BLOCKADED.

Every Household in Oregon City Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blockaded. Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

H. B. McCarver, 201 Cherry St., Portland, Ore., inspector of freight for the Trans-Continental Company, a man who is well-known among the railroaders of the coast, says: Doan's Kidney Pills are among the few proprietory remedies which did all that is claimed for them, and they have my thorough confidence. I used them for backache and other very marked symptoms of kidney trouble which had annoyed me for months. I think a cold was responsible for the whole trouble. It seemed to settle in my kidneys. Doan's Pills rooted it out. It is several months since I used them, and up to date there has been no recurrence of the trouble. I have recommended them to a number of the boys about the freight house and I know if they gave them a fair trial they certainly must have been pleaser with the results."

Plenty of proof like this from Oregon City people. Call at Huntley Bros', drug store and ask what customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NO CORPORATION CASH

Republicans Accept the Law as It Stands.

THE INTENT OF THE STATUTE.

It Will Be Obeyed by Messrs. Taft and Sherman—No Seeking Refuge Behind Technicalities—What the Federal Statute Expressly Prohibits.

There could be nothing more implicit than the act of congress approved Jan. 26, 1907, forbidding contributions from corporations to federal elections. Besides accepting the New York statute as applicable to the publicity of contributing toward his presidential campaign, Mr. Taft has placed himself squarely on record as accepting the federal statute. Questions have been raised as to its constitutionality, but neither the Republican candidate nor the managers of the Republican campaign will take advantage of possible quibbles. They accept the law as it stands.

Evidently Mr. Bryan and his deputy engineers of the Denver convention did not know of this act passed by a Republican congress and approved by a Republican president, else they would not have raised the cry for what already existed. The law that Mr. Taft has promptly announced his purpose to heed follows:

That it shall be unlawful for any national bank or any corporation organized by authority of any laws of congress to make a money contribution in connection with any election to any political office. It shall also be unlawful for any corporation whatever to make a money contribution in connection with any election at which presidential and vice presidential electors or a representative in congress is to be voted for or any election by any state legislature of a United States senator. Every corporation which shall make any contribution in violation of the foregoing provisions shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $5,000, and every officer or director of any corporation who shall consent to any contribution by the corporation in violation of the foregoing provisions shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not exceeding $1,000 and not less than $250 or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Bryan Democrats may haggle about the power of congress over the manner of election of presidential and vice presidential electors, who are officers of the states, chosen as the legislatures may prescribe. Taft and Sherman raised no such question. Their campaign will obey the intent of the statute instead of seeking refuge behind technicalities. They do not find it necessary to emulate the hypocritical, self denying proclamations of Bryan about refusing campaign contributions from corporations. They point simply to the law forbidding such contributions, which is for the corporations to obey as well as for the managers of all political parties to heed. About such an attitude there are all the candor and simplicity of respect for the moral intent of the law.

Rural Free Delivery.

Some seventeen years ago, under the administration of Harrison and his postmaster general, Wanamaker, a scheme of rural free delivery was advocated, and experimental tests were being made when the second Cleveland administration came into power. And, although $10,000 was appropriated for continuing the experiments inaugurated by Mr. Wanamaker, yet Mr. Cleveland and his postmaster general declared the plan to be impossible and impracticable. But happily for the country and for the people Cleveland's administration came to an end in 1897, and in the past eleven years Republican administrations, aided by Republican congresses, have so developed this "impossible and impracticable system" that today we are annually appropriating $40,000,000 to carry mail daily on 15,000 rural routes, reaching 15,000,000 of people—just another link in the chain of Republican progress.—James S. Sherman.

The Great Builders.

When considering the expenditure for public building we should realize that when the government erects a building for public use the following trades are benefited:

Stone quarrymen, stone dressers, stonemasons, cement makers, lime burners, brickmakers, bricklayers, miners in coal and iron, structural iron makers, furnacemen, structural iron workers, plasterers, lumber mill men, carpenters, glass workers, glaziers, nailmakers, tinners, roofers, makers of roofing material, plumbers and gasfitters, painters and decorators, furniture makers, carpet makers, unskilled labor.

The Republicans have been the great builders of America.

Wisdom Proved.

The work of the Fifty-ninth congress proved that in 1896, as in 1861 and in 1875 and in 1898 and every intervening year, the party of Lincoln and Grant, of Garfield and McKinley and Roosevelt, could legislate for the best interest of all the people. And so full was this legislation, so just was its provisions, so necessary was its operation, that the Democratic party, generally a party of obstruction, had to acquiesce in the judgment, the wisdom and the action of the Republican leaders.—James S. Sherman.

It is better to live under present conditions than even to take the risk of making conditions worse until we have discovered just what is needed and until even the people themselves thoroughly understand the conditions which prevail.—Peoria Transcript.

One Year to Make Quilt.

Among some of the exhibits that attracted the attention of many of the visitors were the crochet quilt made by Mrs. Carrie Moore. It took a year to make this article, and required 10 pounds of carpet warp, of which it is made of. This quilt was finished just before the opening of the county fair at Canby, and Mrs. Moore was awarded the first premium on it.

