the face of $3.15 and $3.50 a day paid for common labor in the lumbering industry of the northwest, the south pays $2.20 to $2.50 a day. On top of this the south is to retain its ten hour day and the northwest mills and camps are to be forced to eight hours. Is it fair to single out a single industry in one section of the country for discrimination to lower production? Even the south is crying out against this as it will restrict the output of ship timbers which the south must have. The war will teach the nation many useful lessons, and among them futility of local eight-hour legislation. — Industrial News Bureau.

The Review has been asked several times lately if it is in the real estate business. Such is not the case. The Review has been advertising several pieces of property, but it takes no part in making a deal between the buyer and owner. All it aims to do and does do is to act as a medium in directing the buyer to the owner. No charge is made for advertising unless a sale results. The Review leaves it up to the owner to state the amount he is willing to pay, in case our services bring about a sale. The number of these properties the Review is willing to accept is limited. Parties desiring to advertise their properties and take chances of making a sale themselves are most cordially invited to do so. The rates in such cases are a penny a word for each issue. We want to make the Review such that would-be buyers of St. Johns realty will feel inclined to scan its columns when in search of bargains. So bring in your ads. The opportunity for selling now is better than has been the case for years.