The crochet skirt and cigar ribbon pillow made by H. W. Morris, were works of art, and would make any young woman envy his talent. Mr. Morris was awarded premiums on both o fthese articles.

Mrs. E. D. Fellows' center pieces, doilies and sofa cushion were among some of the best exhibits, but as many of Mrs. Fellows' pupils in this line had exhibited for premiums, Mrs. Fellows decided to have her work only on exhibition to show what can be done in that line by her. Several of her many pupils were awarded premiums on their work. Mrs. Fellows' Kensingon and Walton work attracted special attention.

Mrs. Tageson, who is a pupil of Mrs. Fellows, had a good exhibit of her work consisting of a quilt, (silk work) centerpieces, doilies, handkerchiefs, postal card pillow top, and handkerchief case.

One of the quilts adorning the walls was the log cabin quilt of Mrs. B. Rall.

Mrs. Marth Beach, who is an expert of carpet rug making, had two of the rugs she recently made on exhibit. The rugs were well woven and the colors blended perfectly.

Mrs. Witzig had on exhibition a coffee urn, which was over 200 years old, which was brought to this country from Germany, and is an heirloom in the Witzig family. Another curio on exhibit was the old cream ptcher belonging to Mrs. John Straight, of Clackamas, which was brought across the plains by Grandfather Straight, who died in Parkplace many years ago, and was one of the olrest settlers of Clackamas county. The pitcher was brought here by Mr. Straight in 1843.

Many other exhibits in the room added to the attractveness of the display, and Abernethy Grange may be proud of its fair of 1908. Many people of the Milwaukee Grange attended the fair, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. George Maple, Mr. and Mrs. Pernell, Mrs. Casto, John Kelso, J. W. James and others.

Mrs. Maggie Johnson's address was well received and follows, in part:

"It is a pleasure indeed to attend this grange fair, and to meet the Grangers and friends here under such pleasant surroundings. The grange fairs are a hobby with me for I believe they do much good to the farmers in an educational way. One farmer sees what other farmers produce and it becomes an incentive to excel him the coming year. The day has passed when farmers can afford to use slip-shod methods of farming and especially is this true of the high priced land near our large cities that cost the owner anywhere from $250 to $1,000 an acre. On such land a man can not afford to raise a crop that only nets him $25 an acre for that would not be interest on his investment. The grange has done a great deal for the farmers in removing the isolation of the farm homes of our country. The grange has been nobly assisted by the Agricultural College which supplies bulletins on nearly every subject in which the farmer and his family would be interested in, besides furnshng a short course so the busy man can attend durng the leisure season. The Grange has always stood for good roads and are now working and co-operating with the Good Roads people and at the last meeting of the Clackamas Pomona Grange decided to invite the Good Roads speakers to address the next meeting when the whole subject will be gone over and some sugestions made looking toward the framing of a good law to be presented to next legislature and it is hoped to have the best law passed possible; one that will be a pattern to other states just as our Initiative and Referendum are being adopted by the other states. It is claimed that there should be both Natonal and State aid to the public highways and this view islargely taken by the grange.

"Another law the farmers want and will have is the Rural Parcels Post, whereby the people in the country can order small packages from the city by mail or phone and the mail wagon wil bring it to them for a small sum about aqual to what is charged in England or Germany and the merchant can phone out and have the butter or other small articles brought to him in the same manner and as one of the candidates for President has always been in favor of this bill, it is possible some such law will be passed before very long.

"Another subject in which the grange has interest in this State is the proposed changes in our school laws. One feature that has been proposed is the making of the whole county the district with 5 directors. It seems to be to be a very unwise proposition, for I believe it would tend to kill local pride in the schools and without that high civic pride no school can be a success for money does not make a successful school any more than money can make a happy home. You people of this vicinity certainly have local pride in your school as the two beautiful schoolhouses almost within stone's throw of each other proves and to the strangers passing through who sees these beautiful school house knows that you are an up-to-date people and it is only in such places that people will buy and build homes. The day has passed when people will buy where the sidewalks are broken and the alleys and vacant lots are adorned with old tin cans and other rubbish because so many places have got that civic pride that prevents such a state of affairs from existing.

"Your Fair with its beautiful exhibits represents lots of labor from your good members and is a labor of love on your part and tomorrow when the Oregonian and the other Sunday papers come out and next week when the Oregon City papers come out with their nice accounts, for the press are very generous to the Grange Fairs everywhere, you will have a pride in your achievements. That blue ribbon represents a great deal to every one that is fortunate enough to receive one, more than money would do, for it means that you had the very best in a certain line. You have done this work as a labor of love to your grange and to your farm homes, and you should enjoy that civic pride in your town that makes it worth the living and the working for the improvement of one's own home. Now friends, I have given you a rambling talk and will not detain you longer, but will say indeed I am glad to have the pleasure of attending your fair and thank you for your kind attention."
